Ike Tosses Out "Teasers"

Name Is Seen On Additional State Ballots

Formal Consent Is Needed For Entry In Some Primaries

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) said tonight President Eisenhower's decision to let his name remain on the New Hampshire ballot is "bound" to be followed by the entry of his name in other state presidential primaries.

In a statement of his views read to a news conference, Eisenhower said he would not "interpose any objection" to putting his name in the March 13 New Hampshire balloting. He said in response to questions he would have the same answer to similar action in other states.

Goldwater, Bricker Disagree

Goldwater, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, told newsmen he interprets the President's statements as indicating Eisenhower would be willing to give his formal consent, where that is necessary, for entry of his name in other primaries.

Any such action would have the practical effect of foreclosing these primaries to other potential GOP candidates, despite the President's invitation in his statement for them to try their luck.

However, Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) was just as confident the President would not approve the affirmative action that is required in such states as California, Indiana, Maryland, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Ohio, South Dakota, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

"The President is not going to sign any paper at this time saying he is a candidate, as he would have to do in Ohio and some other states," Bricker declared.

Bricker "Favorite Son"

Bricker said that so far as Ohio is concerned, he intends to remain in the race as a "favorite son" presidential candidate heading a delegation supporting Eisenhower if he runs. He said that from reading the President's statement he doesn't think Eisenhower has made up his mind about a second-term bid and may not for some time.

Eisenhower said in response to questions that he has not made even a tentative decision on running again, and that he will announce that decision as soon as it is fixed in his mind.

To most Republicans in Congress this raised fresh hopes that the President will seek a second term. Most Democrats thought he would not or felt that he had not made up his mind.

Quemoy Heavily Shelled By Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 19 (AP)—Red Chinese batteries today fired 2,943 shells at Quemoy and nearby islands in the greatest bombardment since the opening of the "vest pocket war," the Defense Ministry said.

Not since 5,000 Red shells rained down Sept. 3, 1954, had the fortified Nationalist islands across the strait from Formosa taken such a pasting.

From 10:20 a.m. until 5:45 p.m. the artillery of Reds and Nationalists dueled across a 5-to-7-mile span of water.

There was no indication whether the furious exchange was a prelude to something bigger. The Nationalists have been predicting the Reds will try to seize the islands. U. S. quarters hitherto have not considered the situation ominous.

There was some speculation the Communists might be reacting to the cold reception the United States gave to a Communist proposal for talks between Secretary of State Dulles and Premier Chou En-lai of Red China. This was disclosed at Geneva yesterday.

It was thought possible that, by flexing its military muscles, Red China might cause Allied pressure on Washington to agree to the talk.

Israel Condemned By UN For Raid On Syrian Post

Council's Vote Is Unanimous

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 19 (AP)—The U.N. Security Council today unanimously condemned Israel for the Sea of Galilee raid on a Syrian outpost Dec. 11. The Council warned that further such raids would be met with sterner measures to maintain the uneasy armistices in the Holy Land.

It was the fourth time in two years that the Council had censured Israel for a major violation of Israel's borders with the Arab states. The Arabs have not been censured by Council decision but Israel has complained against hundreds of alleged border crossings by Arabs.

Russia Supports Decision

Russia, which finally supported today's decision as the best it could get for the Arabs, has vetoed two resolutions backed by the West. One accused Syria of illegal diversion of waters of the Jordan River and the other expressed concern at Egypt's blockade of the Suez Canal against Israeli shipping.

The United States, Britain and France introduced the resolution adopted by the Council at a three-hour session.

The resolution said Israel committed a "flagrant violation" of the Israeli-Syrian armistice in the raid in which 56 Syrians and 6 Israelis were killed.

In addition, the Council:

1. Expressed grave concern at the failure of Israel to comply with its obligations.

Israel Given Warning

2. Decided that if Israel does not observe its obligations in the future the Council will have to consider what measures to take under the Charter to maintain or restore peace.

This was interpreted in Council speeches by several delegates to mean action under chapter VII of the Charter. This calls for economic penalties against a country, breaking off of diplomatic relations, or even resort to military action to maintain peace and security.

3. Called on Syria and Israel to comply with the armistice agreement with respect to the demarcation line, which at one point runs within 11 yards of the Sea of Galilee.

4. Called for an immediate exchange of all military prisoners.

$1½ Billion Navy Ship Bill Backed By House Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee today approved a 1½ billion dollar shipbuilding bill described as a historic bridge to the atomic navy of the future.

"The approval of this bill is a historic event," Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said before the unanimous vote. "It lets us see the day, not far distant, when the American Navy will be propelled by nuclear power."

The bill the committee recommended for passage includes authization for an 88 million dollar, 11,000-ton atom-driven cruiser. This would be the first atom-driven surface ship and its main weapons would be another awesome recent innovation — shipborne guided missiles.

Nuclear Carrier Planned

Also included in the building program, in addition to what probably will be the last conventionally-powered big aircraft carrier, are six more nuclear submarines and the plans for a nuclear carrier. Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas said his service next year will ask for funds actually to build the carrier.

He said the Navy's huge Sea-Master seaplane may be adapted for atomic propulsion and thus be "the airframe which will take aloft the first nuclear power plant."

Thomas and Rear Adm. Albert G. Mumma, chief of the Bureau of Ships, described in lengthy testimony what sort of a navy is being produced by the prospects of atom drive, eliminating need for refueling; and self-propelled weapons of fantastic range.

A-Sub For Guided Missiles

"We foresee that as a guided missile platform, the nuclear submarine with its almost unlimited submerged range can emerge from the depths of the ocean to send missiles of great destruction great distances with deadly accuracy," Thomas said.

Mumma said the Navy is converting to guided missiles on a scale and at a pace "without precedent in naval shipbuilding."

Drought-Ending Snowstorm Hits Much Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

A drought-breaking snowstorm swept much of the eastern half of the nation Thursday.

The snow was the heaviest in years in some areas, ranging up to 8 inches.

It brought sighs of relief from worried farmers, some plagued by the longest drought on record.

The storm also snarled traffic in cities, closed schools and coated main highways.

Spawned by a low-pressure system that moved northeastward from the Gulf Wednesday, the storm relieved serious drought conditions in the Southern Plains and across the Midwest. By midday, snow fell as far eastward as Virginia and Maryland.

Snow Worth "Millions"

One Texas official said the snow was worth "millions and millions" to farmers suffering from winter drought.

Two inches of snow fell at St. Louis after 47 days without measurable precipitation — the longest drought in the area's history.

Farm experts said the drought was especially severe because it came during the winter months when fields should be building up moisture for the spring growing season.

Up to 8 inches of snow fell in southern Illinois—the heaviest fall in five years. It ended the area's longest dry spell in history.

Cincinnati Hard Hit

Tinder-dry forest and fields had posed a major fire danger and many farmers had been forced for weeks to haul water for stock and home use.

Traffic was snarled in downtown Cincinnati where snow reached a depth of 5 inches by 9 a.m. and headed toward an expected 10 inches. It was the heaviest snowfall in several years.

Cincinnati airports shut down. Many schools closed. Thousands were late for work. Numerous minor accidents were attributed to slick streets.

Main routes leading into the downtown area were closed for miles.

'Mad Dog' Killer Escapes Jail; Citizens Buy Arms

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 19 (AP)—The "mad dog" killer Leslie Irvin escaped from jail in neighboring Princeton before dawn Thursday, and frightened citizens quickly bought up all available firearms.

Hardware stores and gun shops here reported a rush of more than 50 gun customers before nightfall, and some had to settle for waiting-list orders.

Police assigned guards to watch the homes of friends and relatives of the killer, sentenced to die for one fatal holdup and indicted in five others in Indiana and Kentucky.

An immediate manhunt was started in Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois. State Police alerted all Midwestern states. Roadblocks were set up.

Sheriff Earl Hollen said "there had to be some outside help," and State Police said Irvin must have had keys or picked the locks on four jail doors. An open door, spotted at breakfast time, gave the first tip that the notorious prisoner, accused of six killings, was gone.

At Henderson, Ky., 40 miles south and where Irvin is charged with killing three members of one family last March, Sheriff Lee Williams said he doubted that Irvin would be recaptured alive.

Wlliams said he is afraid Irvin might kill three more persons. He didn't elaborate.

Police in the tristate area quickly began getting tips about persons resembling the husky former pipefitter.

Arms Talk Prelude

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 19 (AP) — The U.N. Disarmament Commission will meet Monday to set up new big-power talks on arms reduction, nuclear weapons control, and proposals such as President Eisenhower's idea to exchange air and ground inspection with Soviet Russia as a disarmament starter.

Customer Insists On Buying Hat While Fire Rages

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 19 (AP) — While a $75,000 fire roared in the basement, Harold Boy, 41, walked into Harry Levinson's haberdashery today and asked to buy a hat.

The excited owner, Frank Levinson, explained that the store was on fire. Boyd said that didn't make any difference; his head was cold and he wanted a hat.

Levinson sold him one for $10.

$7.8 Billion Deficit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Treasury announced today that in the first half of fiscal 1956, which ended Dec. 31, the government ran $7,885,106,026 in the red.

However, President Eisenhower told Congress in his budget mes- this week that by the end of the fiscal year, the spring tide of tax receipts will have converted the deficit into a thin surplus amounting to $230,123,819.

Bonomi To Die For Killing Wife

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Jan. 19 (AP)—A Plymouth Superior Court jury today convicted Domenick Bonomi of first degree murder in the slaying of his wife. He was immediately sentenced to death in the electric chair.

The all-male jury deliberated an hour and 20 minutes before convicting the dapper 34-year-old Scituate contractor. The jury made death mandatory by failing to recommend clemency.

Judge Frank E. Smith set no execution date pending appeal.

Bonomi, smiling and confident throughout the two-week-long trial, stood with no expression on his face as the jury foreman, H. Roy Hartshorn, pronounced the verdict.

Bonomi was accused of beating and strangling his estranged wife, Mildred, 31, in the climax of a turbulent marriage. Her body was found last Labor Day under six tons of gravel in a Hanover culvert.

Off-Duty Cop Kills Two Bank Robbers

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP)—An off-duty policeman shot and killed two men today during an attempted holdup. The policeman suffered slight wounds.

Sgt. Henry O. Hartman, 48, was in the office of the Lake Building Material Co., visiting his brother when the two men entered and announced the holdup.

Both gunmen then attempted to open the company safe.

Hartman slipped out of the room and saw the men open the safe, later found to contain $55.

He fired a shot, missed and ducked into a washroom as one of the gunmen fired back. Hartman then fired two more shots fatally wounding both gunmen.

Boat Upsets, 9 Drown

The governor said Ike's reply is "most gratifying." (AP Photofax)

Ridgway Correct?

Wilson Says "Yes," Radford Says "No"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Pentagon went into a swivet today over President Eisenhower's suggestion that its top brass say whether he was "incorrect" in telling Congress two years ago that he had 100 per cent support for his military program.

The controversy found Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford on opposite sides of the fence—at least temporarily.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway writes in a current magazine article that he was "nonplussed" to read in Eisenhower's 1954 State of the Union message that the Joint Chiefs of Staff were unanimously in favor of reducing Army manpower and increasing the emphasis on atomic weapons and air power.

As Army chief of staff at the time, Ridgway said, he had "most emphatically not concurred" in the program.

Clashing Statements

Secretary of Defense Wilson said this week he thought Ridgway's statement was correct. But Adm. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, said today that as far as he could recollect the Joint Chiefs were unanimous — which would make Ridgway's statement wrong.

Obviously having in mind the contrasting remarks of Wilson and Radford, a Defense Department spokesman said that before any new Pentagon statement was made, Radford and Wilson would confer. And such a conference obviously was several days in the future, because Wilson left Washington this morning for a trip to the West Coast.

Eisenhower was asked about Ridgway's assertion at the White House news conference this morning.

Ike Points To Pentagon

Eisenhower told the reporters that every section of his 1954 message had been sent to departments involved to be checked. And he added that if there were any questions about incorrectness they should take them up with Radford or Wilson.

This newsmen tried to do immediately. But they were informed that Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, could say nothing until he had talked with Wilson—who had left the capital at about the time of the White House conference.

A few hours earlier, Radford had landed in Washington from a worldwide inspection trip. Reporters, remembering that he presided over the JCS meetings, asked him about the controversy over whether there was unanimity in the case about which Eisenhower and Ridgway had differing versions.

Radford replied that "as far as I can recall" there was unanimity.

Government To Give Dr. Salk Gold Medal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The government will present a gold medal to Dr. Jonas E. Salk next Thursday for his work in developing the antipolio vaccine which bears his name.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom will make the presentation on behalf of President Eisenhower and the nation but details of the ceremony have not been completed.

The gold medal award to the Pittsburgh scientist was proposed by the President and authorized by Congress last year.

Largest Shovel's Unveiling Marred By Breakdown

CADIZ, Ohio, Jan. 19 (AP)—A near mishap interrupted the unveiling today of the world's largest power shovel.

Scores of spectators were standing about watching the monstrous power shovel begin its journey to stripping operations at the Hanna Coal Co.'s Georgetown No. 12 mine near Cadiz.

In a demonstration of its digging capacity the shovel scooped up 90 tons of earth and held it suspended 30 feet in the air. Suddenly, the bucket plunged to the ground and spilled the dirt, just missing 10 children standing neaby. The youngsters barely scampered away in time.

Observers at the scene said it appeared one of the machine's gears slipped causing the bucket to drop. A cable controlling the dipper arm was severed nearly in half, but the operator was able to right the bucket.

Television Program Saves Life Of Dog

FARMINGTON, Conn., Jan. 19 (AP) — A television program today was credited with saving a prize poodle's life.

The dog, which had broken through thin ice on a deep lake here, was lassoed and dragged to safety by patrolman George Stuz who said he had seen a television cowboy make a similar lasso so he just copied the action.

Daring Thieves Steal $280,000 In Swiss Gold

GENEVA, Switzerland, Friday, Jan. 20 (AP)—A truck bearing $280,000 worth of gold bars was stolen here last night in a daring coup by thieves who may have come from across the French border.

The gold, owned by a private Swiss firm, weighed 551.16 pounds. In bulk it was small, since it takes about a ton of gold to make one cubic foot.

The gold bars had arrived from Paris by air in Geneva, international center of banking and commerce in gold, and were loaded on a truck at the Geneva airport.

No Guards Provided

No guards were provided for the consignment. It was regarded as a routine shipment and gold robberies are so rare in Switzerland that guards ordinarily are not assigned for the transfers.

The truck driver drove to his company's headquarters and left the truck for a few moments. When he returned it had disappeared.

A nation-wide police search started immediately.

Loss First Put At 25 Million

Swiss newspapers reported tire marks showed the gold had been loaded into a car in the lane. A car with French license plates was reported to have been seen in the vicinity.

First reports put the value of the gold at 25 million dollars. The confusion arose over the fact that French and Swiss officers working on the case failed to distinguish between Swiss and French francs. The Swiss franc is quoted at 23 1-3 U.S. cents; the French franc is less than a third of a cent.

Bank Manager's Stalling Tactics Thwart Robbers

SWANSEA, S. C., Jan. 19 (AP)—The manager of a small bank today employed stalling tactics and finally locked one would-be bandit in the vault and overpowered the other.

The pair had forced Francis Knotts, manager of the Swansea Cash Depository, from his home at gunpoint and had taken him to the bank just before 9 a.m., opening and forced him to open the vault.

Lexington County Sheriff H. M. Caughman listed the men as W. J. Jackson, 23, a Ft. Jackson soldier from Dillon, S.C.; and J. R. Freeman of Columbia, who was discharged from the Army at Ft. Jackson in November.

Knotts said the men came to his house shortly after his wife, a teacher had left for school. Knotts told this story:

The pair forced him to the depository in his own car. They told him to act naturally, to make it appear nothing was wrong.

Knotts walked to the vault and opened it.

A customer, V. L. Odum, came in and Knotts, instructed by the men, waited on him. Odum left in a few minutes and Knotts returned to the vault, taking one man with him who was given a school bag, and told to scoop up the money in the vault.

Another customer came in and Knotts went to wait on him, closing the door of the vault as he left.

"I knew it was locked, but they didn't."

Knotts stalled as much as he could with the second customer, Clem Spires. The would-be robber outside the vault, later identified as Jackson, stood waiting.

Finally Spires left and Knotts walked back to the vault, making as if to open it. He stalled all possible.

Spires became suspicious and notified Swansea Police Chief C. B. Senn, who rushed to the bank.

As Senn and others entered, Jackson turned away, apparently so he could not be recognized, and Knotts jumped him, grabbing him around the neck and pulling him to the floor. Senn was on the man before he could get his gun out of his pocket.

Virtually Bids All Aspirants To Enter Race

President To Leave Name In Primaries But Still Undecided

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he hasn't decided about a second term, and he issued a virtual invitation to all GOP hopefuls to plunge into the race for the nomination.

Nobody jumped at the invitation —with Eisenhower himself still a potential candidate.

The President decided to leave his name in the New Hampshire or any other presidential primary in which it may be entered. But he said this doesn't mean he will run.

In fact, Eisenhower told a news conference—the first full-scale one since his Sept. 24 heart attack—he hasn't reached even a tentative decision on his political future.

When he does make up his mind, he said, the decision will be "based as to my best judgment on the good of our country" and will be announced immediately.

Must Avoid Fatigue

Eisenhower tossed out some political teasers for newsmen and politicians to toy around with. He said that while his doctors tell him he is making normal and satisfactory progress toward a reasonable level of strength, "it would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored. . . ."

"My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue," he said.

At his last previous Washington news conference Aug. 4, before the heart seizure, the President said his health would be a factor in his second term decision.

At today's packed session with reporters, the chief executive said every citizen should have the "widest possible choice" in expressing his preference as to the nominee. He thus gave Sen. William F. Knowland of California and any other Republican aspirants a clear field for hopping into the string of primaries starting with the one in New Hampshire March 13.

Ike Has Faith In Dulles

Knowland has some support in both New Hampshire and Illinois. And he has ideas about running if Eisenhower doesn't. But with Eisenhower not definitely out of competition, few, if any, Republican hopefuls would want to take on the President in a popularity contest.

There were political implications, too, in the second big subject of the news conference—Secretary of State Dulles and a statement attributed to him by Life magazine that "the ability to get to the verge (of war) without getting into war is the necessary art."

Although the secretary has said he wouldn't have put it quite that way himself, the remark has brought hot criticism from Democrats and a defense of Dulles from Republicans.

As for the President, he said he didn't know whether Dulles had used "unfortunate expressions" in the Life article. He said he hadn't read it, only "some of the allegations" that Dulles is supposed to have made.

But he said, too, that:

"I have complete faith in Mr. Dulles . . . I know he is devoted to peace . . . and to my mind, the best secretary of state I have ever known."

Strike Bringing N. Y. Fuel Crisis

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP) — A deep freeze rolled glacierlike across some New York City homes today in the fourth day of a fuel truck drivers' strike. Many big apartment houses were out of fuel or close to it.

An emergency office at police headquarters was swamped with complaints. New phone lines had to be installed.

Electric heaters and gas ovens burned in tens of thousands of homes as room temperatures dropped.

A forecast of snow and below freezing weather threatened to heighten what the New York Real Estate Board has called "a catastrophe in the making."

Hopes began to fade for a quick truce in the bitter wage-pension-welfare strike of 3,000 Teamsters Union truck drivers against 300 coal and oil distributors.

A new package offer from the dealers was turned down by the union shortly before Mayor Robert F. Wagner summoned the Teamsters negotiating committee to City Hall. The mayor said he wanted a fill-in on the current status of peace talks.

Weather Forecast
Cloudy and moderately cold today with occasional snow flurries.

It brought sighs of relief from worried farmers, some plagued by the longest drought on record.

The storm also snarled traffic in cities, closed schools and coated main highways.

Spawned by a low-pressure system that moved northeastward from the Gulf Wednesday, the storm relieved serious drought conditions in the Southern Plains and across the Midwest. By midday, snow fell as far eastward as Virginia and Maryland.

Snow Worth "Millions"

One Texas official said the snow was worth "millions and millions" to farmers suffering from winter drought.

Two inches of snow fell at St. Louis after 47 days without measurable precipitation — the longest drought in the area's history.

Farm experts said the drought was especially severe because it came during the winter months when fields should be building up moisture for the spring growing season.

Up to 8 inches of snow fell in southern Illinois—the heaviest fall in five years. It ended the area's longest dry spell in history.

Cincinnati Hard Hit

Tinder-dry forest and fields had posed a major fire danger and many farmers had been forced for weeks to haul water for stock and home use.

Traffic was snarled in downtown Cincinnati where snow reached a depth of 5 inches by 9 a.m. and headed toward an expected 10 inches. It was the heaviest snowfall in several years.

Cincinnati airports shut down. Many schools closed. Thousands were late for work. Numerous minor accidents were attributed to slick streets.

Main routes leading into the downtown area were closed for miles.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 19 (AP)—While a $75,000 fire roared in the basement, Harold Boy, 41, walked into Harry Levinson's haberdashery today and asked to buy a hat.

The excited owner, Frank Levinson, explained that the store was on fire. Boyd said that didn't make any difference; his head was cold and he wanted a hat.

Levinson sold him one for $10.

$7.8 Billion Deficit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Treasury announced today that in the first half of fiscal 1956, which ended Dec. 31, the government ran $7,885,106,026 in the red.

However, President Eisenhower told Congress in his budget message this week that by the end of the fiscal year, the spring tide of tax receipts will have converted the deficit into a thin surplus amounting to $230,123,819.

Bonomi To Die For Killing Wife

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Jan. 19 (AP)—A Plymouth Superior Court jury today convicted Domenick Bonomi of first degree murder in the slaying of his wife. He was immediately sentenced to death in the electric chair.

The all-male jury deliberated an hour and 20 minutes before convicting the dapper 34-year-old Scituate contractor. The jury made death mandatory by failing to recommend clemency.

Judge Frank E. Smith set no execution date pending appeal.

Bonomi, smiling and confident throughout the two-week-long trial, stood with no expression on his face as the jury foreman, H. Roy Hartshorn, pronounced the verdict.

Bonomi was accused of beating and strangling his estranged wife, Mildred, 31, in the climax of a turbulent marriage. Her body was found last Labor Day under six tons of gravel in a Hanover culvert.

Off-Duty Cop Kills Two Bank Robbers

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP)—An off-duty policeman shot and killed two men today during an attempted holdup. The policeman suffered slight wounds.

Sgt. Henry O. Hartman, 48, was in the office of the Lake Building Material Co., visiting his brother when the two men entered and announced the holdup.

Both gunmen then attempted to open the company safe.

Hartman slipped out of the room and saw the men open the safe, later found to contain $55.

He fired a shot, missed and ducked into a washroom as one of the gunmen fired back. Hartman then fired two more shots fatally wounding both gunmen.

Boat Upsets, 9 Drown

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 19 (AP)—Reports from Salvador in the State of Bahia today said nine persons drowned when a rowboat ferrying them across a river to Itapagipe, near Salvador, overturned. The accident occurred Monday.

'Mad Dog' Killer Escapes Jail; Citizens Buy Arms

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 19 (AP)—The "mad dog" killer Leslie Irvin escaped from jail in neighboring Princeton before dawn Thursday, and frightened citizens quickly bought up all available firearms.

Hardware stores and gun shops here reported a rush of more than 50 gun customers before nightfall, and some had to settle for waiting-list orders.

Police assigned guards to watch the homes of friends and relatives of the killer, sentenced to die for one fatal holdup and indicted in five others in Indiana and Kentucky.

An immediate manhunt was started in Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois. State Police alerted all Midwestern states. Roadblocks were set up.

Sheriff Earl Hollen said "there had to be some outside help," and State Police said Irvin must have had keys or picked the locks on four jail doors. An open door, spotted at breakfast time, gave the first tip that the notorious prisoner, accused of six killings, was gone.

At Henderson, Ky., 40 miles south and where Irvin is charged with killing three members of one family last March, Sheriff Lee Williams said he doubted that Irvin would be recaptured alive.

Wlliams said he is afraid Irvin might kill three more persons. He didn't elaborate.

Police in the tristate area quickly began getting tips about persons resembling the husky former pipefitter.

Arms Talk Prelude

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 19 (AP) — The U.N. Disarmament Commission will meet Monday to set up new big-power talks on arms reduction, nuclear weapons control, and proposals such as President Eisenhower's idea to exchange air and ground inspection with Soviet Russia as a disarmament starter.

Ike's Name Goes On Ballot

Gov. Lane Dwinell reads a telegram from President Eisenhower handed him by Mrs. Mary Jenkins of the New Hampshire secretary of state's office. The President said he had no objection to his name going on the presidential preference primary ballot of New Hampshire. The first-in-the-nation primary is set for March 13. The governor said Ike's reply is "most gratifying." (AP Photofax)

Ridgway Correct?

Wilson Says "Yes," Radford Says "No"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Pentagon went into a swivet today over President Eisenhower's suggestion that its top brass say whether he was "incorrect" in telling Congress two years ago that he had 100 per cent support for his military program.

The controversy found Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford on opposite sides of the fence—at least temporarily.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway writes in a current magazine article that he was "nonplussed" to read in Eisenhower's 1954 State of the Union message that the Joint Chiefs of Staff were unanimously in favor of reducing Army manpower and increasing the emphasis on atomic weapons and air power.

As Army chief of staff at the time, Ridgway said, he had "most emphatically not concurred" in the program.

Clashing Statements

Secretary of Defense Wilson said this week he thought Ridgway's statement was correct. But Adm. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, said today that as far as he could recollect the Joint Chiefs were unanimous — which would make Ridgway's statement wrong.

Obviously having in mind the contrasting remarks of Wilson and Radford, a Defense Department spokesman said that before any new Pentagon statement was made, Radford and Wilson would confer. And such a conference obviously was several days in the future, because Wilson left Washington this morning for a trip to the West Coast.

Eisenhower was asked about Ridgway's assertion at the White House news conference this morning.

Ike Points To Pentagon

Eisenhower told the reporters that every section of his 1954 message had been sent to departments involved to be checked. And he added that if there were any questions about incorrectness they should take them up with Radford or Wilson.

This newsmen tried to do immediately. But they were informed that Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, could say nothing until he had talked with Wilson—who had left the capital at about the time of the White House conference.

A few hours earlier, Radford had landed in Washington from a worldwide inspection trip. Reporters, remembering that he presided over the JCS meetings, asked him about the controversy over whether there was unanimity in the case about which Eisenhower and Ridgway had differing versions.

Radford replied that "as far as I can recall" there was unanimity.

Government To Give Dr. Salk Gold Medal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The government will present a gold medal to Dr. Jonas E. Salk next Thursday for his work in developing the antipolio vaccine which bears his name.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom will make the presentation on behalf of President Eisenhower and the nation but details of the ceremony have not been completed.

The gold medal award to the Pittsburgh scientist was proposed by the President and authorized by Congress last year.

Largest Shovel's Unveiling Marred By Breakdown

Scores of spectators were standing about watching the monstrous power shovel begin its journey to stripping operations at the Hanna Coal Co.'s Georgetown No. 12 mine near Cadiz.

In a demonstration of its digging capacity the shovel scooped up 90 tons of earth and held it suspended 30 feet in the air. Suddenly, the bucket plunged to the ground and spilled the dirt, just missing 10 children standing neaby. The youngsters barely scampered away in time.

Observers at the scene said it appeared one of the machine's gears slipped causing the bucket to drop. A cable controlling the dipper arm was severed nearly in half, but the operator was able to right the bucket.

Television Program Saves Life Of Dog

FARMINGTON, Conn., Jan. 19 (AP) — A television program today was credited with saving a prize poodle's life.

The dog, which had broken through thin ice on a deep lake here, was lassoed and dragged to safety by patrolman George Stuz who said he had seen a television cowboy make a similar lasso so he just copied the action.

Daring Thieves Steal $280,000 In Swiss Gold

GENEVA, Switzerland, Friday, Jan. 20 (AP)—A truck bearing $280,000 worth of gold bars was stolen here last night in a daring coup by thieves who may have come from across the French border.

The gold, owned by a private Swiss firm, weighed 551.16 pounds. In bulk it was small, since it takes about a ton of gold to make one cubic foot.

The gold bars had arrived from Paris by air in Geneva, international center of banking and commerce in gold, and were loaded on a truck at the Geneva airport.

No Guards Provided

No guards were provided for the consignment. It was regarded as a routine shipment and gold robberies are so rare in Switzerland that guards ordinarily are not assigned for the transfers.

The truck driver drove to his company's headquarters and left the truck for a few moments. When he returned it had disappeared.

A nation-wide police search started immediately.

Loss First Put At 25 Million

Swiss newspapers reported tire marks showed the gold had been loaded into a car in the lane. A car with French license plates was reported to have been seen in the vicinity.

First reports put the value of the gold at 25 million dollars. The confusion arose over the fact that French and Swiss officers working on the case failed to distinguish between Swiss and French francs. The Swiss franc is quoted at 23 1-3 U.S. cents; the French franc is less than a third of a cent.

Bank Manager's Stalling Tactics Thwart Robbers

SWANSEA, S. C., Jan. 19 (AP)—The manager of a small bank today employed stalling tactics and finally locked one would-be bandit in the vault and overpowered the other.

The pair had forced Francis Knotts, manager of the Swansea Cash Depository, from his home at gunpoint and had taken him to the bank just before 9 a.m., opening and forced him to open the vault.

Lexington County Sheriff H. M. Caughman listed the men as W. J. Jackson, 23, a Ft. Jackson soldier from Dillon, S.C.; and J. R. Freeman of Columbia, who was discharged from the Army at Ft. Jackson in November.

Knotts said the men came to his house shortly after his wife, a teacher had left for school. Knotts told this story:

The pair forced him to the depository in his own car. They told him to act naturally, to make it appear nothing was wrong.

Knotts walked to the vault and opened it.

A customer, V. L. Odum, came in and Knotts, instructed by the men, waited on him. Odum left in a few minutes and Knotts returned to the vault, taking one man with him who was given a school bag, and told to scoop up the money in the vault.

Another customer came in and Knotts went to wait on him, closing the door of the vault as he left.

"I knew it was locked, but they didn't."

Knotts stalled as much as he could with the second customer, Clem Spires. The would-be robber outside the vault, later identified as Jackson, stood waiting.

Finally Spires left and Knotts walked back to the vault, making as if to open it. He stalled all possible.

Spires became suspicious and notified Swansea Police Chief C. B. Senn, who rushed to the bank.

As Senn and others entered, Jackson turned away, apparently so he could not be recognized, and Knotts jumped him, grabbing him around the neck and pulling him to the floor. Senn was on the man before he could get his gun out of his pocket.

Virtually Bids All Aspirants To Enter Race

President To Leave Name In Primaries But Still Undecided

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he hasn't decided about a second term, and he issued a virtual invitation to all GOP hopefuls to plunge into the race for the nomination.

Nobody jumped at the invitation—with Eisenhower himself still a potential candidate.

The President decided to leave his name in the New Hampshire or any other presidential primary in which it may be entered. But he said this doesn't mean he will run.

In fact, Eisenhower told a news conference—the first full-scale one since his Sept. 24 heart attack—he hasn't reached even a tentative decision on his political future.

When he does make up his mind, he said, the decision will be "based as to my best judgment on the good of our country" and will be announced immediately.

Must Avoid Fatigue

Eisenhower tossed out some political teasers for newsmen and politicians to toy around with. He said that while his doctors tell him he is making normal and satisfactory progress toward a reasonable level of strength, "it would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored. . . ."

"My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue," he said.

At his last previous Washington news conference Aug. 4, before the heart seizure, the President said his health would be a factor in his second term decision.

At today's packed session with reporters, the chief executive said every citizen should have the "widest possible choice" in expressing his preference as to the nominee. He thus gave Sen. William F. Knowland of California and any other Republican aspirants a clear field for hopping into the string of primaries starting with the one in New Hampshire March 13.

Ike Has Faith In Dulles

Knowland has some support in both New Hampshire and Illinois. And he has ideas about running if Eisenhower doesn't. But with Eisenhower not definitely out of competition, few, if any, Republican hopefuls would want to take on the President in a popularity contest.

There were political implications, too, in the second big subject of the news conference—Secretary of State Dulles and a statement attributed to him by Life magazine that "the ability to get to the verge (of war) without getting into war is the necessary art."

Although the secretary has said he wouldn't have put it quite that way himself, the remark has brought hot criticism from Democrats and a defense of Dulles from Republicans.

As for the President, he said he didn't know whether Dulles had used "unfortunate expressions" in the Life article. He said he hadn't read it, only "some of the allegations" that Dulles is supposed to have made.

But he said, too, that:

"I have complete faith in Mr. Dulles . . . I know he is devoted to peace . . . and to my mind, the best secretary of state I have ever known."

Strike Bringing N. Y. Fuel Crisis

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP) — A deep freeze rolled glacierlike across some New York City homes today in the fourth day of a fuel truck drivers' strike. Many big apartment houses were out of fuel or close to it.

An emergency office at police headquarters was swamped with complaints. New phone lines had to be installed.

Electric heaters and gas ovens burned in tens of thousands of homes as room temperatures dropped.

A forecast of snow and below freezing weather threatened to heighten what the New York Real Estate Board has called "a catastrophe in the making."

Hopes began to fade for a quick truce in the bitter wage-pension-welfare strike of 3,000 Teamsters Union truck drivers against 300 coal and oil distributors.

A new package offer from the dealers was turned down by the union shortly before Mayor Robert F. Wagner summoned the Teamsters negotiating committee to City Hall. The mayor said he wanted a fill-in on the current status of peace talks.

Bombay Rioting Death Toll Rises

Disorders Continue With 40 Dead

BOMBAY, India, Friday, Jan. 20 (AP)—Looting and burning mobs of Marathas fought police through the night and besieged authorities in widespread parts of Bombay state and city.

At Kolhapur, 250 miles to the south, police fired into a mob of 30,000, injuring many. There was no official count of dead there.

As the unprecedented surge of anti-Nehru violence entered its fifth day, mobs forced the resignation of at least one city's councilman as part of a general siege campaign against the government.

The first reported mass resignation was at Poona.

Authorities declared Communists are exploiting and helping to spread the violence that began last Monday as a rebellion against Prime Minister Nehru's decision to federalize the city of Bombay.

Official casualty figures showed more than 40 persons killed in the first four days.

In two isolated city incidents Thursday, two looters carrying bags of grain were shot dead in the streets and a police constable was stoned to death by rioters.

A government communique early today said 9 persons were killed in city rioting Thursday; 65 persons were injured, including 30 policemen, and 85 more rioters were arrested.

In fighting between the two main language communities contending for control over the city of three million people, three non-Marathas were stabbed.

The two communities are the Marathi-speaking people numbering about 30 million in southern Bombay State and the less numerous Gujerati-speaking people of the northern part.

Marathi-speaking Indians, who number about 1,500,000 in the city, want this to be the capital of their new state under a realignment of state boundaries that will more nearly conform with the language barriers of the many-tongued Indian Republic. The Gujerati-speaking Bombay people generally are for keeping the city apart from any state—the view Nehru has adopted. The influential Bombay chief minister belongs to the Gujerati community.

Big Construction Program Sought By Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Congressional approval of a global military construction program totaling $2,012,283,000 was asked by the Defense Department today.

Part of the cost of new military housing projects overseas would be met by the sale abroad of 150 million dollars of surplus farm products.

By far the biggest share of the program, included in the budget for the 1957 fiscal year starting next July 1, is for the Air Force which is allotted $1,137,585,000.

Total proposed military building in continental United States, including land acquisition, is $1,055,281,000; the overseas construction figure is $554,222,000; and work at classified and unspecified locations amounts to $402,780,000. Nearly 80 million dollars is earmarked for constructing 3,740 military family housing units in this country.

One item calls for a $300,000 housing compound on the Naval Observatory grounds in Washington for the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and four of his close assistants. The project includes a special communications system costing $50,000.

Detailed in the Defense Department program are construction projects at 292 installations in every state except West Virginia, 42 in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone, and 8 in foreign countries and Pacific islands.

Bulganin Health Questions Evaded

MOSCOW, Jan. 19 (AP)—Questions about Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's health again went unanswered at a Soviet news conference today.

The questions were put to Leonid F. Ilyichev, the Foreign Ministry's press chief. He refused to reply.

Ilyichev had similarly refused to comment last Monday when American correspondents asked him about Bulganin. Westerners have not seen him in public since he attended the Kremlin New Year's party.

The premier, 60, has since failed to appear with other Soviet leaders at such functions as a reception for an Iranian delegation at the Kremlin and the Moscow Premier of the American Opera, "Porgy and Bess."

Thousands Attend Motorama Opening

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—General Motors' 1956 Motorama opened its doors to the public this afternoon, and indications were the first-day attendance would set an all-time record.

Within the first hour and a half, nearly 5,000 men, women and children had filed past the glittering display in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria while a line more than three blocks long waited on the street outside.

GM officials figured 335,000 people would see the six-day New York show before the Motorama packs up for Miami. That was the attendance last year.

Death Car Driver Fined $100 And Costs

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 19 (AP)—Romie Grason Robbins, 20, of Cambridge, driver of a car that struck and killed an elderly woman last week, was fined $100 and costs today on a reckless driving charge.

Magistrate J. Otis McAllister also sentenced Robbins to six months in jail, but suspended the sentence in the event the fine is paid.

Robbins' attorney said he would appeal and the young man was released in $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Lottie Boggs, 68-year-old Cambridge Negro, was struck the night of Jan. 11 while crossing a Cambridge street on her way to church. Robbins told police he didn't see her in time to stop.

Firemen Stumble Onto $30,000 Blaze

WOONSOCKET, R.I. Jan. 19 (AP)—Firemen searched for the source of smoke in a business block here for an hour early today and when they found it, they had a $30,000 blaze on their hands.

A patrolman noticed that the night light was not burning in a cafe and thought the cafe might have been broken into. When he smelled smoke, a fire company was called.

Flames burst through the cellar and roared through the entire building which also houses a shoe repair shop and a tailor shop.

Many birds have a poor sense of smell.

W. Va. School Plan Discussed By Lawmakers

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—House Democrats and Republicans held separate caucuses today to talk over the newly unveiled revenue program for public schools in West Virginia.

The caucuses were held after adjournment of today's uneventful 23 - minute House session. The Senate did not meet today.

It took only a few minutes for the 24 - member Republican minority to complete its closed session in the minority lounge. GOP Floor Leader Underwood said afterward that the Republican delegates simply agreed to take the proposals home with them over the weekend, study them and sound out local sentiment. They will receive further consideration next week.

House Democrats were in session slightly more than an hour in the main chamber. After the closed meeting, Speaker Flannery said the purpose of the caucus was "not to bind anybody, not to commit anybody."

He said the Democrats simply got together for "an exchange of ideas."

Flannery and Senate President Bean agreed to introduction of the plan for education in their respective chambers. Flannery has said he is "behind it all the way," but Bean said his action does not necessarily mean he supports all parts of the program.

It includes five tax measures, introduced into the House today, to bring in an estimated $8,600,000 a year. A proposed salary increase for public school teachers would cost an estimated $6,400,000. There also is a plan for a $2,000,000 fund from which counties can obtain supplemental school aid on a matching basis.

Three-Truck Crash Blocks U. S. Route 1

LAUREL, Md., Jan. 19 (AP) — Traffic on U.S. 1 between Washington and Baltimore was halted for more than an hour this afternoon by a three-truck collision in which one woman and a truck driver were hurt.

The accident, which occurred about a mile north of here, started when a passenger car proceeding toward Baltimore skidded on the snow slick road.

The driver of a tractor trailer which was following slammed on his brakes to avoid hitting the car and his trailer jack-knifed.

A car carrier and a dump truck proceeding in the opposite direction smashed into the tractor trailer.

Virginia Chisholm, 22, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., riding on one of the trucks, suffered a scalp laceration. She was treated at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore.

The driver of one of the trucks suffered a hip injury.

Britain Admits Leak Of Tanks To Egypt, Israel

LONDON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Britain today admitted undercover leakages of more than 200 World War II tanks to Egypt and Israel. But it said the military balance between those feuding neighbors remains unchanged.

Prime Minister Eden's government, in a white paper report to Parliament, deprecated the traffic. It expressed the view, however, that known leakages by way of Belgium and France in the past year have been relatively small in quantity and have comprised equipment that was "obsolete, ineffective and unreliable for war."

The report gave details of a probe ordered after opposition Laborites and newspapers of all political shades complained British tanks and other old war goods were exported to Europe, refitted and then resold at huge profits to Middle East armies.

It announced that action has been taken to block future illicit or questionable deals in British surplus arms. The sale and export of such goods are to be more tightly controlled. Already, the report said, 10 export licenses have been revoked as a precaution.

In the wake of the white paper came a plea today to the British government from Israel for military supplies of all kinds. Their purposes would be defensive and they would be used only in case of Arab aggression. Ambassador Eliahu Elath told Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

An Israeli embassy statement said Elath, in a talk with Lloyd, emphasized both his government's willingness to negotiate an "honorable peace settlement" with the Arab nations and its determination to fight for its independence if attacked.

Sen. Green Makes Public His Expense Account For Trip

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Sen. Green (D-RI) did something rare, if not unprecedented, in Congress today. He made public his expense account for a Sept. 15—Nov. 5 trip to the Far East, South Asia and the Middle East.

The cost: $489.07 in U.S. dollars plus $1,132.86 in counterpart funds for him and Pat M. Holt, a staff member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. This is exclusive of commercial airline tickets.

The 88-year-old Green itemized such things as $5.30 for passport and visa photographs; $1 passport fee; $16 cab fares; $6.39 for postage, telephone and telegraph, $4.38 for maps, books and papers.

Deliberate Collision Costs Woman $100

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—Miss Sue Dorsey, 54, was fined $100 in Traffic Court today for wilfully and deliberately driving her automobile into the rear of a parked car owned by Parker Carpenter.

Miss Dorsey contended it was a mistake, but Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr called it a "wilful and deliberate" act and said it was the first "intentional accident" in his five year experience on the bench.

Carpenter testified he had parked his car on a downtown street last night and found that the windshield had been smashed and a hub cap removed. While he was investigating, he said, Miss Dorsey drove up behind his car. Suddenly, he said, Miss Dorsey's car backed up a few feet, then came forward with a rush, slamming into the left rear of his car. He said Miss Dorsey then drove off without stopping.

She was arrested about four blocks away and said she did not know the car she hit was Carpenter's.

Carpenter told Magistrate Scheer he and Miss Dorsey had been friends until about two years ago.

'Teacher Aide' Idea Challenged By Educators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The National Education Assn. today challenged the idea that getting enough good teachers is a hopeless task under the present educational setup, and that "teachers' aides" may help solve the problem.

The NEA hit out at "untried and untested procedures." It thus took issue with the Fund for the Advancement of Education. This organization, financed by the Ford Foundation, recently described an experiment in Bay City, Mich., in which assistants relieve elementary teachers of clerical and "housekeeping" duties.

Although emphasizing that the experiment has not been evaluated, the Fund said there is "promising evidence" that it enables a teacher to instruct up to 52 pupils as efficiently as she could handle 30 otherwise.

But a report by the NEA Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards questioned "untested arrangements which would drastically increase the present load of every qualified teacher."

"The American people are being advised that by providing a qualified teacher with mechanical and teaching aids and clerical helpers the number of children to each classroom can be materially increased without loss of efficiency," it said. Then it said that giving "quick and easy answers to difficult problems. . . is the simplest and surest way of defeating the progress of the past in efforts to make of teaching a real profession."

1950 was an all-time high for number of students graduated from colleges and universities in the United States.

Bombay Rioting Death Toll Rises

Disorders Continue With 40 Dead

BOMBAY, India, Friday, Jan. 20 (AP)—Looting and burning mobs of Marathas fought police through the night and besieged authorities in widespread parts of Bombay state and city.

At Kolhapur, 250 miles to the south, police fired into a mob of 30,000, injuring many. There was no official count of dead there.

As the unprecedented surge of anti-Nehru violence entered its fifth day, mobs forced the resignation of at least one city's councilman as part of a general siege campaign against the government.

The first reported mass resignation was at Poona.

Authorities declared Communists are exploiting and helping to spread the violence that began last Monday as a rebellion against Prime Minister Nehru's decision to federalize the city of Bombay.

Official casualty figures showed more than 40 persons killed in the first four days.

In two isolated city incidents Thursday, two looters carrying bags of grain were shot dead in the streets and a police constable was stoned to death by rioters.

A government communique early today said 9 persons were killed in city rioting Thursday; 65 persons were injured, including 30 policemen, and 85 more rioters were arrested.

In fighting between the two main language communities contending for control over the city of three million people, three non-Marathas were stabbed.

The two communities are the Marathi-speaking people numbering about 30 million in southern Bombay State and the less numerous Gujerati-speaking people of the northern part.

Marathi-speaking Indians, who number about 1,500,000 in the city, want this to be the capital of their new state under a realignment of state boundaries that will more nearly conform with the language barriers of the many-tongued Indian Republic. The Gujerati-speaking Bombay people generally are for keeping the city apart from any state—the view Nehru has adopted. The influential Bombay chief minister belongs to the Gujerati community.

Big Construction Program Sought By Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Congressional approval of a global military construction program totaling $2,012,283,000 was asked by the Defense Department today.

Part of the cost of new military housing projects overseas would be met by the sale abroad of 150 million dollars of surplus farm products.

By far the biggest share of the program, included in the budget for the 1957 fiscal year starting next July 1, is for the Air Force which is allotted $1,137,585,000.

Total proposed military building in continental United States, including land acquisition, is $1,055,281,000; the overseas construction figure is $554,222,000; and work at classified and unspecified locations amounts to $402,780,000. Nearly 80 million dollars is earmarked for constructing 3,740 military family housing units in this country.

One item calls for a $300,000 housing compound on the Naval Observatory grounds in Washington for the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and four of his close assistants. The project includes a special communications system costing $50,000.

Detailed in the Defense Department program are construction projects at 292 installations in every state except West Virginia, 42 in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone, and 8 in foreign countries and Pacific islands.

Bulganin Health Questions Evaded

MOSCOW, Jan. 19 (AP)—Questions about Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's health again went unanswered at a Soviet news conference today.

The questions were put to Leonid F. Ilyichev, the Foreign Ministry's press chief. He refused to reply.

Ilyichev had similarly refused to comment last Monday when American correspondents asked him about Bulganin. Westerners have not seen him in public since he attended the Kremlin New Year's party.

The premier, 60, has since failed to appear with other Soviet leaders at such functions as a reception for an Iranian delegation at the Kremlin and the Moscow Premier of the American Opera, "Porgy and Bess."

Thousands Attend Motorama Opening

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—General Motors' 1956 Motorama opened its doors to the public this afternoon, and indications were the first-day attendance would set an all-time record.

Within the first hour and a half, nearly 5,000 men, women and children had filed past the glittering display in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria while a line more than three blocks long waited on the street outside.

GM officials figured 335,000 people would see the six-day New York show before the Motorama packs up for Miami. That was the attendance last year.

Death Car Driver Fined $100 And Costs

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 19 (AP)—Romie Grason Robbins, 20, of Cambridge, driver of a car that struck and killed an elderly woman last week, was fined $100 and costs today on a reckless driving charge.

Magistrate J. Otis McAllister also sentenced Robbins to six months in jail, but suspended the sentence in the event the fine is paid.

Robbins' attorney said he would appeal and the young man was released in $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Lottie Boggs, 68-year-old Cambridge Negro, was struck the night of Jan. 11 while crossing a Cambridge street on her way to church. Robbins told police he didn't see her in time to stop.

Firemen Stumble Onto $30,000 Blaze

WOONSOCKET, R.I. Jan. 19 (AP)—Firemen searched for the source of smoke in a business block here for an hour early today and when they found it, they had a $30,000 blaze on their hands.

A patrolman noticed that the night light was not burning in a cafe and thought the cafe might have been broken into. When he smelled smoke, a fire company was called.

Flames burst through the cellar and roared through the entire building which also houses a shoe repair shop and a tailor shop.

W. Va. School Plan Discussed By Lawmakers

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—House Democrats and Republicans held separate caucuses today to talk over the newly unveiled revenue program for public schools in West Virginia.

The caucuses were held after adjournment of today's uneventful 23 - minute House session. The Senate did not meet today.

It took only a few minutes for the 24 - member Republican minority to complete its closed session in the minority lounge. GOP Floor Leader Underwood said afterward that the Republican delegates simply agreed to take the proposals home with them over the weekend, study them and sound out local sentiment. They will receive further consideration next week.

House Democrats were in session slightly more than an hour in the main chamber. After the closed meeting, Speaker Flannery said the purpose of the caucus was "not to bind anybody, not to commit anybody."

He said the Democrats simply got together for "an exchange of ideas."

Flannery and Senate President Bean agreed to introduction of the plan for education in their respective chambers. Flannery has said he is "behind it all the way," but Bean said his action does not necessarily mean he supports all parts of the program.

It includes five tax measures, introduced into the House today, to bring in an estimated $8,600,000 a year. A proposed salary increase for public school teachers would cost an estimated $6,400,000. There also is a plan for a $2,000,000 fund from which counties can obtain supplemental school aid on a matching basis.

Three-Truck Crash Blocks U. S. Route 1

LAUREL, Md., Jan. 19 (AP)—Traffic on U.S. 1 between Washington and Baltimore was halted for more than an hour this afternoon by a three-truck collision in which one woman and a truck driver were hurt.

The accident, which occurred about a mile north of here, started when a passenger car proceeding toward Baltimore skidded on the snow slick road.

The driver of a tractor trailer which was following slammed on his brakes to avoid hitting the car and his trailer jack-knifed.

A car carrier and a dump truck proceeding in the opposite direction smashed into the tractor trailer.

Virginia Chisholm, 22, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., riding on one of the trucks, suffered a scalp laceration. She was treated at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore.

The driver of one of the trucks suffered a hip injury.

Britain Admits Leak Of Tanks To Egypt, Israel

LONDON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Britain today admitted undercover leakages of more than 200 World War II tanks to Egypt and Israel. But it said the military balance between those feuding neighbors remains unchanged.

Prime Minister Eden's government, in a white paper report to Parliament, deprecated the traffic. It expressed the view, however, that known leakages by way of Belgium and France in the past year have been relatively small in quantity and have comprised equipment that was "obsolete, ineffective and unreliable for war."

The report gave details of a probe ordered after opposition Laborites and newspapers of all political shades complained British tanks and other old war goods were exported to Europe, refitted and then resold at huge profits to Middle East armies.

It announced that action has been taken to block future illicit or questionable deals in British surplus arms. The sale and export of such goods are to be more tightly controlled. Already, the report said, 10 export licenses have been revoked as a precaution.

In the wake of the white paper came a plea today to the British government from Israel for military supplies of all kinds. Their purposes would be defensive and they would be used only in case of Arab aggression, Ambassador Eliahu Elath told Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

An Israeli embassy statement said Elath, in a talk with Lloyd, emphasized both his government's willingness to negotiate an "honorable peace settlement" with the Arab nations and its determination to fight for its independence if attacked.

Sen. Green Makes Public His Expense Account For Trip

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Sen. Green (D-RI) did something rare, if not unprecedented, in Congress today. He made public his expense account for a Sept. 15—Nov. 5 trip to the Far East, South Asia and the Middle East.

The cost: $483.07 in U.S. dollars plus $1,132.86 in counterpart funds for him and Pat M. Holt, a staff member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. This is exclusive of commercial airline tickets.

The 88-year-old Green itemized such things as $5.30 for passport and visa photographs; $1 passport fee; $16 cab fares; $6.39 for postage, telephone and telegraph, $4.38 for maps, books and papers.

Deliberate Collision Costs Woman $100

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—Miss Sue Dorsey, 54, was fined $100 in Traffic Court today for wilfully and deliberately driving her automobile into the rear of a parked car owned by Parker Carpenter.

Miss Dorsey contended it was a mistake, but Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr called it a "wilful and deliberate" act and said it was the first "intentional accident" in his five year experience on the bench.

Carpenter testified he had parked his car on a downtown street last night and found that the windshield had been smashed and a hub cap removed. While he was investigating, he said, Miss Dorsey drove up behind his car. Suddenly, he said, Miss Dorsey's car backed up a few feet, then came forward with a rush, slamming into the left rear of his car. He said Miss Dorsey then drove off without stopping.

She was arrested about four blocks away and said she did not know the car she hit was Carpenter's.

Carpenter told Magistrate Scheer he and Miss Dorsey had been friends until about two years ago.

'Teacher Aide' Idea Challenged By Educators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The National Education Assn. today challenged the idea that getting enough good teachers is a hopeless task under the present educational setup, and that "teachers' aides" may help solve the problem.

The NEA hit out at "untried and untested procedures." It thus took issue with the Fund for the Advancement of Education. This organization, financed by the Ford Foundation, recently described an experiment in Bay City, Mich., in which assistants relieve elementary teachers of clerical and "housekeeping" duties.

Although emphasizing that the experiment has not been evaluated, the Fund said there is "promising evidence" that it enables a teacher to instruct up to 52 pupils as efficiently as she could handle 30 otherwise.

But a report by the NEA Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards questioned "untested arrangements which would drastically increase the present load of every qualified teacher."

"The American people are being advised that by providing a qualified teacher with mechanical and teaching aids and clerical helpers the number of children to each classroom can be materially increased without loss of efficiency," it said. Then it said that giving "quick and easy answers to difficult problems. . . is the simplest and surest way of defeating the progress of the past in efforts to make of teaching a real profession."

(In New York, Clarence H. Faust, FAE president, said: "Our bulletin, 'Teachers for Tomorrow,' is a factual document which speaks for itself."

Baltimore's Mayor Seeks Special Assembly Session To Approve School Bonds

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro said today he had asked Gov. McKeldin to call a special session of the Maryland General Assembly to approve a 15-million dollar bond issue for Baltimore's city schools.

D'Alesandro said McKeldin responded he is "giving consideration" to the request. He indicated if a special session is called it will be after the regular 30-day session of the Legislature which is scheduled to start Feb. 1.

The governor said yesterday he would not call a special session to consider proposed port authority legislation, leaving it for the regular session to take up. Baltimore school officials had planned to asking the special session to consider a 15-million dollar school bond issue.

The bond issue, which would have continued the school construction program through 1958, cannot be considered at the regular session in February because of its local nature. Only statewide legislation can be taken up at the 30-day even year sessions.

Walter Sondheim Jr., president of the Board of School Commissioners, conferred today with Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and City Solicitor Thomas N. Biddison about a possible solution to the quandry.

But he said a special session appeared to be the only reasonable solution.

Unless there is a special session or other emergency action, the city will run out of construction money after 1957. School loans must be approved by the voters following legislative okay and the only election between now and 1958 is coming up in November.

Sondheim said the only alternative to the special session would be for the 1957 Legislature to approve the bond issue and call a special referendum on it before 1958.

School officials blamed the difficult situation on a decision of the Board of Estimates last January when a requested 42-million dollar bond issue to be considered by the 1955 Legislature was pared down to 29½ million.

Grand Jury Indicts Accused Rapists

ROCKVILLE, Md., Jan. 19 (AP)—A Montgomery County grand jury has indicted George Lightfoot Cole Jr., 23, in the raping of a 3½-year-old Silver Spring, Md., girl, last Nov. 29.

The jury, in a special one-day session, also returned indictments yesterday charging Bennie Lee Slack, Darnestown, Md., with killing his father; and James Allen Bock, 23, a Navy enlisted man, with the rape of a 49-year-old Rockville woman.

Slack was charged with shooting his father, Robert Elmer Slack, on Dec. 13, after terrorizing the family of Sumner Wood, Rockville attorney, on the Wood estate. They jury also indicted Slack on charges of assault with intent to kill Mrs. Wood and her son, Brooks, 14.

Bock, of Bridgeville, Pa., was formerly stationed at the Bethesda Naval Hospital. He is accused of raping and robbing a Rockville housewife last Oct. 17.

New Claims For Jobless Benefits Climb In State

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—New claims for jobless pay increased about 20 per cent in Maryland last week under the impetus of the usual year-end economic "shake out," which appears to shape up as milder but longer lasting than last year's.

The State Department of Employment Security reported 4,301 new claims last week, compared to 3,560 in the week before and 4,692 in the corresponding week of 1955.

In 1955, there was a decline instead of an increase from the first full January week to the second.

The number of new claims generally jumps sharply for two or three weeks after Christmas. This is due to winter vacations over the holiday periods which some industries take, making part of the help eligible for benefits, and to lay offs of production forces for inventory or maintenance in other industries.

Still other industries halt production for changes in styles and patterns.

About five-sevenths of the increase in claims were filed by Baltimore city workers.

Other notably affected areas were Annapolis, where there was a jump in claims from 30 to 111; Cambridge, 221 to 260; Salisbury, 136 to 212, and Crisfield, 18 to 94.

At Cumberland, however, the number of new claims dipped from 166 to 88.

The department paid out last week $384,487 to 16,796 persons. In the previous week, it paid out $324,885 to 14,075 eligibles.

Military Planning State Construction Costing 28 Million

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The military building program submitted to Congress today contained nearly 28 million dollars in construction for Maryland, including 4 million dollars for a Navy air facility at Annapolis.

The Naval Academy also came in for a $7,469,000 budget for earthwork and land acquisition. This was the biggest item on the Maryland list which totaled $27,753,000.

The second biggest project was $7,435,000 for Andrews Air Force ase at Camp Springs on the outskirts of Washington. It was for operational and training facilities, supply facilities, housing and community facilities, utilities and ground improvements and land acquisition.

Ft. George G. Meade was slated for new operational, maintenance, medical and troop housing facilities in the amount of $5,885,000.

The Naval Air Station at Patuxent in Southern Maryland was down for $475,000 in aircraft maintenance and research and development facilities.

Communication and personnel facilities plus utilities for the Cheltenham Naval Radio Station came to $2,489,000.

Transit Union Gives Baltimore Firm Ultimatum

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Transit Workers Union gave the Baltimore Transit Co. an ultimatum today after charging BTC officials have to go to Philadelphia for approval of any contract agreement.

Union President Frank Baummer warned unless the company makes an offer within 24 hours, union leaders will call for a strike vote.

The vote will be taken at membership meetings Friday and Saturday, he said. The meetings were originally set to report progress in negotiations for a contract to replace one which expires Jan. 28.

"But there is nothing to report," Baummer said. "The company hasn't made us an offer."

Baummer said Douglas Pratt, president of the Philadelphia Transit Co. and former president of the BTC, is directing the negotiations here. Both the BTC and PTC are owned by National City Lines, a Chicago holding corporation which controls municipal transportation firms throughout the nation.

Pratt was transferred to the Philadelphia post last March and was succeeded as BTC president by Dale Barrett.

Company officials could not be reached for comment on Baummer's statement.

Two Teen-Agers Formally Charged In Youth's Slaying

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two teen-agers were charged by the Grand Jury today with the fatal stabbing of Gaither Fishbach Jr., 19-year-old Western Maryland College ministry student, early on New Year's morning.

The defendants are Richard Paul Westcott, 16, and Charles William Orem, 17. According to statements, Fishbach was knifed during a scuffle with Westcott.

It happened 200 feet from the student's home to which he was returning from a New Year's Eve party.

Orem stated he was about 70 feet away from the scuffle and he wasn't aware of the stabbing until Westcott ran up to him and said, "Let's get out of here, I cut him."

Westcott stated he recognized Fishbach as one of a group of boys who allegedly insulted him last summer. He said he went up to him and asked "Do you want to finish that argument?"

In the ensuing scuffle, he said, Fishbach was stabbed with his own knife.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The military building program submitted to Congress today contained nearly 28 million dollars in construction for Maryland, including 4 million dollars for a Navy air facility at Annapolis.

The Naval Academy also came in for a $7,469,000 budget for earthwork and land acquisition. This was the biggest item on the Maryland list which totaled $27,753,000.

The Naval Air Station at Patuxent in Southern Maryland was down for $475,000 in aircraft maintenance and research and development facilities.

Communication and personnel facilities plus utilities for the Cheltenham Naval Radio Station came to $2,489,000.

Rover Nominated For D. C. Judge Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Leo A. Rover, now U. S. Attorney for the District of Columbia, to be chief judge of the Municipal Court of Appeals for the District.

Rover, 65, is a Republican who served another term as U. S. Attorney for the District of Columbia in 1928-1933. Eisenhower appointed him to that office again in 1953.

He would succeed Judge Nathan Cayton as chief judge of the district Municipal Court of Appeals.

Transit Union Gives Baltimore Firm Ultimatum

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Transit Workers Union gave the Baltimore Transit Co. an ultimatum today after charging BTC officials have to go to Philadelphia for approval of any contract agreement.

Union President Frank Baummer warned unless the company makes an offer within 24 hours, union leaders will call for a strike vote.

The vote will be taken at membership meetings Friday and Saturday, he said. The meetings were originally set to report progress in negotiations for a contract to replace one which expires Jan. 28.

"But there is nothing to report," Baummer said. "The company hasn't made us an offer."

Baummer said Douglas Pratt, president of the Philadelphia Transit Co. and former president of the BTC, is directing the negotiations here. Both the BTC and PTC are owned by National City Lines, a Chicago holding corporation which controls municipal transportation firms throughout the nation.

Pratt was transferred to the Philadelphia post last March and was succeeded as BTC president by Dale Barrett.

Company officials could not be reached for comment on Baummer's statement.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Air Procurement District Office today announced Air Force awards of more than six million dollars were placed with the following firms:

Fairchild Aircraft Division, Fairchild Engineering and Airplane Corp., Hagerstown, Md., $756,310 for miscellaneous aircraft test programs.

Two Teen-Agers Formally Charged In Youth's Slaying

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two teen-agers were charged by the Grand Jury today with the fatal stabbing of Gaither Fishbach Jr., 19-year-old Western Maryland College ministry student, early on New Year's morning.

The defendants are Richard Paul Westcott, 16, and Charles William Orem, 17. According to statements, Fishbach was knifed during a scuffle with Westcott.

It happened 200 feet from the student's home to which he was returning from a New Year's Eve party.

Orem stated he was about 70 feet away from the scuffle and he wasn't aware of the stabbing until Westcott ran up to him and said, "Let's get out of here, I cut him."

Westcott stated he recognized Fishbach as one of a group of boys who allegedly insulted him last summer. He said he went up to him and asked "Do you want to finish that argument?"

In the ensuing scuffle, he said, Fishbach was stabbed with his own knife.

Fiscal Amateur Studies National Debt, Decides It's In No Danger Of Vanishing

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP) — So here you sit, leafing through the big book President Eisenhower put out to explain how this nation will spend its money next year.

And in it you see a little chart in which Eisenhower says the public debt at the end of this fiscal year will be about 274 billion dollars. But he hopes that we are going to take in more than we pay out and thereby reduce the debt by 500 million dollars or so by the end of next year.

So you get a pencil and start figuring. If we can keep right on paying off at this rate—and Democrats already have said they think Eisenhower is too optimistic—in a measly 548 years we will be completely out of the Red.

Good old debt-free A.D.!

Then you turn to another page, where Eisenhower is explaining how hard it is to save money in the government.

He says 40 billions will go for defense, and another 16½ billions for "major programs which are not readily controllable."

Among these practically uncontrollable items is one for seven billions for interest on the national debt. Seven billions, just for interest.

That's about 18 times as much as it cost to run the whole federal government back in 1890. Except for the war years, the federal government didn't get around to spending seven billions a year until 1934.

You fall to thinking, what if the debt were paid off and we had all this interest money to play around with? Obviously many of the things now troubling Congress —such as aid to schools and to highways—could be paid for in a breeze.

So you call up a fellow who hangs around the Treasury and him about the debt, and he begins to talk soberly about how the economy is geared to it.

"Do you know," he asks, "how many old ladies depend on the debt?"

"No," you say.

"I don't either, he says, "but it must be plenty, for 40 billions of that debt is in savings. Where would they put their money?"

Without waiting for an answer, he goes on to say that businesses, trusts, pension funds, foreign countries even, put their money in government bonds. And how special issues are used for social security surpluses. And how valuable a short term bill is for a business man.

"Suppose," he says, "that your tax bill comes to $200,000. You have the money but the tax isn't due for several months. Well, you can put your money here, and pick up a few pennies. Where else can you do that?"

WHAT BIG EARS YOU HAVE—Using anhydrous ammonia at the rate of 60 pounds of nitrogen to the acre and a starter fertilizer, Douglas Weekly, a Boonville, Mo., high school freshman, chalked up a yield of 170.4 bushels of corn per acre last summer without the use of irrigation. His field, in a river bottom near Lamine, was entered in the statewide Missouri Farmers Ass'n corn yield contest.

Jack Benny Will Play His Violin With Symphony

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19 (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny said today he will play his violin with the New York Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Alfred Wallenstein, at Carnegie Hall, famed New York home of long-hair music.

The date is next Oct. 2 and the occasion as Benny describes it is a "benefit to save Carnegie Hall."

"I shall try to sound like I'm good enough to play with the symphony even though everyone in the audience knows I'm not," said Benny.

Benny, despite the way he murders "Love in Bloom" in public, practices his violin every day.

"After all," he added, "you have to practice even to play lousy."

A private real estate firm owns the 65-year-old auditorium and has been negotiating to sell it to a firm that wants to put up a commercial building on the site.

A group of well-known artists formed a "Committee to Save Carnegie Hall," with singer Lawrence Tibbett as chairman. They hope to raise enough money to buy it and maintain its traditions.

The price for the hall and land is set at $4,200,000, but Tibbett has said he thinks the committee could get possession if it could raise a million dollars.

Cops Find Champion

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (AP)—Six of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, fired for marrying without permission, have found a champion. Sen. David Croll of Ontario says they were just "doing what comes naturally." Croll told the Senate the regulation that constables must remain single for five years after recruitment is "outmoded and outdated."

Slave Trade Warning

UNITED NATIONS, Jan. 19 (AP)—India has warned the United Nations that today's slave traders are up to date. Asserting that a clause in a projected new international treaty punishing the trade on the high seas is not enough, Indian Delegate Balanchardra predicted before a U. N. committee that slave traders and pirates will use planes and helicopters.

The original home of the honeybee was southern Asia, probably including the eastern shores of the Mediterranean sea.

STORK MAKES DELIVERY AT SEA—Luigi Giacometti, 29, and his wife, Filippina, 25, are shown with their daughter, Maria, aboard the Italian liner Andrea Doria, on their arrival in New York. Maria was born on the ship, en route to the U. S. from Italy. They will live in Providence, R. I. The father is slated to become a sociology student at Boston College.

Now They Should Know That 'Voda,' 'Vodka' Not Same

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—If editors and proofreaders of the Benton Harbor newspaper didn't know it before, they know now the difference between "vodka" and voda."

Voda is the Russian word for water. Vodka is the alcoholic beverage.

The Russian Orthodox Church of Our Savior had a news item about a traditional rite of the "blessing of the water"—in Russia, "voda kreschchenia."

But it came out in the News Palladium as "vodka." Many parishioners telephoned to correct the error.

So the paper's church editor ran a new item to correct the error—and again "voda" came out "vodka."

The telephone calls this time flooded the switchboard: "Please explain that we bless water, not whisky."

Today the paper corrected it the right way and carried the note: "Two proofreaders and three editors proofread this story."

Mitchell Promotion Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) has introduced a bill to promote the late Brig. Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell posthumously to the rank of major general.

Wiley told the Senate in a speech he thought such a gesture toward the pioneer for air power would help to "point up the absolute need for American supremacy, particularly in the skies," in these troubled times.

State Dept. Fires Dozer 2nd Time

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP) — Donald M. Dozer was fired by the State Department today for the second time.

Dozer, 50-year-old historian, was first dismissed last Oct. 4. The department said then his work was not up to standard and he was a "disruptive" influence.

The Civil Service Commission reversed the department shortly thereafter and ordered Dozer reinstanted. The commission said it found the charges were not specific enough. It did not rule on the merits.

Dozer was reinstated Dec. 21 and given back pay to Oct. 4. His salary was about $10,000 a year.

On the same day a new statement of charges, more specific and in greater detail, was filed against him. Dozer responded to them on Jan. 4 and his response was taken under advisement.

The State Department told him by letter yesterday that he was fired again.

Dozer has 10 days in which to appeal again to the Civil Service Commission. One of his attorneys, Kenneth W. Parkinson, said this would be done. If the commission fails to reinstate Dozer, Karkinson said, "We may resort to the courts to prove his firing was arbitrary and capricious."

Dozer has blamed his firing on Democratic holdovers in the State Department. He said he was "penalized merely because I have strong opinions and the courage to express them through regular channels."

Britain Willing To Give Malaya Self-Rule By '57

LONDON, Jan. 19 (AP) — Britain was reported today willing to give complete self-rule to the Federation of Malaya by the autumn of 1957.

A high government source said, however, Britain will insist that the new arrangements must safeguard her vital strategic interests in the tin and rubber-rich Southeast Asian territory—presumably in the form of a defense agreement which will include rights to military bases. Malaya is in the grip of an insurrection by Communist rebels.

Word of the British position was given just before a Malayan delegation met with Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd and his advisers to discuss the future constitutional development of the federation. At the moment it is much like a London-controlled British colony.

Led by the federation's chief minister, Prince Abdul Rahman, the Malayans went into the conference room to ask for a two-stage approach to complete independence within the British Commonwealth by Aug. 31, 1957.

In the first stage the Malayans want to take over powers presently exercised by the British for interanl defense and security, finance and the public service.

Britain is reported ready to go along with these demands on the condition that the status of the British Commonwealth expeditionary force is not changed, that Malaya stay within the British-led sterling area and the position of British civil servants be protected.

In the second stage the Malayans want complete independence, as distinct from home-rule, within 19 months.

Rahman apparently is not asking for full dominion status of the kind Canada, for instance, enjoys.

Apparently he wants the federal status of Malaya to continue, with a central government having full control over the component territories' foreign, defense and home policies.

Eventually the new state — if Rahman gets his way—would include Singapore, Sarawak, British North Borneo and Burnei as well as the present nine Malayan sultanates.

Hoover Accuses Negro Leader Of False Charges Against FBI

MEMPHIS, Jan. 19 (AP) — FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover today accused a Negro leader of "false and irresponsible" charges against the FBI's handling of several Mississippi racial killings.

In a letter to Dr. T. R. M. Howard of Moung Bayou, Miss., president of the Mississippi Regional Council of Negro Leadership, Hover said:

"I do not propose to permit false charges made against this bureau to go unchallenged."

Reached in Los Angeles, Dr. Howard told the Memphis Commercial Appeal he would have a full statement later on Hoover's demand that he submit evidence on his charges or publicly retract them.

The FBI chief particularly resented Dr. Howard's publicized statement, in regards to three recent slayings, that:

"We must find out why Southern investigators of the FBI can't seem to solve a crime where a Negro is involved."

Hoover said a full and impartial investigation was made in every case, at the direction of the Department of Justice, and the department decided civil rights were not involved.

"You seem to have conveniently forgotten the work of this bureau which was largely responsible for the virtual elimination of lynchings in the South and also was mainly responsible for the breaking up of the Ku Klux Klan in the Carolinas and Georgia," Hoover said.

Howard is president of the National Medical Assn. He heads Friendship Clinic in Mound Bayou, the nation's only all-Negro town, located in the Mississippi Delta, about 70 miles south of Memphis.

The Negro civil rights leader, after Hoover's letter was read to him by the Commercial Appeal, said:

"It is my charge that the FBI has failed to find the killers in the recent Mississippi murders. If that charge is false, then it is my belief that the murders of Rev. Lee and the individuals who seriously wounded Gus Courts on Nov. 25 should be brought to justice."

Hoover's letter was released by the FBI regional headquarters in Memphis.

The "intemperate and baseless charges" it cited were in connection with the "slayings of Emmett Till, the Rev. George Wesley Lee and Lamar Smith."

The letter noted that Howard, as quoted by the Chicago American, once said, "Confidential information usually leaks from the local FBI offices and witnesses in Negro slayings are subjected to pressures as a result."

This is a very serious charge, Hoover said, as "information contained in the files of this bureau is confidential in nature."

Hoover asked that Howard "submit such evidence as you have to sustain your irresponsible charge or that you issue a public retraction."

Howard said he based his "statements on reports brought to me by responsible Negroes in the various sections of Mississippi."

Hoover said Howard apparently had no knowledge of how the FBI works and pointed out "full investigations in civil rights cases are conducted only the direction of the Department of Justice.

"The FBI is not a policy-making organization, and we merely conduct a fair and impartial investigation and submit the results of such investigation to the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice.

"This bureau is doing everything within the scope of existing legislation in civil rights matters and our fair and prompt investigations have done much to increase public respect for and consciousness of civil rights."

'Flying Saucers' Linked To 'Abnormal Radiations'

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP) — A new book on flying saucers said today some atomic scientists have detected "abnormal radiations" at the times and in the areas of sighting of unidentified objects in the sky. But it says there is no proof the phenomena are connected.

The author, former Air Force Capt. Edward J. Ruppelt, was for two years chief of the Air Force project for investigation of flying saucer reports.

He said that the data which he gathered on the radiation reports was rejected by the Air Force as containing "not enough conclusive evidence."

Ruppelt, now a research engineer for Northrop Aircraft, Los Angeles, said he coined the term UFO for "flying saucers"—Unidentified Flying Objects.

"No one could explain the sudden bursts of radiation, but there was no proof that they were associated with UFO's," Ruppelt said in "The Report on Unidentified Flying Objects," published by Doubleday & Co.

Ruppelt also said in the book that:

1. A panel of scientists in January 1953, rejected an unofficial Air Force analysis prepared by a staff headed by Maj. Dewey Fournet, that UFOs were interplanetary space ships. Ruppelt said the space ship conclusion was supported by some air officers "at command levels just a notch below" Maj. Gen. John A. Samford, at that time Air Force director of intelligence.

2. There have been no reports measuring the speed or altitude of a UFO, no reliable photographs showing any details of a UFO, no "hardware," and no real proof that there are flying saucers.

3. While the Air Force has said officially there is no proof that space ships exist, "This conclusion is far from being unanimous among the military and their scientific advisers."

4. Id unidentified flying objects described in detail to the January, 1953, scientific panel were "real," they would have to be space craft "because no one at that meeting gave a second thought to the possibility that the UFOs might be a supersecret U.S. aircraft of a Soviet development."

An Air Force spokesman said the book was read and cleared by the Pentagon as being free of security information. He added that there was no other stamp of Air Force approval or disapproval on it.

Britain Willing To Give Malaya Self-Rule By '57

LONDON, Jan. 19 (AP) — Britain was reported today willing to give complete self-rule to the Federation of Malaya by the autumn of 1957.

A high government source said, however, Britain will insist that the new arrangements must safeguard her vital strategic interests in the tin and rubber-rich Southeast Asian territory—presumably in the form of a defense agreement which will include rights to military bases. Malaya is in the grip of an insurrection by Communist rebels.

Word of the British position was given just before a Malayan delegation met with Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd and his advisers to discuss the future constitutional development of the federation. At the moment it is much like a London-controlled British colony.

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Problems confronting the small businessman are many and varied. Not all of them can be solved by legislation and I am sure that the small business people of the Sixth Maryland District will agree. But there are areas in which the federal government can operate in such a way as to assist in the building of a strong and healthy small business community.

I am particularly impressed with a statement in the annual report of the Senate Small Business Committee which requested all federal government agencies to "develop an especial awareness of the point of view" that a boost for small business is a boost for the free enterprise system. In the enforcement of all our laws which bear on small business the primary concern ought to be equalizing the opportunities of small business in its relation to its larger cousins.

There is one group of laws which we have not gotten around to reworking in the spirit of equalizing the pressure of the tax burden on small business. I have often pointed out that in terms of unit costs the small firm pays a higher percentage of tax than does the larger even though the tax rate is actually the same. It seems to me that the principle of a graduated tax on income ought to be applied to business as well as to the individual.

As a step in this direction I have introduced a bill designed to gradually (in order to prevent too great an immediate loss in tax revenue to the government) increase the basic surtax exemption in our corporation tax law. Present law provides for an exemption of $25,000. I propose to increase this exemption by $5,000 a year over the next five years. The basic surtax exemption would then be $50,000.

The savings resulting from such an exemption would do much to provide a new incentive to small businessmen. It would also provide additional funds with which to meet the requirements of modern competition. Perhaps, its greatest value would be in helping those who wish to establish new enterprises, particularly the young men who are considering the great adventure of setting themselves up in business.

I am more than ever impressed with the necessity of strong, small family-owned and operated farms and business activities in our economy. A vigorous and healthy community of small farmers and businessmen will do much to help stem the drift toward statism and perhaps even help reverse its direction.

On My Calendar: The Sandy Spring Lions Club has kindly asked me to join them at their luncheon and to speak to the members on January 23. I am also pleased at the opportunity the Southern States Cooperative has given me to attend the quarterly dinner of their board of directors in Hagerstown on January 25. The Bethesda Junior Chamber of Commerce has asked me to be their guest at the annual dinner to be held January 26. I plan to speak on "Crisis and Free Enterprise."

POSTER BOY IN SENATE — U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall of Maryland receives a March of Dimes button from Tommy Woodward, 5, of Baltimore, whom he introduced to his colleagues in Congress the other day. Tommy is the "poster boy" for the 1956 March of Dimes. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Veryl Woodward, stood beside him with tears in their eyes as the Senate applauded Beall's statement that Tommy would travel all over the U. S. to aid the March of Dimes.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Standing on a front row seat in the Senate galleries, a five-year-old polio victim from Baltimore became our state's first distinguished guest to be introduced to the new session of Congress.

The little boy waved cheerfully to the senators on the floor of the chamber, and they responded immediately with a sincere, bipartisan burst of applause.

As veteran campaigners themselves, my colleagues obviously had a first-hand understanding of the task confronting Tommy Woodward as he began his coast-to-coast tour as National Poster Boy for the 1956 March of Dimes.

Crutches Laid Aside

Tommy, whose legs are in braces, laid aside his crutches and stood on the gallery seat with the help of his young parents while I presented him.

The honor of introducing the little Poster Boy was granted to me, I suppose because Tommy is one of my constituents and because I am a director of the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults and of the Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

I would like to add that the campaign to which Tommy is contributing his playtime deserves just as generous support in a financial way from all of us.

Speaking of campaigns, I am reminded of two other items that are of particular interest to Maryland.

The first is the drive known as Operation Home Improvement, which I discussed with you two weeks ago.

The project, aimed at encouraging homeowners to have repair work done before additional houses start slipping toward the slum category, now has the "top-level" endorsement I predicted — the blessing of the President himself.

Maryland Interest

Mr. Eisenhower has also asked the Congress to liberalize the provisions of the Federal Housing Administration's program for helping such work.

The past interest of Marylanders in the plan can be shown from the fact that during the 1950-54 period they used more than $91,000,000 worth of FHA insured loans for permanent home improvements.

Now, having been encouraged to make 1956 "the year to fix," it is probable that our householders will "fight blight" on a wider scale than ever before.

Port Week

The other undertaking which merits statewide backing is the observance of Port of Maryland Week, from January 22 through 28.

According to figures from Baltimore, port activities there have an effect on 60 cents worth of every dollar in Maryland.

I have been a consistent supporter of legislation which would help our seaborne trade, and I urge all residents of the Free State to cooperate fully in the forthcoming port-promotion week.

Stamp Auction Nets Record $296,189.50

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP) — The second of 16 auctions of the huge Caspary stamp collection has brought a total of $296,189.50, a new record for one stamp auction, it was announced today.

The collection, all U. S. postage stamps, is that of the late Alfred H. Caspary, a New York stock broker who died about a year ago, leaving the collection to be sold for charity.

Bernard Harmer, of H. R. Harmer, Inc., which is conducting the sales, estimated that on the basis of proceeds from the first two sales, the collection will bring in around three million dollars.

Top price in the three-day sale ending yesterday was $10,500 for a single copy of a 90-cent stamp on a letter to Spain, sold to an anonymous collector listed as "Glen."

Veterans' Benefits Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill crediting, for the purposes of increased veterans benefits, Spanish-American and World War I veterans with time spent at any of the government's military academies.

Drug Kills Polio Virus On Contact

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 19 (AP)—A new drug that kills polio virus on contact was reported today by the University of Miami.

The germ-killing drug, known as chlorpactin, is readily available and soon may be used as an antiseptic destroying harmful virus in hospitals, laboratories and homes.

"This is news of importance to every mother and child," said a spokesman for the University, where the germ-killing powers of the drug were tested by Dr. Murray Sanders, professor of microbiology, and Dr. Manuel G. Soret.

In an article prepared for the official journal, Antibiotics and Chemotherapy, Sanders said chlorpactin was tested at the University of Miama microbiology laboratory against the virus of polio and encephalitis.

"It completely and quickly inactivates or kills polio virus on contact," he wrote.

A spokesman said chlorpactin is not a cure for polio. It is not taken into the body. Its primary use is an antiseptic wash for persons in contact with the virus of various diseases.

Devil Island Escapee Becomes U.S. Citizen

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (AP)—An escapee from the French penal colony at Devil's Island, who once was a man without a country, became a United States citizen today.

Rene Lucien Belbenoit, who spent a year in an Amrican prison for illegally entering this country in 1941, was among 150 former aliens admitted to citizenship by Federal Judge Person M. Hall.

Belbenoit, without a country from 1935 to 1941, wrote a book, "Dry Guillotine," about his escape from the French prison 22 years ago. It was a best seller.

Another alien taking the oath of citizenship today was Phil Moody, British songwriter who came to this country in 1948.

Maryland Interest

Mr. Eisenhower has also asked the Congress to liberalize the provisions of the Federal Housing Administration's program for helping such work.

The past interest of Marylanders in the plan can be shown from the fact that during the 1950-54 period they used more than $91,000,000 worth of FHA insured loans for permanent home improvements.

Now, having been encouraged to make 1956 "the year to fix," it is probable that our householders will "fight blight" on a wider scale than ever before.

Port Week

The other undertaking which merits statewide backing is the observance of Port of Maryland Week, from January 22 through 28.

According to figures from Baltimore, port activities there have an effect on 60 cents worth of every dollar in Maryland.

I have been a consistent supporter of legislation which would help our seaborne trade, and I urge all residents of the Free State to cooperate fully in the forthcoming port-promotion week.

Stamp Auction Nets Record $296,189.50

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP) — The second of 16 auctions of the huge Caspary stamp collection has brought a total of $296,189.50, a new record for one stamp auction, it was announced today.

The collection, all U. S. postage stamps, is that of the late Alfred H. Caspary, a New York stock broker who died about a year ago, leaving the collection to be sold for charity.

Bernard Harmer, of H. R. Harmer, Inc., which is conducting the sales, estimated that on the basis of proceeds from the first two sales, the collection will bring in around three million dollars.

Top price in the three-day sale ending yesterday was $10,500 for a single copy of a 90-cent stamp on a letter to Spain, sold to an anonymous collector listed as "Glen."

Drug Kills Polio Virus On Contact

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 19 (AP)—A new drug that kills polio virus on contact was reported today by the University of Miami.

The germ-killing drug, known as chlorpactin, is readily available and soon may be used as an antiseptic destroying harmful virus in hospitals, laboratories and homes.

"This is news of importance to every mother and child," said a spokesman for the University, where the germ-killing powers of the drug were tested by Dr. Murray Sanders, professor of microbiology, and Dr. Manuel G. Soret.

In an article prepared for the official journal, Antibiotics and Chemotherapy, Sanders said chlorpactin was tested at the University of Miama microbiology laboratory against the virus of polio and encephalitis.

"It completely and quickly inactivates or kills polio virus on contact," he wrote.

A spokesman said chlorpactin is not a cure for polio. It is not taken into the body. Its primary use is an antiseptic wash for persons in contact with the virus of various diseases.

Devil Island Escapee Becomes U.S. Citizen

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (AP)—An escapee from the French penal colony at Devil's Island, who once was a man without a country, became a United States citizen today.

Rene Lucien Belbenoit, who spent a year in an Amrican prison for illegally entering this country in 1941, was among 150 former aliens admitted to citizenship by Federal Judge Person M. Hall.

Belbenoit, without a country from 1935 to 1941, wrote a book, "Dry Guillotine," about his escape from the French prison 22 years ago. It was a best seller.

Another alien taking the oath of citizenship today was Phil Moody, British songwriter who came to this country in 1948.

Riley Will Be Interlocutor For Minstrelks

Chad Riley, local radio announcer and one of the leading narrators in the Bicentennial pageant, "Redskins and Redcoats," will be the interlocutor for this year's Minstrelks scheduled February 13 and 14 in the Maryland Theatre.

French Sensabaugh, producer-director, said the end men will be Casper Taylor, John M. Robb, Dr. Leo Ley, Francis Koontz, Francis Bareis and George Allen.

The theme of this year's minstrel sponsored by Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, will be "Red, Hot and Blue."

Costumes, scenery and lighting effects will be used to change the entire ensemble from red to white to blue in a "magical" manner, Sensabaugh reported.

Some of the patriotic songs to be used include "The Red We Want Is The Red We've Got," "Yankee Doodle Boy," "Marine Hymn," and "Grand Old Flag."

The Irish will be highlighted when the entire stage set will turn green while Ann Dixon, Sharon Reed and James Hager, dance and sing in a white spotlight dressed in green and white costumes.

The minstrel flavor will be retained by using the numbers "Everybody Wants To Go To Heaven But Nobody Wants To Die," "Plant A Watermelon On My Grave and Let The Juice Soak Through," "I Hate Myself," and others.

A novelty extra elevated stage will be built as well as a special scrim drop ordered from New York, Sensabaugh said. There will be tableaux of high brown angels, a blackface St. Peter and a huge watermelon.

The color guards of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Civitan Club members who participated in the Iwo Jima scene in the Bicentennial pageant will take part in one scene.

The Minstrelks, produced for the seventh year by Sensabaugh, is presented by the Elks for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

WHOLE STATE HAS STAKE IN PORT—Establishment of a State Port Authority will help increase export-import commerce for the benefit of the entire state, the Joint Port Commission declares. Virtually every Maryland family is directly or indirectly affected by the business generated by the port region. An aggressive program will offset competition of other ports and permit Maryland's own port to stay ahead, to grow, and to contribute to the future prosperity of the state. Statistics in inset are based upon Maryland State Department of Labor's Directory of Maryland manufacturers. Port Week is January 22-28.

State Plans No Further Action In Trailer Crash

No further action will be taken against Paul Stewart Myers, of Dover, Pa., driver of the tractor-trailer which struck a car and truck in LaVale on October 19 causing the deaths of five persons.

The January grand jury considered the case during its session two weeks ago but did not return an indictment. The state's attorney's office and State Police officials here said no other charges are contemplated against Myers.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher also announced that no action will be taken against the owner of the tractor-trailer because he was not in the truck and the damage to the air hose, which resulted in the accident, occurred slightly more than two years ago. There is a limitation of one year in such situations, Fletcher said.

Lake Fishing To Be Aired

The State Game and Inland Fish Commission will hold three meetings in Allegany and Garrett counties next week.

On Thursday, January 26, at 8 p.m. the first session is set for Grantsville at the Fire Hall. The next night at the same time the commission will meet in Oakland at the Fire Hall and on Saturday, January 28, it will meet at the Cumberland Outdoor Club on Frederick Street at 2 p.m.

Sigurd Brantingson, regional fish culturist, said the principal topic of the meetings will be fish management for 1956 and the results of the rotenone project at Deep Creek Lake last September.

The commission wishes to acquaint sportsmen of this area with the results of the Deep Creek Lake test project and to inform them of what is to be done concerning the fishing in the lake. Yellow perch have "polluted" the big Garrett County impoundment, officials report.

The Hoop Pole Run section of the lake was used in the testing and rotenone was used to suffocate the fish in that backwater area. The fish which were killed were then measured, weighed and a detailed analysis made of their stomach contents and diseases which they might be suffering from.

Since the test the Department of Research and Education at Solomon Island has made an exhaustive study of the results of the test. Experts of several other states have been contacted and they have cooperated in an analysis of the findings made in the test at the lake.

Besides members of the commission, which includes George Walters of Eckhart, the meetings will be attended by Edwin M. Barry, chief of fish management for the commission, and Harold Elser, fisheries biologist of the research unit at Solomons. Elser was in charge of the Deep Creek Lake test last fall.

Underwriters To Hear Talk On Legislation

Legislators from Allegany and Garrett counties have been invited to attend the luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters today at Central Y.M.C.A.

The delegates to the General Assembly and the state senators of the two counties will hear a discussion of legislation pertaining to insurance companies, according to Bernard Renz, association president.

Speaker will be Edward Russo, Baltimore, chairman of the law and legislation committee of the Maryland Life Underwriters Association. He will be introduced by Henry Duke, city, president of the state group.

Russo is a member of the Million Dollar Roundtable, comprised of insurance agents who have sold more than $1,000,000 worth of insurance in one year. He achieved this figure in 1946 at the age of 27, the youngest agent that year to do so. He is associated with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

"Gambling" Raid Turns Up Cheater

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19 (AP)—Police didn't make any arrests in a "gambling" raid yesterday but created some curiosity as to who might have been cheating.

A squad of 10 officers rushed into Squirrel Hill restaurant where 80 men were playing cards. There was no money in sight so there were no arrests. But officers ordered the men to stand up and, when they did, an electrical gadget fell to the floor from a man's trousers.

The gadget, said Asst. Police Supt. Lawrence Maloney, had been fastened to a garter. Maloney said its owner used it to signal to a partner, adding:

"There was no question about what it was when this bunch of sharpies got a look at it. . . . They were trying to figure which one of the winners had it strapped on."

Incidentally, police had all the card players hoist their trouser legs. No other gadgets were found.

Pneumonia And Fractures Fill Up Local Hospitals

John A. Moberly, superintendend of Memorial Hospital, yesterday said the institution is so crowded that it will not admit patients for diagnostic purposes or elective surgery.

The situation, he added, is so desperate that none but emergency cases will be admitted.

Moberly said all beds in the hospital are filled, and that some patients have had to be placed in corridors due to the lack of room. The situation, he explained, has been caused by a large number of pneumonia cases and also a great number of persons who have been admitted for treatment of fractures. Memorial's pediatrics department is also filled to capacity, Moberly stated.

A general staff meeting has been called for today, Moberly said, at which time the situation will be discussed.

Sister Angela, administrator of Sacred Heart Hospital, reported that institution at capacity yesterday afternoon, but said the hospital will be able to accept patients.

Moberly said he was sorry Memorial had to take the stand of not accepting any but emergency cases, and that he hoped the public will understand it developed from a critical condition.

Spokesmen said the closing of Memorial to all but emergency cases is believed to be the first time any local hospitals have had to issue such a statement since the flu epidemic which followed World War I.

Mothers March Leaders Confer

This group of Allegany County women, part of several hundred who will participate in the annual Mothers March January 31 for funds to continue the war against polio, are shown meeting as they went over plans for the drive. Left to right around the table are Mrs. Harley Dicken, Bowman's Addition; Mrs. Albert C. Cook, Frostburg; Mrs. Lester B. McGill, general chairman, Vocke Drive; Mrs. Arlie Borror, Cresaptown; Mrs. Robert Little Ebert, chairman of Mt. Royal area; and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, general chairman. Eighty women attended the organization session held in the Union Street County Building.

TWUA To Seek Wage Increases

Members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), voted at meetings Wednesday night and yesterday to reopen the collective bargaining agreement between the union and Celanese Corporation of America for wages and certain other adjustments.

Melvin Harris, union president, said the union is going after a substantial wage increase and various contract changes, including adjustments in wage differentials.

Both Harris and Charles F. Davis, secretary-treasurer, have been attending various group meetings between other Celanese rayon producing plants and other synthetic yarn plants in the industry, namely, American Viscose and Industrial Rayon, relative to the proposed wage pattern.

Both Harris and Davis stated that they felt a substantial wage increase is due because of the increase in the cost of living and also to keep up with the wage pattern already set in other industries.

The opening sessions will begin within 10 days of February 8. Harris will lead the local negotiating committee in the first meetings with Wesley Cook, director of the Upper South Region of the Textile Workers Union of America, coming in to assist as needed.

The local negotiating committee, headed by Harris, will include: Davis; Irvin Lewis, vice president; Russell Bennett, bobbin stores; Floyd Grady, service; Harry Carns, engineering; James Summers, twisting; William Spriggs, coning; Louise McCoy, customer beaming; Vito Dormio, spinning; Charles Scott, acetone recovery; Earl Snyder, C. A.; Harry Bosley, fortisan; Louise Pownall, twisting exam; Thomas Powers, preparation and George Garey, cafeteria.

Parkway Statement Is Released

The text of the message from the director of the National Park Service to Secretary of Interior McKay recommending abandonment of the C&O Canal Parkway plans was made public yesterday by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

The director, Conrad L. Wirth, made available the copy of his recommendation to Sen. Beall over the weekend.

Its text is as follows:

"As you know, early this year I appointed a committee to restudy the long standing proposal that the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal right-of-way and contiguous lands between the towpath and the river be used for the construction of a parkway and related public recreation areas between Great Falls and Cumberland as recommended in the joint reconnaissance survey report made by the Bureau and Public Roads and this Service and published as House Document 687, August 16, 1950. After careful consideration of the committee's report, I have reached the following conclusions:

"1. The canal structure as a whole should be preserved as a federal project for its histories and recreation significances. A road should not be built on it. Such stabilization and restoration of canal structures as are essential to hold the canal from further deterioration should be undertaken immediately, and all structures along the canal should be characteristic of its early period.

"Lateral access roads to it should be developed in cooperation with the Bureau of Public Roads, the State of Maryland, and the counties wherever they are needed. There might be short stretches of road, perhaps up to a few miles in length, paralleling the canal where that is desirable for public access to recreation areas and to the use of the recreation potentialities of the canal and riverside lands.

"3. As a part of Mission 66, the Service will propose measures to provide the needed protection and development including (a) stabilization and preservation of the essential canal structures, (b) the development of public use areas as needed, and (c) acquisition of lands along the canal and between the canal and the river to protect the recreation potentialities and provide for public use.

"Since this is a federal project related to the national capital and of interest to the nation as a whole, the necessary lands should be acquired by the federal government. Experience has shown that there is little likelihood that the state will acquire the lands and convey them to the federal government. However, once the essential lands are acquired it is probable that some of them can be leased to the state and its political subdivisions for management as game and local recreation areas.

"4. The canal and bordering lands up to Seneca Creek should be managed as a part of the National Capital Park System. The canal and adjoining lands from Seneca Creek to Cumberland should be joined with the Harpers Ferry National Monument and administered as a separate unit of the National Park System under the regional director in Philadelphia.

"I realize that this is a big project, with many problems. However, they will not all have to be faced at once and can be dealt with as they arise.

"The action proposed herein is consistent with the resolution of the Advisory Board on National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings and Monuments, adopted at its last meeting as follows:

" 'The Advisory Board on National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings and Monuments, recognizing the unique and scenic values of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, recommends to the Secretary of the Interior that the canal route itself be given the fullest possible protection and that its immediate adjacent area be preserved so far as possible in its historic and natural state'."

"If you have no objection I will inform Senator Beall of my decision and will take appropriate steps to carry out the recommended measures through established channels and procedures."

Senator Beall said Wednesday in Washington that he will issue a statement on the situation within the next few days after undertaking some research into this recommendation by Wirth.

Cotton Market Sought

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 19 (AP)—Mexican cotton producers have asked President Ruiz Cortines to ease their tax burdens and find new markets for their financially hard-hit industry. They claim the present 25 per cent tax on cotton is costing them about $54,400,000 a year. They urged investigation of reported offers by Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia and Poland to buy Mexican cotton under certain conditions.

Solons Make No Suggestions On Port Bill

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Legislative Council adjourned today after voting to send the Statewide Port Authority bill to the Maryland General Assembly without recommendation.

The council, between-sessions screening branch of the assembly, took the action on a voice vote without dissent.

Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County) suggested the move after a parade of witnesses at a special council hearing voiced approval of the port authority idea "in principle," but expressed either flat opposition or strong reservations about its financing features.

The proposal, hammered out after months of investigation and hearings by the council and a joint State-Baltimore City Port Commission, will thus be introduced in both the Senate and House of Delegates when the Legislature convenes Feb. 1 for 30 days.

There was little discussion at today's meeting of Gov. McKeldin's decision not to call a special legislative session to consider the bill. He announced that decision yesterday after he and legislative leaders had tentatively agreed to begin such a session one week before the regular session.

In effect, the council's action leaves Baltimore's port industry just where it was a year ago—with plenty of sympathy behind it and a tough legislative row to hoe ahead of it.

As envisioned by drafters of the bill to be introduced Feb. 1, the port authority would be composed of five members with sweeping powers to promote water-borne commerce in Maryland.

Appointed by the governor, they could acquire—through condemnation if necessary—existing port facilities or build new ones.

The authority's operations would be financed by 15 million dollars in bonds backed by the State and by a special gasoline tax of three-tenths of a cent per gallon.

Here are some of the objections which were raised against the present proposal at the council's hearing:

Del. Ira Bird Kirkland (D-Anne Arundel)—The draft does not, as Anne Arundel County was assured it would, provide for unchanged tax powers of a county over property which might be acquired by the authority. The county still could tax such property, but it could not revise the assessment of the property after its acquisition. "We want that power in the bill . . ."

Thomas E. Widerman, spokesman for the Maryland Motor Truck Assn.—"We are against the diversion of gasoline tax revenues to anything other than highway construction and maintenance."

Joseph P. Lanigan, spokesman for the Maryland Petroleum Industries Committee—"This will dilute funds for the 12-year roads program . . . Congress will not break their backs to send federal highway money into Maryland if this State persists in using its gasoline-taxing powers for something besides highways."

William Wilson, Baltimore Assn. of Commerce spokesman, said his group favored the port authority "in principle, but the fly in the ointment is the method of taxation."

Ansel To Seek Nomination

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—State Treasurer William H. Ansel Jr. of Springfield, Hampshire County, announced he will file tomorrow for Democratic nomination as attorney general.

Ansel, 41, was appointed treasurer by Gov. Okey L. Patteson in December 1949. He was elected to the unexpired term in 1950 and to his present four - year term in 1952.

Previously he served three terms in the House, as a delegate from Hampshire County from 1943 -1947.

"With my experience as treasurer, and in the Board of Public Works and the Legislature," Ansel said today, "I believe I am qualified to properly discharge the attorney general's duties if I am elected."

Atty. Gen. John Fox announced earlier that he will not run for reelection.

Kenney Attends CD Conference

Francis A. Kenney, deputy director of Civil Defense in Allegany County for emergency welfare services ,attended a state-wide Emergency Welfare Services' Conference at the Federal Civil Defense Agency Staff College at Olney Wednesday.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, state welfare director who also is CD director of emergency welfare services in Maryland, presided at the all-day conference attended by about 65 persons from all sections of the state.

Sherley Ewing, state CD director, explained that the ultimate objective of the program is to inform everyone in the state so he will know what to do to provide himself and his family with maximum safety in an emergency.

Finally, representatives from various regions of the state met separately and tried to devise a compositive plan of action with a reasonable amount of inter-county cooperation.

Ira Bird Kirkland (D-Anne Arundel)—The draft does not, as Anne Arundel County was assured it would, provide for unchanged tax powers of a county over property which might be acquired by the authority. The county still could tax such property, but it could not revise the assessment of the property after its acquisition. "We want that power in the bill . . ."

Thomas E. Widerman, spokesman for the Maryland Motor Truck Assn.—"We are against the diversion of gasoline tax revenues to anything other than highway construction and maintenance."

Joseph P. Lanigan, spokesman for the Maryland Petroleum Industries Committee—"This will dilute funds for the 12-year roads program . . . Congress will not break their backs to send federal highway money into Maryland if this State persists in using its gasoline-taxing powers for something besides highways."

William Wilson, Baltimore Assn. of Commerce spokesman, said his group favored the port authority "in principle, but the fly in the ointment is the method of taxation."

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—State Treasurer William H. Ansel Jr. of Springfield, Hampshire County, announced he will file tomorrow for Democratic nomination as attorney general.

Barton Calls For Special Referendum

Water Bond Issue Goes Before Voters

BARTON—A special referendum will be held at Barton Tuesday, January 31, to give citizens a chance to decide whether the town should purchase a water system owned and operated by the Barton Water Company.

The election was ordered by the Mayor and Council of Barton, according to Margaret Devlin, town clerk, in order that the council might be authorized to float a bond issue of $40,000 to cover the purchase price of the water system.

The plan calls for buying the water system for $40,000 cash. In order to do this, the Mayor and Council explains that it plans to sell a bond issue, bearing an interest rate of not more than four per cent per annum, with the bonds to be retired over a 40-year period at the rate of $1,000 per year plus interest.

Westernport Council Calls Registration Of Municipal Voters

Town Election Scheduled May 22

WESTERNPORT — A re-registration of all voters of the Town of Westernport will be held in April and May. The present registration books are filled and the law provides that new books must be made up.

The new books will be of loose leaf and will be a permanent registration. There are over 1,600 registered voters in the present poll books. Herald Printing Company of Piedmont will print 4,000 leaves for the registering of voters.

The registration dates were set at a meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners last evening. They will be Monday, April 2; Wednesday, April 18 and Tuesday, May 15 from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

All citizens eligible to vote at the biennial town election Tuesday, May 22, must be registered on one of the three registration days.

For the first time the town will use voting machines at the election. It was ordered that permission be asked from the Allegany County Commissioners for the use of two or more voting machines for the election.

Mayor Michael reported to the commissioners that Harry Hackett, custodian of Philos Cemetery, asked if street employes of the town would put cinders to the approach of the cemetery in bad weather, making it easier for cars entering the property.

"If we did it for them other people would ask the same privilege to put cinders on their driveways," the mayor told Hackett. The council did not take any action.

The mayor also stated that Arch Michael had asked for the job of sweeping streets. Present employes of the Street Department are now doing this and the council did not make any change.

Several streets needing repairs were discussed and emergency work will be done now with more permanent work being performed in suitable weather.

Relative to an ordinance concerning automobiles without licenses, parked on streets, Police Commissioner Ray L. Wilt said notices would be sent out January 31 to owners by registered mail. If cars are not removed by February 1, Reeves Auto Parts will be employed to haul them away. To retain their vehicles the owners would have to pay cost of towing and fine.

The request of Edgar Footen to have a red line painted opposite his garage on Vine Street so he could get in and out was granted.

Commissioner Wilt reported that a clock had been placed in the police station.

Mayor Michael stated that Warren Buckley of the bonding company of Yost, Niles and Dankmyer of Baltimore, informed him the firm would have their bond ordinance prepared about the first of February, authorizing a bond issue.

Michael said he expected Jack Glace of Glace and Glace Engineering Company, employed by the town, to be here tomorrow to discuss proposed new water rates.

Barrel Stave Mill Destroyed Near Augusta

AUGUSTA — A fire early yesterday destroyed a barrel stave mill near Augusta, Hampshire County, W. Va.

Assistant Fire Chief Leo Combs of the Augusta Volunteer Fire Company said an alarm was sounded at approximately 3 a. m. and by the time the unit arrived at the Maple Grove Stave Mill little could be done except to keep the fire from spreading.

Practically the entire mill was destroyed, Chief Combs said, including equipment, two tractors, a diesel power plant and sawing machinery. A truck was saved before it was too badly damaged, Chief Combs stated, explaining that fuel in the equipment and vehicles added to the difficulty in fighting the fire.

No estimate of the damage was made, and the proprietor of the plant, Albert J. Wintker of Romney, could not be located. Cause of the fire had not been determined last evening.

Chief Combs said the fire was reported by an unidentified passing motorist.

Water Bond Issue Goes Before Voters

BARTON—A special referendum will be held at Barton Tuesday, January 31, to give citizens a chance to decide whether the town should purchase a water system owned and operated by the Barton Water Company.

The election was ordered by the Mayor and Council of Barton, according to Margaret Devlin, town clerk, in order that the council might be authorized to float a bond issue of $40,000 to cover the purchase price of the water system.

The plan calls for buying the water system for $40,000 cash. In order to do this, the Mayor and Council explains that it plans to sell a bond issue, bearing an interest rate of not more than four per cent per annum, with the bonds to be retired over a 40-year period at the rate of $1,000 per year plus interest.

Westernport Council Calls Registration Of Municipal Voters

Town Election Scheduled May 22

WESTERNPORT — A re-registration of all voters of the Town of Westernport will be held in April and May. The present registration books are filled and the law provides that new books must be made up.

The new books will be of loose leaf and will be a permanent registration. There are over 1,600 registered voters in the present poll books. Herald Printing Company of Piedmont will print 4,000 leaves for the registering of voters.

The registration dates were set at a meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners last evening. They will be Monday, April 2; Wednesday, April 18 and Tuesday, May 15 from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

All citizens eligible to vote at the biennial town election Tuesday, May 22, must be registered on one of the three registration days.

For the first time the town will use voting machines at the election. It was ordered that permission be asked from the Allegany County Commissioners for the use of two or more voting machines for the election.

Mayor Michael reported to the commissioners that Harry Hackett, custodian of Philos Cemetery, asked if street employes of the town would put cinders to the approach of the cemetery in bad weather, making it easier for cars entering the property.

"If we did it for them other people would ask the same privilege to put cinders on their driveways," the mayor told Hackett. The council did not take any action.

The mayor also stated that Arch Michael had asked for the job of sweeping streets. Present employes of the Street Department are now doing this and the council did not make any change.

Several streets needing repairs were discussed and emergency work will be done now with more permanent work being performed in suitable weather.

Relative to an ordinance concerning automobiles without licenses, parked on streets, Police Commissioner Ray L. Wilt said notices would be sent out January 31 to owners by registered mail. If cars are not removed by February 1, Reeves Auto Parts will be employed to haul them away. To retain their vehicles the owners would have to pay cost of towing and fine.

The request of Edgar Footen to have a red line painted opposite his garage on Vine Street so he could get in and out was granted.

Commissioner Wilt reported that a clock had been placed in the police station.

Mayor Michael stated that Warren Buckley of the bonding company of Yost, Niles and Dankmyer of Baltimore, informed him the firm would have their bond ordinance prepared about the first of February, authorizing a bond issue.

Michael said he expected Jack Glace of Glace and Glace Engineering Company, employed by the town, to be here tomorrow to discuss proposed new water rates.

Barrel Stave Mill Destroyed Near Augusta

AUGUSTA — A fire early yesterday destroyed a barrel stave mill near Augusta, Hampshire County, W. Va.

Assistant Fire Chief Leo Combs of the Augusta Volunteer Fire Company said an alarm was sounded at approximately 3 a. m. and by the time the unit arrived at the Maple Grove Stave Mill little could be done except to keep the fire from spreading.

Practically the entire mill was destroyed, Chief Combs said, including equipment, two tractors, a diesel power plant and sawing machinery. A truck was saved before it was too badly damaged, Chief Combs stated, explaining that fuel in the equipment and vehicles added to the difficulty in fighting the fire.

No estimate of the damage was made, and the proprietor of the plant, Albert J. Wintker of Romney, could not be located. Cause of the fire had not been determined last evening.

Chief Combs said the fire was reported by an unidentified passing motorist.

Home Teaching Program Is Outlined In Report

A comprehensive report on the practice and policies of the home teaching program in Allegany County Schools has been prepared by Miss M. Jean Camper, supervisor of special education.

The report, approved by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, is being distributed to principals and teachers of county schools and to organizations, including the County Health Department and the League for Crippled Children.

According to the report, the program is to serve the following students:

Those who are to be out of school for at least three months but who are to return eventually; those who for physical reasons are likely to remain out of school permanently; those who have an intelligence quotient of around 65 and above, and those whose parents cooperate in regard to doctor's orders and conditions conductive to good study.

The Special Education Department of the county school system, according to Miss Camper, will help to make arrangements for a student to have a teacher come to his home for three hours each week but the following procedure must take place:

The principal, teacher or family may call and request that the forms from the State Department be sent to the attending physician. The physician will return these to the Special Education office indicating that the student will be out for a period of three months or more and is physically able to continue studies at home.

It is felt that for periods of absence of less time than this, it is advisable that classmates, teacher, and family maintain close enough contact to prevent too great a loss.

The Pupil Personnel Department must have received a notification of an official withdrawal and a doctor's certificate.

The Special Education Department will then inquire, either from the local school faculty or from the substitute list, for a certified teacher to go to the student's home. The three hours per week may be three single hours, two one and one-half hour periods, or, if the student can take it, three hours at one time.

This is to be discussed with the physician and the supervisor of special education. Two dollars an hour is paid to the teacher with seven cents a mile or commercial transportation fare.

Books and supplies may be obtained with the cooperation of the local school or from the Special Education Department. There are also several report forms to be used by the home teacher when a student is asigned to her.

Such forms are available in the special education office. In the elementary school program the home teacher may in some cases try to use and follow the regular curriculum that would be in the student's grade at school.

However, in the other cases it may be more feasible to use entirely different texts, especially if the child feels undue pressure concerning his inability to keep up.

In the secondary school program, it is usually felt that only two subjects can be handled by the student during the three hours per week. The home teacher, with the principal and regular teacher, should confer regarding the selection of the subjects most important, the texts to be used, and arrangements for the final examination to be given when possible.

A statement regarding the progress that the student has made during the home teaching program will be sent to the principal of the student's school as he is ready to return.

If special transportation is to be necessary when returning to school, the supervisor of transportation must be notified. He also must have the request forms signed by the attending physician.

Home Builders Defer Meeting On Assessments

Heavy snowfall resulted in the postponement until Monday night at 7:30 o'clock of the meeting County Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Orr had scheduled last night with a representative group of county home builders to discuss the fairness of assessments.

Last Friday afternoon the two commissioners held a special meeting in the auxiliary court room at the Court House to get the views of real estate men, home builders and other interested citizens.

More questions were raised than were answered at that session. As a result Lemmert and Orr decided to hold a subsequent meeting with the home builders. A committee of real estate men is planning to meet next week to prepare a recommendation on assessments to be submitted to the county commissioners.

The meeting with the home builders next Monday night will be a closed-door affair at the request of the home builders.

The commissioners would like an expression from the contractors on the average cube price for determining the value of a building or dwelling for reproduction cost. They also would like to know how assessors can assess property of comparable construction uniformly when contractors' bids on the same job vary so widely.

From the real estate men the county commissioners would like to know whether they think overall assessments are good, bad, uniform, too high or too low. They also would like to know how real estate men determine the value of property they wish to sell.

Church To Open Building Drive

An $80,000 building fund drive will be inaugurated at a parish-wide dinner in Central YMCA tonight by members of First Methodist Church on Bedford Street.

Brooke C. Atkinson, general chairman of the appeal, made the announcement yesterday.

Twenty-five canvassers will begin tomorrow to call on every member and friend of the parish, seeking pledges for a three-year period.

The funds will be used to erect a new church building on the parish's property on Frederick Street, according to Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor. The present building will be sold when the move is made.

Home Teaching Program Is Outlined In Report

A comprehensive report on the practice and policies of the home teaching program in Allegany County Schools has been prepared by Miss M. Jean Camper, supervisor of special education.

The report, approved by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, is being distributed to principals and teachers of county schools and to organizations, including the County Health Department and the League for Crippled Children.

According to the report, the program is to serve the following students:

Those who are to be out of school for at least three months but who are to return eventually; those who for physical reasons are likely to remain out of school permanently; those who have an intelligence quotient of around 65 and above, and those whose parents cooperate in regard to doctor's orders and conditions conductive to good study.

The Special Education Department of the county school system, according to Miss Camper, will help to make arrangements for a student to have a teacher come to his home for three hours each week but the following procedure must take place:

The principal, teacher or family may call and request that the forms from the State Department be sent to the attending physician. The physician will return these to the Special Education office indicating that the student will be out for a period of three months or more and is physically able to continue studies at home.

It is felt that for periods of absence of less time than this, it is advisable that classmates, teacher, and family maintain close enough contact to prevent too great a loss.

The Pupil Personnel Department must have received a notification of an official withdrawal and a doctor's certificate.

The Special Education Department will then inquire, either from the local school faculty or from the substitute list, for a certified teacher to go to the student's home. The three hours per week may be three single hours, two one and one-half hour periods, or, if the student can take it, three hours at one time.

This is to be discussed with the physician and the supervisor of special education. Two dollars an hour is paid to the teacher with seven cents a mile or commercial transportation fare.

Books and supplies may be obtained with the cooperation of the local school or from the Special Education Department. There are also several report forms to be used by the home teacher when a student is asigned to her.

Such forms are available in the special education office. In the elementary school program the home teacher may in some cases try to use and follow the regular curriculum that would be in the student's grade at school.

However, in the other cases it may be more feasible to use entirely different texts, especially if the child feels undue pressure concerning his inability to keep up.

In the secondary school program, it is usually felt that only two subjects can be handled by the student during the three hours per week. The home teacher, with the principal and regular teacher, should confer regarding the selection of the subjects most important, the texts to be used, and arrangements for the final examination to be given when possible.

A statement regarding the progress that the student has made during the home teaching program will be sent to the principal of the student's school as he is ready to return.

If special transportation is to be necessary when returning to school, the supervisor of transportation must be notified. He also must have the request forms signed by the attending physician.

Home Builders Defer Meeting On Assessments

Heavy snowfall resulted in the postponement until Monday night at 7:30 o'clock of the meeting County Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Orr had scheduled last night with a representative group of county home builders to discuss the fairness of assessments.

Last Friday afternoon the two commissioners held a special meeting in the auxiliary court room at the Court House to get the views of real estate men, home builders and other interested citizens.

More questions were raised than were answered at that session. As a result Lemmert and Orr decided to hold a subsequent meeting with the home builders. A committee of real estate men is planning to meet next week to prepare a recommendation on assessments to be submitted to the county commissioners.

The meeting with the home builders next Monday night will be a closed-door affair at the request of the home builders.

The commissioners would like an expression from the contractors on the average cube price for determining the value of a building or dwelling for reproduction cost. They also would like to know how assessors can assess property of comparable construction uniformly when contractors' bids on the same job vary so widely.

From the real estate men the county commissioners would like to know whether they think overall assessments are good, bad, uniform, too high or too low. They also would like to know how real estate men determine the value of property they wish to sell.

Pleasant Surprise And Inconvenience

During military occupation of European countries throughout World War II and since, American families of servicemen have been pleasantly surprised by the amount of goods and services their dollars will buy.

Because of the lower standard of living in foreign countries and the ever-existent demand for the American dollar, U. S. citizens living abroad have been able to enjoy services, particularly, the cost of which would be prohibitive in this country.

Much the same situation prevails today, although the overall standards have increased. Domestic servants are prime examples of luxuries most Americans cannot afford in the states but which they find easy to fit into the family budget abroad.

For $25 or $30 a month household workers can be hired in most European and Mediterranean countries and in many places this help costs less. Natives of these countries with the above-average income of $50 or $60 a month provide themselves with servants.

In Spain, for example, maids start at $2.50 a month, and in Egypt a boy or girl can be hired for $2.80. In the richer parts of Italy household help may be had for as little as $13 monthly.

Actually, domestic servants are more of a necessity than luxury to most Americans living overseas, for many of the conveniences found in the United States are unknown to the Europeans. Supermarkets, electric dishwashers, garbage disposals and electric washing machines are a few of the household aids to be found rarely overseas. But with servants who often work 16 hours a day, and ask only one afternoon a week off, the mechanical luxuries are seldom missed.

To many Americans this would perhaps seem to be a utopian type of existence, but to those who have partaken of it, and enjoyed it for a time, there is something depressing about the low economy and backward development of these areas. Most Americans find even the increased purchasing power of the dollar overseas isn't worth the inconvenience that goes with it.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Needle

All day long I wait for needles. They stick me early; they stick me late. In the mathematics of medicine, needles play a primary role. They take blood out of you and put blood in. They test and check and presumably the day does come when one gets well and there are no more needles.

I serenely watch how a needle-pusher looks for just the right spot and there are gradations of sticks. Sometimes the operation is absolutely painless and at other times, it feels as though someone is just trying to get even. A three-phase push is a warning of pain to come.

Well, a fellow can get used to most anything and lying on a bed for hours is a novelty for me. I have slept little in my life, fewer hours perhaps than Thomas Edison. It seemed so wasteful just to sleep when there is so much to do and so much to know. Now, they tell me that sleep is the cure-all, that nothing does as much good as sleep. Hospitals do not, as most of us do not, coordinate thought and action. If sleep is the great cure-all, why don't they let you sleep? So at about 6 a. m., in comes somebody to take your temperature. The theory is that the patient will go back to sleep. But he is awake. He wants to know what's going on in the world. And he dare not go to sleep, lest the needle-gal come around to stick him. So you wait for the needle-gal. If some crazy doctor decided to make you fast until after the needle-gal got you, you go hungry.

That is bad coordination because when I am hungry, I am ill-tempered and here I am supposed to be serene like Grace Kelly will be when she marries Grimaldi, but how can you be serene on an empty stomach, waiting for a gal to stick a needle into you?

Now if that is not an earth-shaking problem, I do not know what is. Maybe it is Herbert Hoover's suggestion that we get a second, appointed vice president to do the President's work while the President goes in for ceremonies, occasions, events and speeches. I am not too enthusiastic about this suggestion of Mr. Hoover's. The mayor of the palace idea is pretty old in human history and it usually ends the same way: No. 1 peters down into a fun-loving lazy-bones who does nothing, while No. 2 becomes the boss but has no lawful responsibility. Charles Martel (714-741) came to power that way and in Japan the Shogun system operated for several centuries, the Mikado being just a poor ceremonial creature, virtually the prisoner of the Shogun.

Mr. Hoover knows all about that but he is undoubtedly trying to help his friend, Ike Eisenhower, out of a bad spot. The truth is that Eisenhower always managed to have someone do his work for him as any general in the Army does. Sherman Adams has been an excellent top sergeant and the proof of the pudding lies in the fact that the show continues to be on the road, come what may. So we might as well elect Sherman Adams president or go on as we are with Ike to make us happy and Sherm to get the work done.

I should imagine that that is what will happen because when some Republicans reach the point where they suggest Harold Stassen for president, it means that Ike will have to do his duty and save his country.

Lying here, with the telephone cut off and the orders strict against visitors or work, I scribble these lines because every day I must take pen in hand and write in old-fashioned long-hand what comes to mind. It is a habit from which I cannot break myself nor do I want to.

For instance, I see that John Foster Dulles continues to tell how close to the brink of war we were. I wrote that time after time last April, May, June and there was no question about it. We never did get into World War III because we live in a projection of World War II, but people do not get killed in this kind of war; they may get discouraged and depressed but they do live. It is a novel kind of war but not as devastating as a hydrogen-bomb war would have to be.

Here in the hospital there can only be optimism; the alternative is too unpleasant.

Flying Carpet Trouble

Firm That Engineered Dixon-Yates Wangles Juicy Foreign Aid Contract

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — EBASCO, the firm that engineered the Dixon-Yates fiasco, is about to harvest a juicy plum from the government's foreign-aid program. Some government officials regard it as an indirect payoff for failure to go through with Dixon-Yates.

Wholly-owned subsidiary of the Electric Bond and Share Corporation that once owned Edgar Dixon's Middle South Utilities, EBASCO Services is also the engineering firm that drafted the original Dixon-Yates proposal.

Though the International Cooperation Administration headed by John B. Hollister is doing its level best to maintain ironclad secrecy, I can reveal that his outfit plans to award EBASCO a foreign-aid contract so juicy that eight other companies wanted it. Despite this, EBASCO was selected without competitive bids, by Abbott K. Hamilton, director of ICA's industrial resources office and a former vice president of Commercial Solvents Corporation.

The newly proposed contract calls for a massive review of Syngman Rhee's plans for the economic development of Korea. As part of the survey, EBASCO would review foreign-aid projects requested by the Korean government, then would help Hollister and his ICA solicit bids and award the construction contracts.

The clincher is EBASCO's demand for a one per cent commission on all construction contracts awarded under the survey. Since the Korean aid program is ICA's biggest, the commissions might run into millions, and backstage, the proposal has literally got ICA's experts boiling. Reason: It would tempt EBASCO to approve all sorts of aid projects desired by the Korean government. For, the more projects approved, the higher EBASCO's profits.

"No Comment"

Despite the violent criticism of ICA's experts, Hamilton has already okayed the one per cent commission demanded by EBASCO. The contract now needs only the approval of Hollister himself.

The Korean government, however, is not sold on letting EBASCO handle the survey. Therefore ICA is sending four EBASCO representatives to Seoul to win over Syngman Rhee. Each will collect a $25-a-day expense account from ICA while trying to convince Rhee to accept EBASCO.

Though such contracts are usually awarded by ICA's office of contract relations, this pet project is being handled by Hamilton personally. Details are so secret that they have even been kept from Hamilton's boss, Dr. William F. Russell.

When Hamilton's office was queried regarding the proposed contract, he refused to talk.

"Any information must come from William J. Caldwell public reports," he said.

Hamilton also refused to comment on whether the deal is designed to compensate the Dixon-Yates interests for the money lost on the now famous Dixon-Yates contract.

Caldwell, it turned out, had no information available, except that EBASCO was sending a "pilot team" to Korea to study the situation.

Hamilton was then asked for a personal interview. No reply.

Barren-Beaned Pearson

Commerce offiicals were discussing a recent Merry-Go-Round story telling how Fred Lee, the able ex-Civil Aeronautics adminstrator, had been ousted by "barren-beaned" Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and Len Hall, the "equally barren-beaned" chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"If Drew Pearson was honest about it he would have reported that Lee was as barren-beaned as both Weeks and Hall, if not more so," grumbled one official.

"What are you talking about?" chimed in another. "If Pearson really wanted to level with his readers he wouldn't be tossing barbs at others for being barren beaned. He's no advertisement for hair oil. Look at his picture in that column."

Meat Trust

It hasn't been advertised, but Wyoming's trust-busting Sen. Joe O'Mahoney is investigating charges that the big chain stores are gaining a stranglehold on the meat industry.

It used to be that the five big packers dominated the stockyards and controlled meat prices. Finally 50 years ago the Justice Department moved in with an anti trust suit against Swift and Company. Congress also passed the Kendrick-Kenyon bill in 1921, which broke up the packers' control over the meat industry.

This law doesn't affect the chain stores, however, which are moving in where the packers are barred by law. O'Mahoney has learned that the big chain stores operate their own distributing plants, packing plants, feed lots and even their own cattle ranches.

Safeway, for example, has at least 11 meat-distributing warehouses, 33 general warehouses, and 19 miscellaneous warehouses, according to O'Mahoney's information.

The Wyoming senator will air his findings before the Senate Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee.

Dots And Dashes

Adlai Stevenson has dumped his political confidant of the past four years, the man he hand-picked to run the Democratic party in 1952—former Chairman Steve Mitchell . . . The headstrong Mitchell struck out on his own and announced his candidacy for governor of Illinois. However, Stevenson has privately turned thumbs down on his former friend. Illinois Democratic regulars will back Herbert Paschen . . . New York's Gov. Averell Harriman appealed to ex-President Truman to help revive the collapsing Harriman-for-President boom. Truman sent back polite word that he would rather not get mixed up in the pre-convention fight . . . The Defense Department is going ahead with plans to supply the new West German army with atomic weapons. Secretary of Defense Wilson would like to furnish the Germans—and our other European allies—with atomic missiles if Congress can be persuaded to remove the legal barriers.

Truman Memoirs Give GOP Political Ammunition

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "O that mine enemy might write a book"—It's an old slogan and has its application to the 1956 presidential campaign. For the latest installment of the memoirs of former President Truman seeking to defend the loss of China to the free world is about as useful a piece of political ammunition as the Republicans could acquire this year.

When, as Mr. Truman declares in the current installment published in Life magazine, the loss of China is due to the fact that Chiang Kai-shek wasn't "conciliatory" enough toward the Chinese Communists, the whole issue surrounding the Democratic administration's tragic policies in the Far East is revived.

Coalition Idea A Hoax

The American people have not only been brought to the "brink of a war" in Formosa, but they lost 140,000 casualties in Korea in an actual war because the policies of the Truman administration turned out to be to the advantage of the Communist government in China.

Mr. Truman says that General Marshall tried to get Chiang Kai-shek to agree to a "coalition" government. The general, to the sure, was acting on the basis of detailed instructions prepared for him by "experts" in the Department of State whose fidelity to the best interests of the United States versus Soviet Russia came into question later in hearings before congressional committees. Nobody with a sense of fairness has ever suggested that General Marshall knew the sinister influences at work in the Department of State. For, as a good soldier, he followed orders. But the fact is that the idea of a "coalition" government in which the Communists and the Nationalists would participate was a hoax from beginning to end.

The "coalition" idea had already resulted in the sell-out of the people of Poland through the Yalta agreements, and it isn't "hindsight," as Mr. Truman argues now, to recall that point. For the whole world knew the Communists were using the "coalition" trick to gain military supremacy. Indeed, they notified the American negotiators in China that they wouldn't integrate their armies under any circumstances. How could Chiang Kai-shek agree to a "coalition" government while his enemies were maintaining an armed force to continue their military pressures?

Thought Nationalists Should Quit

Mr. Truman says, in effect, that the Nationalists should have surrendered because they didn't have a chance militarily to win, and General Marshall thought so, too, but the opinion of other observers, including the American ambassador, Leighton Stuart, an educator of wide experience in China, was that the failure of American aid to come at the opportune moment was the real cause of the weakness of the Nationalists and the disintegration of their armies. Many Nationalist commanders went over to the enemy because they saw the United States withdrawing moral support from Chiang Kai-shek.

Mr. Truman boldly defends what the Treasury did. He dosen't mention the late Harry Dexter White, named in congressional hearings as a Communist spy, who sat in the Treasury Department with full power to say when the money promised Chiang Kai-shek would be forwarded or held back. The former President commended Harry Dexter White in writing on April 30, 1946, even after J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, had in November 1945 and February 1946 called the President's attention to the questionable record of White's relations to the Communists.

On the subject of the loan, Mr. Truman dosen't identify the "Treasury experts" who held it up but he writes:

"General Marshall devoted his brief stay in Washington (March-April 1946) to talks with government officials regarding loans for China and aid in the form of shipping and surplus property. I instructed the Treasury Department to cooperate with him in every way, and an agreement was reached for an immediate loan to China of $500,000,000. Unfortunately, when nothing but the Chinese signature was lacking on this document, Chiang Kai-shek's representative, the Chinese ambassador in Washington, insisted on changes before he would sign. And to complicate the matter further, the generalissimo on the same day made a speech in China that was in effect a call to arms. It is no wonder that the Treasury experts felt that it would not be in line with our policy to make a loan if political settlement was not forthcoming in China. They were correct."

Deserted By U. S.

This is by no means all of the story, but it is a sensational paragraph nonetheless. It shows that Mr. Truman either didn't know how the loan was being squelched by some persons in the U. S. Treasury Department friendly to the Communists or else that he naively accepted the superficial explanation which he now repeats.

For certainly Chiang Kai-shek had to keep on fighting. The Communists were refusing to dissolve or disarm their forces. Already betrayed by the Yalta agreement which secretly gave Soviet Russia advantages in Manchuria that paved the way for the conquest of all China by the Communist Chinese, the Nationalist government of China was deserted at a critical time by the United States government, which welched on its promises and involuntarily built up a Communist regime in the Far East that any day may bring the world to the "brink of war."

WASHINGTON — Look for the government to take action soon to tighten up on installment buying because of the tremendous increase in credit purchases of American consumers. Many government officials as well as some leaders in the private banking field believe that credit is getting out of hand and will bring further inflation unless it is curbed.

While the Federal Reserve board had a headache in trying to administer "Regulation W" several years to limit credit, it is now felt that some similar step again must be taken.

It is probable that a new federal regulation will require at least a small down payment on most credit purchases plus a limited time to pay off the balance—such as 24 months. Since "Regulation W" ended, consumers often have been able to make purchases with no down payment and up to three years to complete their payments.

Soil Bank

The administration's "soil bank" program designed to relieve farm surpluses has the general endorsement of most congressmen and of all major farm organizations—who normally disagree on agriculture policy.

However, the general agreement does not mean easy sailing for the proposed legislation. Many congressmen, particularly Democrats, say the plan—calling for government payments to farmers for taking land out of cash-crop production and converting it to pasture or woodland—is only a partial solution.

There will be vigorous, probably violent, debate, over how the plan should operate. Issues will include the length of time the government contracts with farmers should run, how such agreements will be policed, and how much should be paid farmers for acreage put into "reserve."

However, the price support issue will continue to be a major item of discussion — regardless of the land bank. A possible compromise will see high support prices—90 per cent of parity or more—for top quality crops, and lower supports—75 per cent or less, for the balance.

Russell's Role

Politicians expect Senator Richard B. Russell (D), Georgia, to emerge as one of the chief thorns in the Eisenhower administration's side during this session of Congress. The influential Georgian is expected to lead the Democrats' attack on the President's request for $4 billion $900 million in foreign aid funds.

Russell, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, also is believed ready to assail the administration's defense program, which calls for a billion-dollar boost in military spending. The senator's displeasure with the White House was sharply reflected in his caustic criticism of Mr. Eisenhower's State of the Union message, which Russell said seemed to be filled with "New Deal shibboleths and platitudes."

Pulling Punches

Well-informed Democrats do not believe that all-out battles will develop between Adlai E. Stevenson and Senator Estes Kefauver in the presidential primary contests where they are pitted against each other. This is the reasoning behind the prediction that the Stevenson vs. Kefauver jousts will be conducted on a polite, we-don't-hate-each-other basis:

The Tennessee senator and his top advisers are said to believe that Stevenson really does have the nomination in the bag. Also, despite Kefauver's insistence that he isn't interested in the vice presidency, the word is that he would settle for that honor and hope for better in 1960.

As for Stevenson, he is pictured as realizing that the homespun Kefauver enjoys great personal popularity in many parts of the country and that little would be gained by an all-out attack on him.

Urinary Tract Infections Are Very Prevalent

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Infections of the bladder and renal passageways are almost as prevalent as colds and other respiratory disorders. Burning and frequency of urination are the most common symptoms of urinary tract infections and diagnosis is made through urinalysis. A variety of micro-organisms are responsible and they usually can be eliminated by our modern sulfonamides or antibiotics.

But the condition is not always this easy to remedy because some bacteria are resistant to certain antibiotics and unless the right drug is pitted against the right germ, cure may not follow. This explains why the same remedy does not work in all cases and why the culprit must be uncovered, preferably before treatment is started.

Long before penicillin and the sulfonamides were discovered, physicians had been searching for an ideal antiseptic to sterilize the urinary tract. Drugs that killed germs were available but they were too irritating to the lining of the bladder and urinary tract. The best were compounds that made the urine slightly acid and, so long as the sufferer drank plenty of water, the medicine was tolerated.

It was agreed generally that when infection occured without associated stone, tumor, or obstruction, it disappeared in much the same way as an ordinary sore throat or head cold. On the other hand, when these complications were present, the victim seldom got well until they were eliminated. The same holds true today.

The usefulness of the sulfonamides and antibiotics in treating ordinary bladder infection depends upon their specific activity against the micro-organisms. At present, so many antimicrobic compounds are on the market for urinary infections, a busy physician would have to be a genius to remember the names of half of them.

As a result, the majority of medicos utilize only those known to react against the most frequent offenders. For this reason, the physician is likely to start with a sulfonamide such as sulfathiazole or sulfadiazine. These products are inexpensive, act rapidly, and seldom are toxic in the dose needed to sterilze the urine.

The antibiotics are not used unless the sulfa compounds fail. Furadantin and the tetracyclines are broad spectrum antibiotics, meaning they are effective against a variety of organisms, many of which inhabit the urinary tract.

Drugs of this nature are taken by mouth and reach the kidneys by way of the blood stream and become active as soon as they are excreted into the urine.

MORGUE EMPLOYE

M. O. writes: Does working in the morgue have a bad effect upon the health?

REPLY

LEAVING THE HOSPITAL

Mrs. A. S. writes: Recently a physician told my husband that a hospital patient can get up, dress, and walk out whenever he thinks he is well. I say you cannot go until released by the hospital or the doctor who is caring for you. What are the rules in this matter?

REPLY

A hospital is not a jail and if the patient wants to leave, the hospital asks him to sign a release as a protection against liability.

DEPENDS ON CAUSE

S. D. writes: Is jaundice contagious?

REPLY

Jaundice means yellowish discoloration of the tissues and as such, is not contagious. There are many causes, of which viral hepatitis is one. It may occur in epidemic form but here the organism is transmitted via contaminated food or water rather than thru personal contact.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Newbold Morris tells of a day he was visiting Radio City Music Hall with the late Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia. The spotlight was turned on the organist. "Newbold," whispered the Mayor, "that's how a city should be run. Like an organist, you must keep both hands on the keyboard and both feet on the pedals—and never let go."

A minute later a cop tapped him on the shoulder and told him a three-alarm fire was raging some miles away. "The Little Flower" charged up the aisle, and minutes later disappeared into the burning building. He was the last to emerge before the walls crumbled to the ground.

You're Telling Me!

Now that one large Hollywood studio has sold a huge batch of its old films for television use we wonder if the TV late midnight movie show may not last until breakfast.

The outlook is blacker than ever for Illinois speedsters now that state cops are using multi-colored cars in nabbing traffic violators.

New gadgets may make it possible to drive a car 20,000 miles without an oil change? But who, these days, drives a car 20,000 miles before trading it in?

One-third of the people of the United States, according to Factographs, live in areas where there is no access to a public library. What with TV they probably don't realize it.

Some tortoises, according to a science item, are 300 or more years old. Must be quite a deal, to remember the "good, old days" back in 1656.

F. E. F., a long-time admirer of actress Grace Kelly, says he won't mind at all referring to our Grace as her royal highness.

Some 12,000 mink on Canadian government-sponsored farms in Newfoundland are raised on whale meat, we read. No wonder their fur is so durned expensive!

Pleasant Surprise And Inconvenience

During military occupation of European countries throughout World War II and since, American families of servicemen have been pleasantly surprised by the amount of goods and services their dollars will buy.

Because of the lower standard of living in foreign countries and the ever-existent demand for the American dollar, U. S. citizens living abroad have been able to enjoy services, particularly, the cost of which would be prohibitive in this country.

Much the same situation prevails today, although the overall standards have increased. Domestic servants are prime examples of luxuries most Americans cannot afford in the states but which they find easy to fit into the family budget abroad.

For $25 or $30 a month household workers can be hired in most European and Mediterranean countries and in many places this help costs less. Natives of these countries with the above-average income of $50 or $60 a month provide themselves with servants.

In Spain, for example, maids start at $2.50 a month, and in Egypt a boy or girl can be hired for $2.80. In the richer parts of Italy household help may be had for as little as $13 monthly.

Actually, domestic servants are more of a necessity than luxury to most Americans living overseas, for many of the conveniences found in the United States are unknown to the Europeans. Supermarkets, electric dishwashers, garbage disposals and electric washing machines are a few of the household aids to be found rarely overseas. But with servants who often work 16 hours a day, and ask only one afternoon a week off, the mechanical luxuries are seldom missed.

To many Americans this would perhaps seem to be a utopian type of existence, but to those who have partaken of it, and enjoyed it for a time, there is something depressing about the low economy and backward development of these areas. Most Americans find even the increased purchasing power of the dollar overseas isn't worth the inconvenience that goes with it.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Needle

All day long I wait for needles. They stick me early; they stick me late. In the mathematics of medicine, needles play a primary role. They take blood out of you and put blood in. They test and check and presumably the day does come when one gets well and there are no more needles.

I serenely watch how a needle-pusher looks for just the right spot and there are gradations of sticks. Sometimes the operation is absolutely painless and at other times, it feels as though someone is just trying to get even. A three-phase push is a warning of pain to come.

Well, a fellow can get used to most anything and lying on a bed for hours is a novelty for me. I have slept little in my life, fewer hours perhaps than Thomas Edison. It seemed so wasteful just to sleep when there is so much to do and so much to know. Now, they tell me that sleep is the cure-all, that nothing does as much good as sleep. Hospitals do not, as most of us do not, coordinate thought and action. If sleep is the great cure-all, why don't they let you sleep? So at about 6 a. m., in comes somebody to take your temperature. The theory is that the patient will go back to sleep. But he is awake. He wants to know what's going on in the world. And he dare not go to sleep, lest the needle-gal come around to stick him. So you wait for the needle-gal. If some crazy doctor decided to make you fast until after the needle-gal got you, you go hungry.

That is bad coordination because when I am hungry, I am ill-tempered and here I am supposed to be serene like Grace Kelly will be when she marries Grimaldi, but how can you be serene on an empty stomach, waiting for a gal to stick a needle into you?

Now if that is not an earth-shaking problem, I do not know what is. Maybe it is Herbert Hoover's suggestion that we get a second, appointed vice president to do the President's work while the President goes in for ceremonies, occasions, events and speeches. I am not too enthusiastic about this suggestion of Mr. Hoover's. The mayor of the palace idea is pretty old in human history and it usually ends the same way: No. 1 peters down into a fun-loving lazy-bones who does nothing, while No. 2 becomes the boss but has no lawful responsibility. Charles Martel (714-741) came to power that way and in Japan the Shogun system operated for several centuries, the Mikado being just a poor ceremonial creature, virtually the prisoner of the Shogun.

Mr. Hoover knows all about that but he is undoubtedly trying to help his friend, Ike Eisenhower, out of a bad spot. The truth is that Eisenhower always managed to have someone do his work for him as any general in the Army does. Sherman Adams has been an excellent top sergeant and the proof of the pudding lies in the fact that the show continues to be on the road, come what may. So we might as well elect Sherman Adams president or go on as we are with Ike to make us happy and Sherm to get the work done.

I should imagine that that is what will happen because when some Republicans reach the point where they suggest Harold Stassen for president, it means that Ike will have to do his duty and save his country.

Lying here, with the telephone cut off and the orders strict against visitors or work, I scribble these lines because every day I must take pen in hand and write in old-fashioned long-hand what comes to mind. It is a habit from which I cannot break myself nor do I want to.

For instance, I see that John Foster Dulles continues to tell how close to the brink of war we were. I wrote that time after time last April, May, June and there was no question about it. We never did get into World War III because we live in a projection of World War II, but people do not get killed in this kind of war; they may get discouraged and depressed but they do live. It is a novel kind of war but not as devastating as a hydrogen-bomb war would have to be.

Here in the hospital there can only be optimism; the alternative is too unpleasant.

Flying Carpet Trouble

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — EBASCO, the firm that engineered the Dixon-Yates fiasco, is about to harvest a juicy plum from the government's foreign-aid program. Some government officials regard it as an indirect payoff for failure to go through with Dixon-Yates.

Wholly-owned subsidiary of the Electric Bond and Share Corporation that once owned Edgar Dixon's Middle South Utilities, EBASCO Services is also the engineering firm that drafted the original Dixon-Yates proposal.

Though the International Cooperation Administration headed by John B. Hollister is doing its level best to maintain ironclad secrecy, I can reveal that his outfit plans to award EBASCO a foreign-aid contract so juicy that eight other companies wanted it. Despite this, EBASCO was selected without competitive bids, by Abbott K. Hamilton, director of ICA's industrial resources office and a former vice president of Commercial Solvents Corporation.

The newly proposed contract calls for a massive review of Syngman Rhee's plans for the economic development of Korea. As part of the survey, EBASCO would review foreign-aid projects requested by the Korean government, then would help Hollister and his ICA solicit bids and award the construction contracts.

The clincher is EBASCO's demand for a one per cent commission on all construction contracts awarded under the survey. Since the Korean aid program is ICA's biggest, the commissions might run into millions, and backstage, the proposal has literally got ICA's experts boiling. Reason: It would tempt EBASCO to approve all sorts of aid projects desired by the Korean government. For, the more projects approved, the higher EBASCO's profits.

"No Comment"

Despite the violent criticism of ICA's experts, Hamilton has already okayed the one per cent commission demanded by EBASCO. The contract now needs only the approval of Hollister himself.

The Korean government, however, is not sold on letting EBASCO handle the survey. Therefore ICA is sending four EBASCO representatives to Seoul to win over Syngman Rhee. Each will collect a $25-a-day expense account from ICA while trying to convince Rhee to accept EBASCO.

Though such contracts are usually awarded by ICA's office of contract relations, this pet project is being handled by Hamilton personally. Details are so secret that they have even been kept from Hamilton's boss, Dr. William F. Russell.

When Hamilton's office was queried regarding the proposed contract, he refused to talk.

"Any information must come from William J. Caldwell public reports," he said.

Hamilton also refused to comment on whether the deal is designed to compensate the Dixon-Yates interests for the money lost on the now famous Dixon-Yates contract.

Caldwell, it turned out, had no information available, except that EBASCO was sending a "pilot team" to Korea to study the situation.

Hamilton was then asked for a personal interview. No reply.

Barren-Beaned Pearson

Commerce offiicals were discussing a recent Merry-Go-Round story telling how Fred Lee, the able ex-Civil Aeronautics administrator, had been ousted by "barren-beaned" Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and Len Hall, the "equally barren-beaned" chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"If Drew Pearson was honest about it he would have reported that Lee was as barren-beaned as both Weeks and Hall, if not more so," grumbled one official.

"What are you talking about?" chimed in another. "If Pearson really wanted to level with his readers he wouldn't be tossing barbs at others for being barren beaned. He's no advertisement for hair oil. Look at his picture in that column."

Meat Trust

It hasn't been advertised, but Wyoming's trust-busting Sen. Joe O'Mahoney is investigating charges that the big chain stores are gaining a stranglehold on the meat industry.

It used to be that the five big packers dominated the stockyards and controlled meat prices. Finally 50 years ago the Justice Department moved in with an anti trust suit against Swift and Company. Congress also passed the Kendrick-Kenyon bill in 1921, which broke up the packers' control over the meat industry.

This law doesn't affect the chain stores, however, which are moving in where the packers are barred by law. O'Mahoney has learned that the big chain stores operate their own distributing plants, packing plants, feed lots and even their own cattle ranches.

Safeway, for example, has at least 11 meat-distributing warehouses, 33 general warehouses, and 19 miscellaneous warehouses, according to O'Mahoney's information.

The Wyoming senator will air his findings before the Senate Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee.

Dots And Dashes

Adlai Stevenson has dumped his political confidant of the past four years, the man he hand-picked to run the Democratic party in 1952—former Chairman Steve Mitchell . . . The headstrong Mitchell struck out on his own and announced his candidacy for governor of Illinois. However, Stevenson has privately turned thumbs down on his former friend. Illinois Democratic regulars will back Herbert Paschen . . . New York's Gov. Averell Harriman appealed to ex-President Truman to help revive the collapsing Harriman-for-President boom. Truman sent back polite word that he would rather not get mixed up in the pre-convention fight . . . The Defense Department is going ahead with plans to supply the new West German army with atomic weapons. Secretary of Defense Wilson would like to furnish the Germans—and our other European allies—with atomic missiles if Congress can be persuaded to remove the legal barriers.

Truman Memoirs Give GOP Political Ammunition

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "O that mine enemy might write a book"—It's an old slogan and has its application to the 1956 presidential campaign. For the latest installment of the memoirs of former President Truman seeking to defend the loss of China to the free world is about as useful a piece of political ammunition as the Republicans could acquire this year.

When, as Mr. Truman declares in the current installment published in Life magazine, the loss of China is due to the fact that Chiang Kai-shek wasn't "conciliatory" enough toward the Chinese Communists, the whole issue surrounding the Democratic administration's tragic policies in the Far East is revived.

Russell's Role

Politicians expect Senator Richard B. Russell (D), Georgia, to emerge as one of the chief thorns in the Eisenhower administration's side during this session of Congress. The influential Georgian is expected to lead the Democrats' attack on the President's request for $4 billion $900 million in foreign aid funds.

Russell, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, also is believed ready to assail the administration's defense program, which calls for a billion-dollar boost in military spending. The senator's displeasure with the White House was sharply reflected in his caustic criticism of Mr. Eisenhower's State of the Union message, which Russell said seemed to be filled with "New Deal shibboleths and platitudes."

Pulling Punches

Well-informed Democrats do not believe that all-out battles will develop between Adlai E. Stevenson and Senator Estes Kefauver in the presidential primary contests where they are pitted against each other. This is the reasoning behind the prediction that the Stevenson vs. Kefauver jousts will be conducted on a polite, we-don't-hate-each-other basis:

The Tennessee senator and his top advisers are said to believe that Stevenson really does have the nomination in the bag. Also, despite Kefauver's insistence that he isn't interested in the vice presidency, the word is that he would settle for that honor and hope for better in 1960.

As for Stevenson, he is pictured as realizing that the homespun Kefauver enjoys great personal popularity in many parts of the country and that little would be gained by an all-out attack on him.

Urinary Tract Infections Are Very Prevalent

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Infections of the bladder and renal passageways are almost as prevalent as colds and other respiratory disorders. Burning and frequency of urination are the most common symptoms of urinary tract infections and diagnosis is made through urinalysis. A variety of micro-organisms are responsible and they usually can be eliminated by our modern sulfonamides or antibiotics.

But the condition is not always this easy to remedy because some bacteria are resistant to certain antibiotics and unless the right drug is pitted against the right germ, cure may not follow. This explains why the same remedy does not work in all cases and why the culprit must be uncovered, preferably before treatment is started.

Long before penicillin and the sulfonamides were discovered, physicians had been searching for an ideal antiseptic to sterilize the urinary tract. Drugs that killed germs were available but they were too irritating to the lining of the bladder and urinary tract. The best were compounds that made the urine slightly acid and, so long as the sufferer drank plenty of water, the medicine was tolerated.

It was agreed generally that when infection occured without associated stone, tumor, or obstruction, it disappeared in much the same way as an ordinary sore throat or head cold. On the other hand, when these complications were present, the victim seldom got well until they were eliminated. The same holds true today.

The usefulness of the sulfonamides and antibiotics in treating ordinary bladder infection depends upon their specific activity against the micro-organisms. At present, so many antimicrobic compounds are on the market for urinary infections, a busy physician would have to be a genius to remember the names of half of them.

As a result, the majority of medicos utilize only those known to react against the most frequent offenders. For this reason, the physician is likely to start with a sulfonamide such as sulfathiazole or sulfadiazine. These products are inexpensive, act rapidly, and seldom are toxic in the dose needed to sterilze the urine.

The antibiotics are not used unless the sulfa compounds fail. Furadantin and the tetracyclines are broad spectrum antibiotics, meaning they are effective against a variety of organisms, many of which inhabit the urinary tract.

Drugs of this nature are taken by mouth and reach the kidneys by way of the blood stream and become active as soon as they are excreted into the urine.

MORGUE EMPLOYE

M. O. writes: Does working in the morgue have a bad effect upon the health?

REPLY

LEAVING THE HOSPITAL

Mrs. A. S. writes: Recently a physician told my husband that a hospital patient can get up, dress, and walk out whenever he thinks he is well. I say you cannot go until released by the hospital or the doctor who is caring for you. What are the rules in this matter?

REPLY

A hospital is not a jail and if the patient wants to leave, the hospital asks him to sign a release as a protection against liability.

DEPENDS ON CAUSE

S. D. writes: Is jaundice contagious?

REPLY

Jaundice means yellowish discoloration of the tissues and as such, is not contagious. There are many causes, of which viral hepatitis is one. It may occur in epidemic form but here the organism is transmitted via contaminated food or water rather than thru personal contact.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Newbold Morris tells of a day he was visiting Radio City Music Hall with the late Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia. The spotlight was turned on the organist. "Newbold," whispered the Mayor, "that's how a city should be run. Like an organist, you must keep both hands on the keyboard and both feet on the pedals—and never let go."

A minute later a cop tapped him on the shoulder and told him a three-alarm fire was raging some miles away. "The Little Flower" charged up the aisle, and minutes later disappeared into the burning building. He was the last to emerge before the walls crumbled to the ground.

Mike Halbouty, Houston geologist, has a neighbor who spent all his business life drilling and only struck oil once. "It's not such a bad record," adds Mike. "He's a dentist."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Now that one large Hollywood studio has sold a huge batch of its old films for television use we wonder if the TV late midnight movie show may not last until breakfast.

The outlook is blacker than ever for Illinois speedsters now that state cops are using multi-colored cars in nabbing traffic violators.

New gadgets may make it possible to drive a car 20,000 miles without an oil change? But who, these days, drives a car 20,000 miles before trading it in?

One-third of the people of the United States, according to Factographs, live in areas where there is no access to a public library. What with TV they probably don't realize it.

Some tortoises, according to a science item, are 300 or more years old. Must be quite a deal, to remember the "good, old days" back in 1656.

F. E. F., a long-time admirer of actress Grace Kelly, says he won't mind at all referring to our Grace as her royal highness.

Some 12,000 mink on Canadian government-sponsored farms in Newfoundland are raised on whale meat, we read. No wonder their fur is so durned expensive!

A British Comet jetliner spanned the Atlantic in six-and-a-half hours. Columbus was born too soon. Today he could have discovered America between a late breakfast and an early dinner.

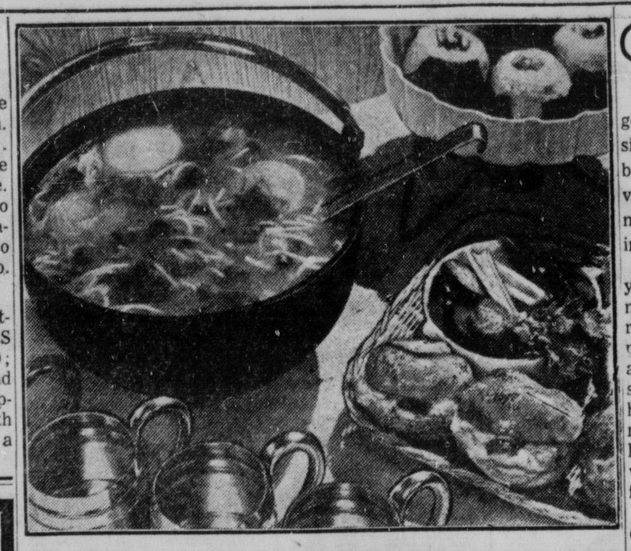
"Hotten" The Soup Kettle

A big kettle of steaming soup. The table set by the fireside. What's cosier on a cold winter's night?

SOUP SUPPERS suit winter entertaining plans to a "T". Firstly, a stout hot chowder appeals to everyone. Menfolks come back for seconds and thirds. And feminine guests eat their share, as they blithely count calories and see how soup favors figures.

FOR WEIGHT WATCHERS (Always on guard after holidays) several canned condensed soups are especially fine. They offer good protein with minimum calories. Among these: Beef, vegetable beef, pepper pot, Scotch broth. Start with any one of these . . . add another soup . . . and you have a tantalizing creation, a soup-mate. These four meaty soups take to each other in all sorts of combinations, just like coffee takes to cream. "Eeny meeny, miny, mo. Mix them any way."

IN KEEPING with the hot tempting soup are EGG-BURGERS (scrambled egg sandwiches); heaps of cold crisp relishes; and light dessert like spicy baked apples or fluffy snow pudding (with lemon gelatin.) Have yourself a fling, mixing cans of soup.



ON a wintry night, plan a fireside supper around a big kettle of soup. Guests will gather gladly for this kind of party. Offer them one of the high-appeal canned soups that's in the low-calorie group: Beef noodle; beef; pepper pot; or Scotch broth. Eggburgess (scrambled eggs) and vegetable relishes share honors with the soup. Happy climax—spicy baked apples and coffee.

Dad's Beef Soup

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed beef soup
1½ soup cans water
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed beef noodle soup

Pour beef soup into saucepan and blend in the water; stir in the beef noodle soup. Simmer the soups several minutes to blend flavors and heat well. Season, if you like, with browned slices of onion or parsley. Ladle into bowls or mugs. This makes 3 or 4 servings. Increase recipe to serve a party.

Scotch Chicken Chowder

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken noodle soup
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed Scotch broth
1½ soup cans water

Pour soups and water into pan; blend and heat well. Add some finely chopped celery and green pepper or pimiento if you like. Ladle into bowls or mugs. Yields 3 or 4 portions. Increase recipe according to number of guests.

Short Ribs Add Variety

During the winter months, it's difficult to find new and unusual main dishes liked by both Dad and the children. For conformity, some homemakers find themselves preparing similar cuts of meat the same way week after week.

Spiced short ribs, according to meat expert Reba Staggs, have unique flavor, which results from braising the meat with spices and fruit. Just try them — you'll probably have helpers in the kitchen next time you prepare this new winter dish.

Spiced Short Ribs

3 pounds beef short ribs
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons lard
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup water
1 cup prunes
1 cup dried apricots
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
3 tablespoons vinegar

Dredge meat with flour and brown in lard. Pour off drippings. Season and add water. Cover and simmer for one hour. Add prunes, apricots, and mixture of sugar, spices and vinegar. Continue simmering one hour or until tender. 6 servings.

Ginger Ale Apple Pie

Did you ever hear of using ginger ale in a pie? It sounds impossible, but when ginger ale is combined with applesauce, apple flavored gelatin and heavy cream, it makes just about the best pie filling you've ever tasted.

Make your pie shell first. Start your oven heating to 425°F., then make the pie pastry. The pastry recipe given here for one nine-inch pie shell is a cinch to make. It's a recipe which requires no special skill because with it you can't have a failure. And there's no need to handle it lightly or gingerly, as some pie crust recipes advise, because it never loses its famous flakiness.

Measure one and one half cups of sifted flour, one half teaspoon salt into a bowl. Then, with two knives or a pastry blender cut in one-half cup of shortening until it is the size of small peas. Remove one-fourth cup of this mixture and add to it, three tablespoons of water. Add to the rest of the shortening-flour mixture, mix and form into a ball. On a lightly floured surface, roll pastry into a 12 inch circle. Start rolling in the center of the dough, first to the right, then to the left. Next, roll the crust from the center, away from you, then from the center toward you. Rolling dough from the center makes it easier to keep circular. If your first try doesn't suit you, pick up the dough, shape it into a ball again and start over. Extra handling will never spoil this pie crust. Place the pastry in a pie plate, flute the edges, prick the bottom and sides with a fork and bake for 12-15 minutes, or until light golden. You'll want to save this recipe.

Now for the unusual filling:

Saucy Apple Filling

2 cups applesauce
¼-½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons sugar
1 package apple flavored gelatin dessert
1 cup cold ginger ale
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

In saucepan, combine applesauce, cinnamon, lemon juice and sugar; cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture comes to boil. Add gelatin dessert and stir until dissolved. Stir in ginger ale. Chill several hours or until mixture mounds. Fold in cream. Turn into baked pie shell. Chill until set. If desired, garnish each serving with dab of whipped cream and sprinkling of chopped nuts.

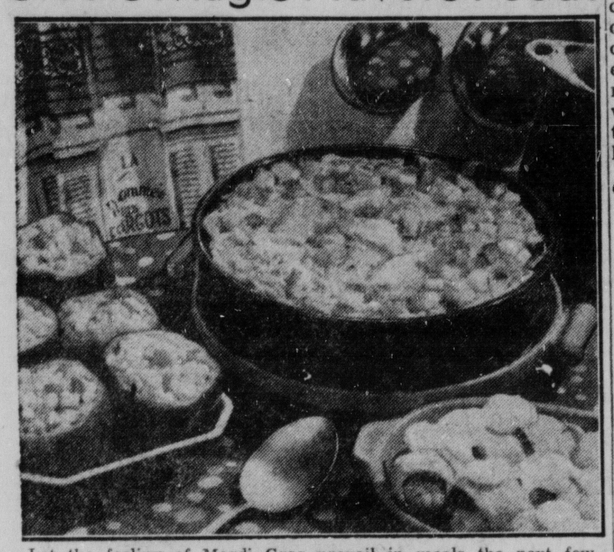
Creole Magic Flavors Foods



Let the feeling of Mardi Gras prevail in meals the next few months. Then you'll be sure of interesting menus like Creole Chicken Spaghett with Stuffed Green Peppers and Creole Baked Bananas.

The gaiety of the Mardi Gras season is whirling this way and serves as a grand reminder that famous New Orleans recipes can put an indefinable deliciousness into daily meals.

Culinary gems from the French Quarter are the genuis of those people of French or Spanish descent, the Creoles. Dishes of these nationalities, so famous for their table delicacies, were spiced by African cooks with secretive, mystifying seasonings.

When Negro Mammies added their tropical touch, they put New Orleans cooking on a glittering stage, far above any other Creole cooking in the world. Specialties of the Bayou are still undergoing changes due to pressures of modern times and influences of other nationalities. But Creole sparkle will compliment any dish . . . and to prove it, here is Italian spaghetti given the Louisiana touch.

Creole Chicken Spaghetti

- 1 cup bread cubes
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ medium green pepper, sliced
- 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
- 1 can (5-ounce size) boned chicken
- 1¼ cups cooked thin spaghetti (¼ pound uncooked)
- 1 cup cubed process cheese

Brown bread cubes in butter; remove from pan and save. Add onion and green pepper; cook until brown. Stir in soup, chicken, spaghetti and cheese; simmer until cheese is melted and flavors blend. Top with browned bread cubes. 4 servings.

Stuffed vegetables are typical of Creole gastronomy and that includes STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS. To prepare them, first wash and core peppers; remove seeds. Simmer together in butter . . . whole kernel corn, and chopped pimiento. Salt and pepper to taste. Stuff green peppers with corn and bake until tender. CREOLE BAKED BANANAS are a unique New Orleans specialty. They originated as a quick substitute for pie. To make them, roll peeled whole bananas in sugar and cinnamon. Wrap them individually in pie crust. Bake at 450°F. until pastry is brown.

Sunshine Dessert---Frozen Orange - Rice Pudding

Frozen desserts always seem extra special after any meal so you'll welcome this brand new idea for a refreshing frozen orange-rice pudding. The whipped cream gives a heavenly flavor. Frozen concentrated orange juice is stirred into the pudding to give a marbled effect and "tree-ripe" orange sweetness. It's an easy dessert to make because the low cost rice cooks in only 14 minutes. Your refrigerator does the rest.

Pork Chop Casserole
Buttered Lima Beans
Tossed Vegetable Salad
Hot Corn Bread
Frozen Orange-Rice Pudding

Ingredients:
- 1⅓ cups water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅔ cup uncooked white rice
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup beet or cane sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ½ pint whipping cream
- ½ cup frozen concentrated orange juice

Method: Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes. Immediately remove lid and stir in the milk, sugar and vanilla. Cover and allow to cool.

When the rice has cooled, stir to make the mixture creamy. Whip the cream until thick. Fold the rice into the whipped cream. Immediately place in a freezing tray.

Stir the frozen concentrated orange juice through the rice-whipped cream mixture with circular motions to make swirls of orange juice through the rice mixture. Place in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator until frozen. If dessert becomes too hard, remove from freezing compartment to soften slightly before serving. If desired, garnish servings with fresh orange sections.

This recipe makes 12 servings.

Mushroom-Egg Cheese Sandwich

Perfect to enjoy as a fireside snack or after an evening of bridge — Mushroom - Egg - Cheese Sandwiches. Combine a 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1 unbeaten egg yolk, ¼ cup chopped mushrooms, 1 tablespoon soft butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Toast 6 slices of bread on one side. Spread mushroom-egg mixture on untoasted side of bread, using 2 tablespoons of mixture on each slice. Place on cookie sheet and broil under medium heat for 5 minutes.

Sunday Night Supper Surprise

A crisp corn waffle is the surprising secret of this Shrimp and Waffle Supreme. A delightfully different treat that's ideal for Sunday night supper or spur-of-the-moment serving.

Shrimp And Waffle Supreme

Waffles:
- 1 pkg. (12 oz.) Corn Muffin Mix
- 1 egg
- 1¼ cups milk
- 2 tbls. melted shortening

Shrimp filling:
- 1 pkg. frozen shrimp (ready to cook type)
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 can condensed mushroom soup

Empty contents of package into bowl; add egg, milk and shortening, and beat until smooth. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Bake on hot waffle iron until golden brown.

As they bake, place frozen shrimp (no need to defrost) directly in saucepan with 3 tablespoons butter. Cook at high heat for 5 minutes. Blend in can of condensed soup and season to taste. Heat and serve immediately on hot waffles. Makes 6 servings.

Voted Best for Flavor by 2 to 1

AGAINST LEADING INSTANT COFFEES! AGAINST GROUND COFFEES!

In carefully conducted tests where housewives had no knowledge of brand or type of coffee served—they chose this full-bodied instant, even over ground coffees!

MRS. GEORGE F. TREXLER—"Where can I buy it? That's what I wanted to know after I found out it was instant coffee I chose. It's the best I ever tasted."

MRS. DIMITRI PAULISTA—"This instant coffee has real body—not weak and watery like other instants. I can even serve my husband this coffee at breakfast."

Creole Magic Flavors Foods

Let the feeling of Mardi Gras prevail in meals the next few months. Then you'll be sure of interesting menus like Creole Chicken Spaghetti with Stuffed Green Peppers and Creole Baked Bananas.

The gaiety of the Mardi Gras season is whirling this way and serves as a grand reminder that famous New Orleans recipes can put an indefinable deliciousness into daily meals.

Culinary gems from the French Quarter are the genuis of those people of French or Spanish descent, the Creoles. Dishes of these nationalities, so famous for their table delicacies, were spiced by African cooks with secretive, mystifying seasonings.

When Negro Mammies added their tropical touch, they put New Orleans cooking on a glittering stage, far above any other Creole cooking in the world. Specialties of the Bayou are still undergoing changes due to pressures of modern times and influences of other nationalities. But Creole sparkle will compliment any dish . . . and to prove it, here is Italian spaghetti given the Louisiana touch.

Creole Chicken Spaghetti

- 1 cup bread cubes
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ medium green pepper, sliced
- 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
- 1 can (5-ounce size) boned chicken
- 1¼ cups cooked thin spaghetti (¼ pound uncooked)
- 1 cup cubed process cheese

Brown bread cubes in butter; remove from pan and save. Add onion and green pepper; cook until brown. Stir in soup, chicken, spaghetti and cheese; simmer until cheese is melted and flavors blend. Top with browned bread cubes. 4 servings.

Stuffed vegetables are typical of Creole gastronomy and that includes STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS. To prepare them, first wash and core peppers; remove seeds. Simmer together in butter . . . whole kernel corn, and chopped pimiento. Salt and pepper to taste. Stuff green peppers with corn and bake until tender. CREOLE BAKED BANANAS are a unique New Orleans specialty. They originated as a quick substitute for pie. To make them, roll peeled whole bananas in sugar and cinnamon. Wrap them individually in pie crust. Bake at 450°F. until pastry is brown.

Sunshine Dessert---Frozen Orange-Rice Pudding

Frozen desserts always seem extra special after any meal so you'll welcome this brand new idea for a refreshing frozen orange-rice pudding. The whipped cream gives a heavenly flavor. Frozen concentrated orange juice is stirred into the pudding to give a marbled effect and "tree-ripe" orange sweetness. It's an easy dessert to make because the low cost rice cooks in only 14 minutes. Your refrigerator does the rest.

Pork Chop Casserole
Buttered Lima Beans
Tossed Vegetable Salad
Hot Corn Bread
Frozen Orange-Rice Pudding

Ingredients:
- 1⅛ cups water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅔ cup uncooked white rice
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup beet or cane sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ½ pint whipping cream
- ½ cup frozen concentrated orange juice

Method: Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes. Immediately remove lid and stir in the milk, sugar and vanilla. Cover and allow to cool.

When the rice has cooled, stir to make the mixture creamy. Whip the cream until thick. Fold the rice into the whipped cream. Immediately place in a freezing tray.

Stir the frozen concentrated orange juice through the rice-whipped cream mixture with circular motions to make swirls of orange juice through the rice mixture. Place in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator until frozen. If dessert becomes too hard, remove from freezing compartment to soften slightly before serving. If desired, garnish servings with fresh orange sections.

This recipe makes 12 servings.

Mushroom-Egg Cheese Sandwich

Perfect to enjoy as a fireside snack or after an evening of bridge — Mushroom - Egg - Cheese Sandwiches. Combine a 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1 unbeaten egg yolk, ¼ cup chopped mushrooms, 1 tablespoon soft butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Toast 6 slices of bread on one side. Spread mushroom-egg mixture on untoasted side of bread, using 2 tablespoons of mixture on each slice. Place on cookie sheet and broil under medium heat for 5 minutes.

Beef Quality Sets Method Of Cookery

The quality of beef and the tenderness of the cuts are the two factors which determine the cooking methods to be used in their preparation. Tender cuts of beef should be cooked by roasting, broiling and panbroiling.

The less tender cuts of beef should be cooked by braising or in liquid to the well-done stage.

All cuts of meat, including beef, should be cooked at low or moderate temperatures.

Dry Heat

There are three methods of cooking beef by dry heat: 1, roasting; 2, broiling, and 3, panbroiling.

Roasting—Season the meat with salt and pepper, place fat side up in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer into largest muscle. Add no water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) until desired degree of doneness.

Broiling—Place steak, chop or pattie on rack of broiler. Insert pan so the top of the steak or chop is 1 to 2 inches from the heat. When top side is brown, season and turn.

Panbroiling — Place meat in heavy frying pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Cook slowly, turning occasionally. Brown meat on both sides.

Moist Heat

Braising—Brown meat on both sides in a heavy fryingpan. If desired, coat meat with flour. Season and add a small amount of liquid, if necessary. Cover tightly and cook at a low temperature until tender.

Cooking in Liquid—Brown meat on both sides in lard. Season, cover with liquid, cover kettle, and cook below boiling point until tender. Add vegetables just long enough before serving to be cooked.

Nutrition Of Beef

Research has proved beef to be a concentrated source of high quality protein. Beef is also a rich source of the B-vitamins — thiamine, riboflavin and niacin — all necessary for growth and health and normal functioning of the body.

Apple Pie With Lemon Sherbet

Here is a new version of an old-time favorite flavor combination—apples and lemon. Top wedges of luscious apple pie, purchased from bakery or food shop, with scoops of lemon sherbet for a new taste thrill.

Apricot Dessert

Everyone likes apricots so treat your family and friends to this apricot dessert.

Cover and cook 2 cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt and ½ cup uncooked white rice over a very low heat until rice absorbs milk. Stir occasionally. Beat in 2 egg yolks, ⅓ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Stir in 1½ cups cut up, cooked apricots and ½ cup chopped pecans. Bake in a greased oven dish at 350°F. for 30 minutes. Pudding will have a creamy consistency. If desired, top with a meringue made with the egg whites.

Grapes Accent Chicken

There are a myriad of ways to serve chicken salad . . . but for an extra special party salad mix green grapes, pecans, and chicken with a piquant gelatine base. Soften contents of 1 package unflavored gelatine in ½ cup cold water. Place container of gelatine over hot water until gelatine is dissolved. Stir in ½ cup salad dressing and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Fold together gelatine mixture, 2 cans (5-ounce size) boned chicken or turkey, 1 cup seedless green grapes, 1 cup diced celery, ¼ cup chopped pecans, dash salt and pepper. Pour into buttered 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. 6 generous servings.

Chicken Spread Varies Sandwiches

Canned chicken spread makes it easy to fix a variety of chicken sandwiches, differing widely in flavor and texture. Here are three new sandwich ideas.

1. Chicken Crunch Sandwiches: Mix 1 can (½ cup) chicken spread with ¼ cup chopped peanuts. Spread mayonnaise on slices of bread. Make 4 sandwiches.
2. Fiesta Chicken Sandwiches: Combine 1 can (½ cup) chicken spread, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, and ¼ cup chopped olives. Spread to make 4 sandwiches.
3. Piquant Chicken Sanndwiches: Blend ¼ cup mayonnaise with 1 can (½ cup) chicken spread. Stir in ½ cup pickle relish. Make 4 sandwiches.

A New Taste Sensation Sandwich Style

French fried. That's the unique taste sensation in sandwiches. They're something you won't forget and won't want to. It takes only about two minutes to make them and the taste is strictly new. They're crispy, crunchy and brown when fried in pure vegetable shortening and so digestible you can serve them every day if you like, even to children. They make quick and delicious lunch treats, and are perfect to serve as an after bridge bite.

Use close textured bread for these sandwiches; day old, even two day old bread works better than fresh. Rye and whole wheat are fine. Place as much filling as you are accustomed to using between the bread slices, spreading to the edges. Press the slices together firmly, then dip in an egg-milk mixture (2 eggs to two-thirds of a cup of milk gives good results), then into a breading material such as bread crumbs, cracker meal or a prepared breading mix. Bread crumbs will probably work best because they brown faster.

Use a deep fryer for making these sandwiches, and fill it about half full. Heat the shortening to 365°F. or until an inch cube of bread will brown in 60 seconds. If you have an electric deep fryer, you need only to set the dial. Then drop your sandwich into the hot shortening and watch how quickly it browns. Hold it under the surface of the shortening with a spoon or fork. It should be ready in about two minutes. Not only will it be crunchy and delicious, but it will be hot all the way through. Drain these sandwiches on absorbent paper and serve them piping hot. Cut them into triangle or rectangles to make them extra attractive. Here are some suggestions for fillings to add to your own collection of favorites.

Sandwich fillings:

Cheese And Ham

Mix 1 cup coarsely grated sharp process cheese with 1 cup coarsely ground cooked ham; 3 tablespoons evaporated milk, 3 tablespoons pickle relish; ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, dash salt and pepper.

Tangy Egg

Mix 4 finely chopped hard-cooked eggs with ¼ cup minced ripe or stuffed olives, ½ to 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, and ¼ cup mayonnaise.

Saucy Tuna Treat

Mix 1 6½-oz. can chunk style tuna, drained with ⅓ cup chopped celery, ¼ cup applesauce, ¼ cup mayonnaise and 4 slices processed American cheese, diced.

Nut And Cream Cheese

Mix cream cheese with chopped olives and coarsely chopped pecans.

Spaghetti Goes Farm-Style

Cook up a skillet supper of sausage, spaghetti and corn. There's a heap of good eating right out of a country kitchen. Make the dish with saucy canned spaghetti and you're ready to serve in 15 minutes. First brown ½ pound sausage (links or patties) in the skillet. Pour off excess fat. Slip in 1 can of spaghetti in tomato sauce (1¾ cups) and 2 cups of cooked whole kernel corn (1-pound can, drained). Heat, stirring now and then. Feed this FARM-STYLE SPAGHETTI to 4 hungry "hands". Side dishes are buttered cabbage and apple-grape salad.

Short Ribs Tasty And Easy To Prepare

Short ribs are tasty and so easy to fix. Dip 2 pounds of short ribs, cut into six portions, in seasoned flour. Brown in hot fat. Add ½ cup chopped onion, 1 cup diced carrots, 1 cup diced celery and 1 cup water. Cover and simmer 1¼ hours or until meat is tender. Add ¼ cup water to 1 tablespoon flour and mix well. Slowly stir into the liquid around the ribs. Cook, stirring, 5 minutes. Serve over lots of fluffy white rice.

Non-Frozen Lemonade Concentrate Makes Hot Toddy For Cold Weather

Here's a cheery new idea for the old time remedy for winter colds — it's flaming lemonade toddy — as delicious and healthful as it is exciting and dramatic. Homemakers who want something special for that member of the family burdened with "the winter sniffles" will doubly appreciate this recipe for flaming lemonade toddy because it's so quick 'n easy to make.

All you do is mix one six ounce can of non-frozen lemonade concentrate with four cans of hot water — makes a big quart, enough for six servings. There's no muss to clean up either and you can be sure of always having non-frozen concentrate on hand because it keeps right on your pantry shelf.

After filling cups with toddy, carefully slip one spoonful of pure lemon extract on top of the surface. The extract will ignite at the touch of a match into dancing purple red flame and burn brilliantly for a minute or two before dying down. Stir toddy thoroughly to mix the delicious fruit meats of the lemonade concentrate.

Flaming lemonade toddy makes a special surprise treat for company guests. Serve lemonade in darkened room during TV intermission and ignite with a match just at the right second when all eyes are turned to your surprise serving.

Spanish Rice And Piggies

Piggie sausage and Spanish rice are two American favorites. Here they are combined to make a delicious main dish which takes advantage of the good buys in plentiful rice and pork. Whatever recipe you've been using for Spanish rice will take second place after you've used this recipe.

Spanish Rice and Piggies
Broccoli with Hollandaise Sauce
Buttered String Beans
Hot Biscuits
Lemon Chiffon Pie

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 lb. pork sausage links
- 1 cup onion, coarsely chopped
- 1 cup celery, chopped
- 3 cups water
- 1 cup uncooked white rice
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon chili powder
- 1 No. 303 can tomatoes and juice
- 2 bay leaves

METHOD: Place the sausage in a skillet and brown on all sides. Remove from the skillet. Add the celery and onion and cook until almost tender. Strain off the fat.

Place the onion, celery, water, rice, salt, pepper, chili powder, tomatoes and bay leaves in a greased 2-quart oven dish. Place in a pre-heated 400°F. oven. Cover with a lid. Bake for 45 minutes. Stir well. Cover and bake 15 more minutes. Uncover and arrange the sausages links over the top of the rice mixture. Return to the oven and bake 15 more minutes. Additional water may be added if a thinner mixture is desired.

This recipe makes 5 to 6 servings.

Fort Hill-Allegany, Bruce-Valley Games Head Cage Card

Ridgeley High Quint To Play In Moorefield

Elk Garden To Test Circleville; Thomas Hosts Parsons High

The W.M.I. Basketball League race reaches the halfway mark tonight and the standout games of the evening bring together Bruce and Valley at Lonaconing and Fort Hill and Allegany on the Campobello court.

Valley, Bruce and Allegany are now tied for first place in the six-school circuit with 3-1 records. The winner of the battle between the Black Knights and Bulldogs is certain to remain on top and Allegany must dispose of the Sentinels to stay there. Fort Hill has split even in four league engagements.

The Fort Hill-Allegany series started in 1947 and Camper teams have emerged victorious 28 times while losing 12.

Fort Hill knocked Allegany out of the county Class "A" race last season by winning the series finale, 59-57, after the Campers had captured the opener, 52-49.

Tonight's battle is the first intracity tilt of the campaign. LaSalle, Allegany and Fort Hill turned in 2-2 records to finish in a triple tie last season.

The third league game on tap tonight brings together the Mt. Savage Indians (1-3) and Beall's defending champions, who are winless in four starts, on the Beall High court.

Ridgeley At Moorefield

Two games hold the spotlight in Potomac Valley Conference action tonight.

The No. 1 attraction is Ridgeley at Moorefield. These schools are top contenders for the title and a humdinger of a battle should result when they lock horns. Moorefield is 6-2 in the conference while Ridgeley is 5-2. The Blackhawks have whipped West Virginia Deaf, Romney, Fort Ashby, twice, and Piedmont while losing to Elk Garden and Keyser. Johnny Paugh's Yellow Jackets have trimmed Mathias, Wardensville, twice, Franklin, twice, and Romney and were defeated by Keyser and Piedmont.

Circleville Faces Test

Circleville High, heading the P.V.C. race with a 3-0 record, is expected to have its hands full tonight when it meets the amazing Elk Garden Elks at Circleville. Circleville spilled Petersburg to start the season and brushed aside Franklin and Mathias, much weaker foes. Elk Garden (5-3) has split even with both Piedmont and Keyser, beat Ridgeley and Fort Ashby and lost to Southern of Oakland in league engagements. Elk Garden looms as the toughest team on the Indians' conference schedule of eight games. If Guy Propst's team can hurdle the Elks it has a good opportunity to finish in first place.

Other P.V.C. action tonight finds Fort Ashby at West Virginia School for the Deaf, Petersburg at Keyser and Piedmont at Romney.

Parsons Invades Thomas

Tucker county has a gilt-edge attraction tonight in the first clash of the season between Ed Supak's Mountaineer High cagers and Bob Sullivan's Parsons Panthers. Both teams own 6-1 records and the contest at Thomas should pack 'em in.

Rowlesburg High's River Lions play Southern High at Oakland, Oldtown is at Hyndman, Harman at Franklin, Berkeley Springs at Wardensville and Martinsburg at Frederick in other tilts on tonight's card.

Mathias High Wins At Paw Paw, 56-43

PAW PAW, W. Va., Jan. 19—Mathias High School handed Paw Paw High's Pirates their 12th consecutive defeat here tonight, winning by the score of 56-43.

By C. V. BURNS

GENE DAWSON, current leader in the W.M.I. Basketball League scoring race, has collected 10 points in four games and is running ahead of the pace set by Bob Kirk of Barton, who hung up the all-time mark of 235 points in 1953.

To catch Kirk, the Bruce High sharpshooter must score 134 points in six games and average better than 22.3 points a game to establish a new record. At the present time Dawson's average is 25.25

Dawson has scored 31 points against Beall, 17 against Fort Hill, 17 against Mt. Savage and 36 against Allegany. He has 40 field goals and a foul shooting average of .750, sinking 21 out of 28 shots.

Kirk scored 92 points in the first four games in 1953. His point totals for the 10 games were: 19, 28, 27, 18, 25, 29, 21, 25, 26 and 17. Barton lost all 10 league games the year Bob established the league scoring record.

The league all-time high for a single game is 52 points, set by John J. Long, of Allegany County High School, present Cumberland finance commissioner, against Bruce High on the Greene Street court in 1924. Long tallied 23 goals and 6-14 fouls in Allegany's 76-11 victory.

THE 87-69 beating absorbed by Allegany at the hands of Bruce High at Westernport Tuesday night was the worst in five seasons and 97 games for the Campers. Early in the 1951-52 season Westmont of Johnstown defeated AHS by a 22-point margin, 72-50. Last year Allegany socked Bruce, 79-57.

OVERLOOKED in the story about Tommy Mont being named head football coach at the University of Maryland was the fact that he won the Charles E. Babst Award at Allegany High School in 1940, his senior year.

This award goes anuually to the top student-athlete and Mont is among the 31 winners to receive gold wrist watches from Charles E. Babst, Allegany alumnus, now with the Celanese Corporation in New York City.

AT THE FALL session of the Potomac Valley Conference, Paul Kalbaugh, Elk Garden basketball mentor, asked that the Elks' two games with Southern High of Oakland be included in the standings.

That's why the Oakland team appears in the P.V.C. standings even though the Highlanders play only the two games with a conference quint.

Southern plays a regular schedule in the football division of the circuit.

C. A. "BUD" TESCH, former principal at Salem (W. Va.) High School, will direct the American Legion's junior baseball program out of Indianapolis this year.

Tesch succeeds Lee Pennington as the Legion's national Americanism director. He has been assistant director since 1952.

"Bud" was past adjutant of the American Legion in West Virginia.

D. ELDRED RINEHART, of Smithsburg, chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission, has one of the toughest jobs in the state.

He makes an effort to satisfy at least ten tracks in regard to racing dates. Some are trying to duck the World Series, others want to avoid a conflict with out-of-state tracks or shy away from dates on which county fairs are held.

Rinehart points out that even the political angle entered the picture this year when Baltimore Raceway harness track informed him that it didn't want to operate in August because the dates would conflict with the nominating conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties.

These races are staged at night and it seems that political conventions make a better show and pull a bigger gate (television-wise) than do the harness races.

Baltimore was granted October dates and now Laurel is crying murder because there is a conflict.

Then they wonder why Rinehart goes around whistling:

"After You Get What You Want You Don't Want It."

ELMER H. RIPLEY, one of the greatest teachers in American basketball, left this week for Israel to spend a year teaching basketball and conducting clinics for the youth of that nation.

Ripley, 63, will be remembered as one of the classy guards of the old New York Original Celtics and the Cleveland Rosenblums. He coached college basketball for 25 years, serving at Georgetown, Yale, Columbia, Notre Dame, John Carroll and West Point before retiring three years ago.

In his playing days he was a teammate of such pro stars as Nat Holman, Joe Lapchick, Henry "Dutch" Dehnert, Pete Barry and Johnny Beckman.

Ripley made a round-the-world tour with the Globetrotters in 1953 and conducted clinics at U.S. Army camps along the route. His home is at New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y.

CARL HARTMAN, former Ridgeley High School and Alderson-Broaddus College scoring ace, has appeared in all of the 14 games played by the Goodyear Wingfoots of the National Industrial League, and has scored 76 points. He is the team's top foul shooter with an average of .815 for 22 conversions in 27 attempts.

Goodyear, coached by "Hank" Vaughn, formerly of Akron U., is involved in a tight scramble for first place in the industrial circuit.

PAUL RICHARDS, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, hasn't lost his sense of humor.

He tells about the phone call he got one morning at 1:30 and the caller said he had a message for him.

"I asked him what it was," Paul relates, "and he said, 'Drop dead!' "

"We're still in business," Richards says.

"Any fan who'll call at 1:30 in the morning is interested."

Souchak Breaks Caliente Record

Shoots 7-Under-Par 65 In First Round

TIJUANA, Mex., Jan. 19 (AP)—Big Mike Souchak led a host of par wreckers through the first round of the $12,500 Caliente Golf Tournament today, shooting a seven under par 65 the first time he played the Tijuana Country Club Course.

He got here too late to play a practice round, but said he didn't think he could have played any better had he seen the par 36-36—72, 7,207-yard layout.

He toured the course in 34-31 for his 65, breaking the course record by one stroke.

Former amateur star Frank Stranahan, with 35-32, Rod Funseth, Spokane amateur, 34-33, and Ralph Bloomquist, Glendale, Calif., club professional, with 33-34, were tied behind Souchak at 67.

Deadlocked at 68 were Tony Holguin, of Midlothian, Ill., 35-33-68, and Tim Holland, Miami amateur, with 35-33-68.

The course played about 6800 yards today, and the home professional, Red Bost, who set the course record in June, 1955, said it would play about 7,000 tomorrow.

The slim, 20-year-old ice ballerina from Newton Center, Mass., regarded as a virtual championship cinch, was practicing on Cortina's glazed rink when suddenly on a backward glide she struck a hole in the ice. As she fell, the sharp edge of her left skate struck her right leg above the ankle.

Suffers Flesh Wound

Dr. Giuseppe Gasparini, official physician of the U.S. team, said there appeared to be no muscular or bone damage but Miss Albright suffered a "severe flesh wound."

The cut did not require stitches but the physician took immediate steps to see that the leg did not "freeze up."

"It hurts but it doesn't seem real bad," Tenley said after receiving treatment. "I'll do what the doctor says, but I hope to be on skates again in a couple of days."

The figure skating event is scheduled Jan. 30 with Miss Albright and Hayes Allen Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., favored for the individual championships.

Miss Albright's injury threw further gloom over America's pre-Olympic trials in all events, which have been marked by accidents and sub-par performances. The games open here next Thursday.

Katy Rodolph of Reno, Nev., a leading hopeful in the downhill skiing competition, suffered a fractured vertebra five days ago and is out of the games. Uncle Sam's bobsledders, skiers and skaters have been outclassed by the strong Russians, host Italians and the always formidable Scandinavians in preliminary tests.

Russian Sets Record

A powerful Russian speed skater, Oleg Goncharenko, won the 5,000 meter grind in the Swiss international championships at Davos today in the track record time of 7 minutes, 59.4 seconds.

Fort Hill-Allegany, Bruce-Valley Games Head Cage Card

Ridgeley High Quint To Play In Moorefield

Elk Garden To Test Circleville; Thomas Hosts Parsons High

The W.M.I. Basketball League race reaches the halfway mark tonight and the standout games of the evening bring together Bruce and Valley at Lonaconing and Fort Hill and Allegany on the Campobello court.

Valley, Bruce and Allegany are now tied for first place in the six-school circuit with 3-1 records. The winner of the battle between the Black Knights and Bulldogs is certain to remain on top and Allegany must dispose of the Sentinels to stay there. Fort Hill has split even in four league engagements.

The Fort Hill-Allegany series started in 1947 and Camper teams have emerged victorious 28 times while losing 12.

Fort Hill knocked Allegany out of the county Class "A" race last season by winning the series finale, 59-57, after the Campers had captured the opener, 52-49.

Tonight's battle is the first intra-city tilt of the campaign. LaSalle, Allegany and Fort Hill turned in 2-2 records to finish in a triple tie last season.

The third league game on tap tonight brings together the Mt. Savage Indians (1-3) and Beall's defending champions, who are winless in four starts, on the Beall High court.

Ridgeley At Moorefield

Two games hold the spotlight in Potomac Valley Conference action tonight.

The No. 1 attraction is Ridgeley at Moorefield. These schools are top contenders for the title and a humdinger of a battle should result when they lock horns. Moorefield is 6-2 in the conference while Ridgeley is 5-2. The Blackhawks have whipped West Virginia Deaf, Romney, Fort Ashby, twice, and Piedmont while losing to Elk Garden and Keyser. Johnny Paugh's Yellow Jackets have trimmed Mathias, Wardensville, twice, Franklin, twice, and Romney and were defeated by Keyser and Piedmont.

Circleville Faces Test

Circleville High, heading the P.V.C. race with a 3-0 record, is expected to have its hands full tonight when it meets the amazing Elk Garden Elks at Circleville. Circleville spilled Petersburg to start the season and brushed aside Franklin and Mathias, much weaker foes. Elk Garden (5-3) has split even with both Piedmont and Keyser, beat Ridgeley and Fort Ashby and lost to Southern of Oakland in league engagements. Elk Garden looms as the toughest team on the Indians' conference schedule of eight games. If Guy Propst's team can hurdle the Elks it has a good opportunity to finish in first place.

Other P.V.C. action tonight finds Fort Ashby at West Virginia School for the Deaf, Petersburg at Keyser and Piedmont at Romney.

Parsons Invades Thomas

Tucker county has a gilt-edge attraction tonight in the first clash of the season between Ed Supak's Mountaineer High cagers and Bob Sullivan's Parsons Panthers. Both teams own 6-1 records and the contest at Thomas should pack 'em in.

Rowlesburg High's River Lions play Southern High at Oakland, Oldtown is at Hyndman, Harman at Franklin, Berkeley Springs at Wardensville and Martinsburg at Frederick in other tilts on tonight's card.

Mathias High Wins At Paw Paw, 56-43

PAW PAW, W. Va., Jan. 19—Mathias High School handed Paw Paw High's Pirates their 12th consecutive defeat here tonight, winning by the score of 56-43.

The win was the second in 11 starts for Coach Wendell Mathias' Hardy Countians.

Emswiler and V. Wilkins were the chief point getters for the winners with 17 and 16 markers while Dispanet had 10. Charles Ziler and Junior Householder headed Paw Paw with 11 and 10 tallies.

Paw Paw played minus the services of Raymond Largent, regular forward, who is ill. Lineups:

By C. V. BURNS

GENE DAWSON, current leader in the W.M.I. Basketball League scoring race, has collected 10 points in four games and is running ahead of the pace set by Bob Kirk of Barton, who hung up the all-time mark of 235 points in 1953.

To catch Kirk, the Bruce High sharpshooter must score 134 points in six games and average better than 22.3 points a game to establish a new record. At the present time Dawson's average is 25.25

Dawson has scored 31 points against Beall, 17 against Fort Hill, 17 against Mt. Savage and 36 against Allegany. He has 40 field goals and a foul shooting average of .750, sinking 21 out of 28 shots.

Kirk scored 92 points in the first four games in 1953. His point totals for the 10 games were: 19, 28, 27, 18, 25, 29, 21, 25, 26 and 17. Barton lost all 10 league games the year Bob established the league scoring record.

The league all-time high for a single game is 52 points, set by John J. Long, of Allegany County High School, present Cumberland finance commissioner, against Bruce High on the Greene Street court in 1924. Long tallied 23 goals and 6-14 fouls in Allegany's 76-11 victory.

THE 87-69 beating absorbed by Allegany at the hands of Bruce High at Westernport Tuesday night was the worst in five seasons and 97 games for the Campers. Early in the 1951-52 season Westmont of Johnstown defeated AHS by a 22-point margin, 72-50. Last year Allegany socked Bruce, 79-57.

OVERLOOKED in the story about Tommy Mont being named head football coach at the University of Maryland was the fact that he won the Charles E. Babst Award at Allegany High School in 1940, his senior year.

This award goes anuually to the top student-athlete and Mont is among the 31 winners to receive gold wrist watches from Charles E. Babst, Allegany alumnus, now with the Celanese Corporation in New York City.

AT THE FALL session of the Potomac Valley Conference, Paul Kalbaugh, Elk Garden basketball mentor, asked that the Elks' two games with Southern High of Oakland be included in the standings.

That's why the Oakland team appears in the P.V.C. standings even though the Highlanders play only the two games with a conference quint.

Southern plays a regular schedule in the football division of the circuit.

C. A. "BUD" TESCH, former principal at Salem (W. Va.) High School, will direct the American Legion's junior baseball program out of Indianapolis this year.

Tesch succeeds Lee Pennington as the Legion's national Americanism director. He has been assistant director since 1952.

"Bud" was past adjutant of the American Legion in West Virginia.

D. ELDRED RINEHART, of Smithsburg, chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission, has one of the toughest jobs in the state.

He makes an effort to satisfy at least ten tracks in regard to racing dates. Some are trying to duck the World Series, others want to avoid a conflict with out-of-state tracks or shy away from dates on which county fairs are held.

Rinehart points out that even the political angle entered the picture this year when Baltimore Raceway harness track informed him that it didn't want to operate in August because the dates would conflict with the nominating conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties.

These races are staged at night and it seems that political conventions make a better show and pull a bigger gate (television-wise) than do the harness races.

Baltimore was granted October dates and now Laurel is crying murder because there is a conflict.

Then they wonder why Rinehart goes around whistling:

"After You Get What You Want You Don't Want It."

ELMER H. RIPLEY, one of the greatest teachers in American basketball, left this week for Israel to spend a year teaching basketball and conducting clinics for the youth of that nation.

Ripley, 63, will be remembered as one of the classy guards of the old New York Original Celtics and the Cleveland Rosenblums. He coached college basketball for 25 years, serving at Georgetown, Yale, Columbia, Notre Dame, John Carroll and West Point before retiring three years ago.

In his playing days he was a teammate of such pro stars as Nat Holman, Joe Lapchick, Henry "Dutch" Dehnert, Pete Barry and Johnny Beckman.

Ripley made a round-the-world tour with the Globetrotters in 1953 and conducted clinics at U.S. Army camps along the route. His home is at New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y.

CARL HARTMAN, former Ridgeley High School and Alderson-Broaddus College scoring ace, has appeared in all of the 14 games played by the Goodyear Wingfoots of the National Industrial League, and has scored 76 points. He is the team's top foul shooter with an average of .815 for 22 conversions in 27 attempts.

Goodyear, coached by "Hank" Vaughn, formerly of Akron U., is involved in a tight scramble for first place in the industrial circuit.

PAUL RICHARDS, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, hasn't lost his sense of humor.

He tells about the phone call he got one morning at 1:30 and the caller said he had a message for him.

"I asked him what it was," Paul relates, "and he said, 'Drop dead!'"

"We're still in business," Richards says.

"Any fan who'll call at 1:30 in the morning is interested."

Shoots 7-Under-Par 65 In First Round

TIJUANA, Mex., Jan. 19 (AP)—Big Mike Souchak led a host of par wreckers through the first round of the $12,500 Caliente Golf Tournament today, shooting a seven under par 65 the first time he played the Tijuana Country Club Course.

He got here too late to play a practice round, but said he didn't think he could have played any better had he seen the par 36-36—72, 7,207-yard layout.

He toured the course in 34-31 for his 65, breaking the course record by one stroke.

Former amateur star Frank Stranahan, with 35-32, Rod Funseth, Spokane amateur, 34-33, and Ralph Bloomquist, Glendale, Calif., club professional, with 33-34, were tied behind Souchak at 67.

Deadlocked at 68 were Tony Holguin, of Midlothian, Ill., 35-33-68, and Tim Holland, Miami amateur, with 35-33-68.

The course played about 6800 yards today, and the home professional, Red Bost, who set the course record in June, 1955, said it would play about 7,000 tomorrow.

He left the Dodger offices after an hour's conference and said that he would be back in a week to renew negotiations.

Roslyn Plays Tri-Staters In Piedmont

Legion Benefit Tilt Is Set For Tonight

Roslyn Air Force Base's basketball team will play the second of three games in this area tonight when it does battle with the Tri-State All-Stars on the Piedmont High School court at 8 o'clock.

The Interceptors opened their three - day invasion by playing Frostburg State Teachers College last night. Potomac State College will be met Saturday night in Keyser.

Tonight's game will be for the benefit of the newly organized drum and bugle corps of Victory Post, American Legion, of Westernport.

Roslyn's lineup will include Don Moran and Mike Nofsinger, former Bruce High stars, and Charley Lattimer, one-time Fort Hill basketball ace and center of University of Maryland football teams.

Basilio Gets Neil Plaque

Murphy Crowned "Rookie Of Year"

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Carmen Basilio, world welterweight champion received the Edward J. Neil plaque as "fighter of the year" for 1955 tonight at the 30th annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Assn.

Basilio, the rugged slugger from Canastota, N.Y. who won the title from Tony DeMarco and defended it successfully by knocking out DeMarco in his home town of Boston, accepted the plaque from Murray Rose, Associated Press writer. The plaque was named for Neil, former AP boxing writer who was killed while covering the revolutionary war in Spain.

Bob Murphy, unbeaten Boston welter, was crowned "rookie of the year" in 1955 with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano doing the honors.

Baptist Minister Shuns Grid Offer

WHEATON, Ill., Jan. 19 (AP) — Dave Burnham, the Baptist minister who made the Associated Press' Little All-America backfield at Wheaton College, today rejected an offer to play with the Washington Redskins.

Burnham, 21, a senior at Wheaton, said he would like to give professional football a try, but added: "I am called to the ministry of the gospel."

The 180-pound, 6-foot-2 backfield ace was the Redskins' 26th draft choice. He gained 3,498 yards in 30 games at Wheaton to set school and college conference of Illinois records.

Tenley Albright Suffers Injury During Practice

Hopes To Be Ready For Olympic Tests

By WEBB MCKINLEY

CORTINA, d'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 19 (AP)—Tenley Albright, America's world figure skating queen, gashed her right leg in a harrowing skating accident today, but insisted she would make her bid for an Olympic Gold Medal.

Suffers Flesh Wound

Dr. Giuseppe Gasparini, official physician of the U.S. team, said there appeared to be no muscular or bone damage but Miss Albright suffered a "severe flesh wound."

The cut did not require stitches but the physician took immediate steps to see that the leg did not "freeze up."

"It hurts but it doesn't seem real bad," Tenley said after receiving treatment. "I'll do what the doctor says, but I hope to be on skates again in a couple of days."

The figure skating event is scheduled Jan. 30 with Miss Albright and Hayes Allen Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., favored for the individual championships.

Miss Albright's injury threw further gloom over America's pre-Olympic trials in all events, which have been marked by accidents and sub-par performances. The games open here next Thursday.

Katy Rodolph of Reno, Nev., a leading hopeful in the downhill skiing competition, suffered a fractured vertebra five days ago and is out of the games. Uncle Sam's bobsledders, skiers and skaters have been outclassed by the strong Russians, host Italians and the always formidable Scandinavians in preliminary tests.

Russian Sets Record

A powerful Russian speed skater, Oleg Goncharenko, won the 5,000 meter grind in the Swiss international championships at Davos today in the track record time of 7 minutes, 59.4 seconds.

Williams Is Offered Boost In Salary

BOSTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Ted Williams has been offered another salary boost by the Boston Red Sox—and the guessing game is underway again.

General Manager Joe Cronin told writers yesterday that pay increases are included in contracts sent out to "99 per cent" of the members of last year's team, which finished fourth.

Williams, who hit .356 and slammed 28 homers in 98 games last season, is among those in line for a 1956 salary hike.

Guesses on the actual figures ranged up to ~~$110,000~~ an amount which Cronin refused to confirm or deny. The big slugger reportedly drew $70,000 after joining the club in mid-May last year.

Both will be prime candidates for All-America next season. They were among the honorable mentions the past season and on the first team of the All-Atlantic Coast Conference.

Sandusky's home is Manville, N. J., and Davis lives in East Riverdale, Md.

Marshall Believes Pyburn Will Play With Washington

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—George Marshall expressed confidence today that Jim Pyburn, Baltimore Oriole bonus baseball player, eventually will play professional football with his Washington Redskins.

The Redskins drafted Pyburn at Los Angeles this week although he signed with and played for the Orioles last season.

"I still expect him to play with the Redskins," Marshall told the Baltimore News-Post. "Give him time. He'll return to his first love, which is football."

Pyburn was an outstanding end at Auburn when he signed as a junior for a reported $48,000 bonus from the Orioles.

"Pyburn has proven himself in football, not baseball," reasoned Marshall, who owns the Redskins. He recalled he had taken the same gamble in drafting Vic Janowicz and it paid off.

SPORTS GRILL

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—(INS)—We have been punching the bag lately with famous track and field coaches and the consensus is that no college in the world could compete with Villanova on even terms.

The Wildcats from Pennsylvania are so good that George Eastment, coach of Manhattan College's IC4-A indoor and outdoor champions, already has conceded the title to Villanova.

Jumbo Jim Elliott, Villanova's coach, almost strangles with luaghter when he thinks of what his students may do in the coming indoor track season.

Some of Jim's boys are so good you may see them grabbing at least six gold medals at the Olympics in Australia next November.

Jim has in mind, for instance, a sophomore named George Sydnor from Haverford, Pa., who has ripped off 50 yards in 5.4 and in that race beat Willie Williams, former NCAA champ, and Olympic champ Lindy Remigino.

Ron Delaney, an Irish lad from Dublin who has done a 4:05 mile, undoubtedly will compete for Ireland in the Olympics, but meanwhile he will do better than fair for Villanova in college competition.

Villanova has so many track aces that Coach Jim Elliott is embarrassed to name them all. He figures that in any competition in the world he must count on at least six first places.

One of the most remarkable athletes Villanova or any other college ever uncovered is Phil Reavis, who can jump more than a foot over his own height.

No fooling, this sophomore from Somerville, Mass., has leaped 6' 9¾" which is more than a foot over his own height.

Villanova also boasts Don Bragg, a junior from Penns Grove, N. J., who has pole vaulted 15' 1" and is the NCAA champion at that height. Charley Jenkins, a Somerville, Mass., junior has done the 600 in 1:11-4 and a quarter in 49.2 on a Villanova mile relay which won a collegiate cup in 3:20.

Bill Holup, has done well in the high hurdles and fellows like Aex Breckenridge from Scotland, Johnny Kopil from Bayonne, N. J., and three or four others will comprise a sensational two-mile relay team.

These are only a few of the "sure" point winners in any track meet.

Eastment says: "Villanova should win six or seven first places from any kind of competition, in the Olympics."

The Wildcats are strong everywhere. They have the athletes, the coaching, the spirit and the will to win. How can anybody beat them?

Williams Is Offered Boost In Salary

BOSTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Ted Williams has been offered another salary boost by the Boston Red Sox—and the guessing game is underway again.

General Manager Joe Cronin told writers yesterday that pay increases are included in contracts sent out to "99 per cent" of the members of last year's team, which finished fourth.

Williams, who hit .356 and slammed 28 homers in 98 games last season, is among those in line for a 1956 salary hike.

Guesses on the actual figures ranged up to ~~$110,000~~—an amount which Cronin refused to confirm or deny. The big slugger reportedly drew $70,000 after joining the club in mid-May last year.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 19 (AP)—Jack Davis and Mike Sandusky, who played side by side at guard and tackle on Maryland's undefeated 1955 football team, were chosen today to be co-captains next season.

Both will be prime candidates for All-America next season. They were among the honorable mentions the past season and on the first team of the All-Atlantic Coast Conference.

Sandusky's home is Manville, N. J., and Davis lives in East Riverdale, Md.

Marshall Believes Pyburn Will Play With Washington

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19 (AP)—George Marshall expressed confidence today that Jim Pyburn, Baltimore Oriole bonus baseball player, eventually will play professional football with his Washington Redskins.

The Redskins drafted Pyburn at Los Angeles this week although he signed with and played for the Orioles last season.

"I still expect him to play with the Redskins," Marshall told the Baltimore News-Post. "Give him time. He'll return to his first love, which is football."

Pyburn was an outstanding end at Auburn when he signed as a junior for a reported $48,000 bonus from the Orioles.

"Pyburn has proven himself in football, not baseball," reasoned Marshall, who owns the Redskins. He recalled he had taken the same gamble in drafting Vic Janowicz and it paid off.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—(INS)—We have been punching the bag lately with famous track and field coaches and the consensus is that no college in the world could compete with Villanova on even terms.

The Wildcats from Pennsylvania are so good that George Eastment, coach of Manhattan College's IC4-A indoor and outdoor champions, already has conceded the title to Villanova.

Jumbo Jim Elliott, Villanova's coach, almost strangles with luaghter when he thinks of what his students may do in the coming indoor track season.

Some of Jim's boys are so good you may see them grabbing at least six gold medals at the Olympics in Australia next November.

Jim has in mind, for instance, a sophomore named George Sydnor from Haverford, Pa., who has ripped off 50 yards in 5.4 and in that race beat Willie Williams, former NCAA champ, and Olympic champ Lindy Remigino.

Ron Delaney, an Irish lad from Dublin who has done a 4:05 mile, undoubtedly will compete for Ireland in the Olympics, but meanwhile he will do better than fair for Villanova in college competition.

Villanova has so many track aces that Coach Jim Elliott is embarrassed to name them all. He figures that in any competition in the world he must count on at least six first places.

One of the most remarkable athletes Villanova or any other college ever uncovered is Phil Reavis, who can jump more than a foot over his own height.

No fooling, this sophomore from Somerville, Mass., has leaped 6' 9¾" which is more than a foot over his own height.

Villanova also boasts Don Bragg, a junior from Penns Grove, N. J., who has pole vaulted 15' 1" and is the NCAA champion at that height. Charley Jenkins, a Somerville, Mass., junior has done the 600 in 1:11-4 and a quarter in 49.2 on a Villanova mile relay which won a collegiate cup in 3:20.

Bill Holup, has done well in the high hurdles and fellows like Aex Breckenridge from Scotland, Johnny Kopil from Bayonne, N. J., and three or four others will comprise a sensational two-mile relay team.

These are only a few of the "sure" point winners in any track meet.

Eastment says: "Villanova should win six or seven first places from any kind of competition, in the Olympics."

The Wildcats are strong everywhere. They have the athletes, the coaching, the spirit and the will to win. How can anybody beat them?

Turner And LaBua Fight At Syracuse

Although 25-year-old Turner won only by a split decision here Dec. 14, he is a 3-1 choice to make it two straight over the 23-year old LaBua.

The bout will be broadcast and telecast 10 p.m., EST, NBC Radio-TV.

Brief Selling Wave Sends Market Prices Tumbling

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—A brief but acute spell of selling today tumbled prices in the stock market.

Losses amounted to 1 to 3 points in key divisions. That wasn't a very wide decline, but there were very few plus signs.

All divisions of the market were drawn into the selling which began in the middle of the third hour of trading and reached a climax before the start of the fourth hour.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $1.70 at $173.40. That level is around that of early November. Yesterday the market was off $1.80. The industrial component lost $2.50, rails lost $1.60, and utilities backed away 20 cents.

Using the AP 60-stock average as a yardstick, the market in two days has lost an estimated four billion dollars from the quoted value of listed securities.

Volume stepped up to 2,500,000 shares as compared with 2,110,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Motors again was at the top of the most active list off ¾ at 43⅞ on 55,600 shares. It was off ⅛ yesterday.

Ford Motor traded over the counter late in the day in a range of 66⅞ bid and 67⅛ offered. Yesterday the stock was quoted at the end of the trading day at 67⅛ bid and 68⅛ offered.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (INS)—The wind changed and chased the smog out of the Los Angeles basin. A heavenly body which old timers identified as the sun shone forth so clearly that you could read the newspapers and recognize members of your immediate family.

"Porgy and Bess big hit in Russia," a headline read.

Naturally, it's top tune fits Soviet diplomatic actions and promises like a glove. The name of the song "It Ain't Necessarily So."

Speaking of smog, tourism has been greatly helped because of it. The roads and aerial paths across the Sierra Madres to Palm Springs, Las Vegas and other desert spas tend to be clogged when the smog curtain lowers on L.A., but it's not one-way traffic. The prices drive them back to town.

Some of our friends with the foreign airlines seem to have gotten a distorted notion of how eager the Angeleno is to escape the sooty curse of his industrial progress. Sabena, KLM and Scandinavian air lines have set up shop here to whisper sweet nothings about Belgium, the Netherlands, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Oslo and the Congo in his ears.

And speaking of Las Vegas, there's nothing wrong with it that a ton of fresh money couldn't fix. But it has to be sucker money, not money to build new places for the suckers to be suckers in. America's neon-lighted Monte Carlo simply overbuilt. Three of the last four big places built there are ready for Cain's warehouse. Not even the heavy bankrolls in the Sands Hotel group or the lure of Maurice Chevalier could keep the Dunes open as a casino and cabaret.

The big spender of Circa 1944 to 1948 is gone or has cirrhosis. The medium spender is tapped out or is saving his money for a color radio, or something. The big campaign in Vegas is to harvest the working class that never figured it could afford such dallying.

At least one airline is a willing accessory to Las Vegas survival program. For $27.50 it gives you round-trip ticket from L.A., free champagne (California) on the plane, two cocktails and dinner at the Showboat Casino, the right to watch the floor show, and $10 worth of scrip with which to gamble. The planes carry booklets instructing the people how to play the various games. Leave L.A., at 6 p. m., back at 4 a. m.

It may be the beginning of mass-production gambling. But to be on the safe side Tom McGinty, one of the principal owners of the Showboat and of an earlier and greater gold mine, Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn, has opened a plushy branch office at Havana's Nacional Hotel — one hour from the dice-hungry hordes that fret in Miami Beach with nothing to shoot except horses and cha-cha-cha instructors.

Municipal Judge Julian Beck, of Van Nuys, Cal., restored a measure of reason to the times this week. There stood before him a young man named Vermillion Stewart who has come all the way from El Paso, Tex., in the hope of seeing or meeting Liberace. Stewart was nabbed by cops after vaulting Liberace's back fence. Judge back gave him 25 days and ordered a psychiatric examination.

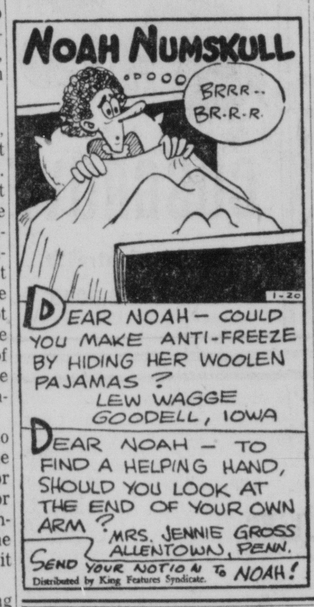
Posse To Parade

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 19 (AP)—Members of the Centra Costa County, California, sheriff's posse will ride in Rio's annual carnival parade here Feb. 14 at the city's invitation. The 16 horsemen will be accompanied by 18 drummers, officials said.



These tips from fashion models help you dress hurriedly — but perfectly — for a day or a date.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

That Bandbox Look In Double-Quick Time

It's understandable that a busy life makes it necessary to dress hurriedly sometimes, but it's never forgivable to look as if you did. How can you turn yourself out in bandbox perfection when time works against you?

Top authorities on this subject are fashion models, who may quick-change half a dozen times in one fashion show. Let's go pick up model dressing tips.

Always ready are correct underpinnings for each costume. A foundation garment that's right for one dress may not be right for another or for a suit, so there must be several. All slips have been carefully fitted to show no underlying ripple in the finished effect, and there are light ones always for light dresses, dark ones for dark, and special petticoats. Kinds and colors of fresh stockings, shoes, gloves, jewelry, and all other accessories are varied so each type of costume is perfectly complemented. And every item is right where the model can put her hands on it instantly.

Lightning changes behind the scenes wouldn't be possible if everything to be worn from the skin out weren't always in perfect condition and set for the next trip down the fashion runway. But that's not all there is to it. There's a certain model way of checking every detail before entering on cue. At the last minute, she runs quick fingers over fastenings, sets her neckline in the right place, squares her shoulder seams, makes as sure the hemline of a jacket's as even as the hem of a skirt or a stocking seam. This is all done in a flash because the model has made it a habit, and so can you. Practice when you're not in a hurry, and the check-up soon becomes automatic and a wonderful build-up to the poise that makes you feel and look smartly dressed.

Diet Is The Keynote To Health And Good Looks

Don't talk about dieting. It bores your companions and talking about it only spotlights your privations. They are probably fully conscious of the special spots that beg for recontouring. But, they are not interested in the vital statistics or how many inches that you require to meet ideal performance. That is your personal problem.

If you have will power and stay with your diet your friends will be the first to notice the improvement and admire you all the more for your silent bravery.

For years I have been watching the world's most beautiful models eat, and it seems to be simply a matter of course for them to select the right things (my booklet, "Your Beauty Diet," is yours for 10 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope sent to this newspaper). They're all grown girls, but every one of them has a glass of milk at each meal, and most of them drink an extra one or two between meals. They are concerned with the things that make a woman beautiful, and they know they must eat to feed and maintain that beauty. Most of them haven't touched a piece of candy in years for they know it is bad for the figure and complexion, and it is certainly hard on the teeth.

We are told that there are some 51 different minerals that exist in varying proportions in our body and are replenished by meats, fruits, vegetables and water. Your skin and it's coloring (cheeks, lips, fingermails) rely on the perfect health of your bloodstream for their technicolor beauty.

Tomorrow — Lead a double life.

DO YOU MEASURE UP?

These easy-to-use tables show you how to calculate your ideal measurements from head to toe. They will make figure readjustments simple and accurate. For a copy of "Do You Measure Up?" send 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper.

Coward having a great fondness for smashing things on stage.

As in the stage play, I felt that proceedings got a little thin — another word that has pursued Coward relentlessly — in the second act, but otherwise it was a highly antic and urbane hour and a half.

In the matter of performance, Miss Natwick ran off with the honors as she always has. The role of the hearty, bicycle-peddling medium who approaches her unearthly chores more or less in the spirit of a girl basketball coach and with pretty much the same vocabulary is, in her own words, "a rouser." She was superb in it.

Otherwise I thought the cast didn't quite measure up to that of the stage play. Miss Bacall hasn't the whiplash authority Miss Leonora Corbett displayed on stage, and Mr. Coward, versatile as he is, didn't manage the chilly exasperation of his own part with the same aplomb as Clifton Webb.

In a way, this reverence for the spirit and form of stage plays is a good thing and even a sensible thing. The same Ford Star Jubilee did it with "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" which stuck very closely to the stage presentation with superb results. Still, I think, some deference to the TV medium, which is quite different in techniques from the stage, ought to be paid from time to time.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19 (INS)—We're losing another one of our popular Hollywood couples for three or four months and perhaps longer. On Feb. 25, David Niven and his beautiful Hjordis sail for Europe, both on business and pleasure.

They go straight to London where David will star in "The Silken Affair" for the newly formed Fred Feldkamp Productions. After the London film is finished, the Nivens go to the Scandinavian countries to visit Hjordis' family. They then go to Greece and Italy where David will film two television shows for the Four Star Playhouse.

Looks as if the Nivens are starting out the year with a very busy schedule.

I hear tell there's a big effort on the part of Columbia to get James Cagney for "The Last Hurrah," Edwin O'Conner's novel, and I'm told that Jimmy is not indifferent to the offer.

"The Last Hurrah" won the Atlantic Monthly award for the year and is published by Little, Brown and Co.

Harry Cohn likes novels. He also bought "Andersonville" and "The Good Shepherd"—all within the last six months.

There are two top roles in "The Last Hurrah"—a 72-year-old New England politician and his son. The role of the old man would be a challenge any good actor would enjoy.

The circus fans who adore the great clown Emmett Kelly, and have never seen his "real" face, will get that opportunity in "The Captain From Kopenick," the TV film Kelly will make for Hal Roach, Jr.

In fact, the world's most famous clown is already on his way here for this unusual story which will be one of the series of "The Stories of John Nesbitt."

Hal, Jr., tells me, "Emmett is the perfect actor to play the true life incident based on the German vagrant, Willie Voight, who in 1906 almost upset the military might of Germany by a gag. He bought an authentic naval captain's uniform, complete with medals and correct papers in a pawnbroker shop. Operating under this fraudulent identity Voight perpetrated mischief that had international complications."

Jimmy Dean's father, Winton Dean, who has been a dental technician at Sawtelle Veterans Hospital for the past 27 years, says it will be a year before the $100,000 estate left by Jimmy will be probated.

I know Mr. Dean was speaking the truth when he said he gets a lot of mail. I've received literally hundreds of letters about Jimmy since his death, and letters continue to pour in.

Dean, Sr., also says he has been approached by several independent producers about making a motion picture based on Jimmy's life. I believe Warners should do this. It would make a great story.

Our own Jimmy Stewart, who was a colonel in the Air Force during World War II, has aviation in his bones again. He'll report to the Strategic Air Command in Omaha March 1 for two weeks of active duty. I'm wondering if "The Spirit of St. Louis" didn't put the spirit to fly again in Jimmy's mind.

I haven't had a chance to congratulate him on winning the popularity vote of the Motion Picture Herald. Last year was a good year for Jimmy with so many successful pictures.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Clark Gable on the Paramount lot with his agent, Herman Citron, was there to talk with Jerry Lewis. About a picture?

Diners at the Bantam Cock were plumb fascinated when Noel Coward came in stag to listen to the Hal Dean trio play Coward's song hits.

Linda Darnell, who started at 20th Century-Fox 18 years ago, plays a return engagement on a TV film there called "Courageous Coward."

Bow Howard, of Palm Springs Howard Manor, has concocted a new drink called the tin lizzie cocktail, which he serves in tin-cups—in honor of the sale of Ford Motor stock.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Brief Selling Wave Sends Market Prices Tumbling

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—A brief but acute spell of selling today tumbled prices in the stock market.

Losses amounted to 1 to 3 points in key divisions. That wasn't a very wide decline, but there were very few plus signs.

All divisions of the market were drawn into the selling which began in the middle of the third hour of trading and reached a climax before the start of the fourth hour.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $1.70 at $173.40. That level is around that of early November. Yesterday the market was off $1.80. The industrial component lost $2.50, rails lost $1.60, and utilities backed away 20 cents.

Using the AP 60-stock average as a yardstick, the market in two days has lost an estimated four billion dollars from the quoted value of listed securities.

Volume stepped up to 2,500,000 shares as compared with 2,110,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Motors again was at the top of the most active list off ¾ at 43⅞ on 55,600 shares. It was off ⅛ yesterday.

Ford Motor traded over the counter late in the day in a range of 66⅞ bid and 67⅛ offered. Yesterday the stock was quoted at the end of the trading day at 67⅞ bid and 68⅛ offered.

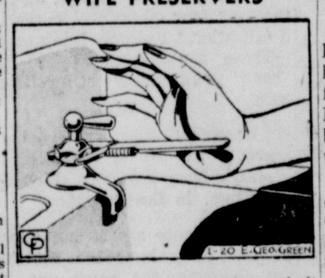
WIFE PRESERVERS



When you use a wrench, push it with the heel of the hand and with fingers open for safety.

These tips from fashion models help you dress hurriedly — but perfectly — for a day or a date.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

That Bandbox Look In Double-Quick Time

It's understandable that a busy life makes it necessary to dress hurriedly sometimes, but it's never forgivable to look as if you did. How can you turn yourself out in bandbox perfection when time works against you?

Top authorities on this subject are fashion models, who may quick-change half a dozen times in one fashion show. Let's go pick up model dressing tips.

Always ready are correct underpinnings for each costume. A foundation garment that's right for one dress may not be right for another or for a suit, so there must be several. All slips have been carefully fitted to show no underlying ripple in the finished effect, and there are light ones always for light dresses, dark ones for dark, and special petticoats. Kinds and colors of fresh stockings, shoes, gloves, jewelry, and all other accessories are varied so each type of costume is perfectly complemented. And every item is right where the model can put her hands on it instantly.

Lightning changes behind the scenes wouldn't be possible if everything to be worn from the skin out weren't always in perfect condition and set for the next trip down the fashion runway. But that's not all there is to it. There's a certain model way of checking every detail before entering on cue. At the last minute, she runs quick fingers over fastenings, sets her neckline in the right place, squares her shoulder seams, makes as sure the hemline of a jacket's as even as the hem of a skirt or a stocking seam. This is all done in a flash because the model has made it a habit, and so can you. Practice when you're not in a hurry, and the check-up soon becomes automatic and a wonderful build-up to the poise that makes you feel and look smartly dressed.

Diet Is The Keynote To Health And Good Looks

Don't talk about dieting. It bores your companions and talking about it only spotlights your privations. They are probably fully conscious of the special spots that beg for recontouring. But, they are not interested in the vital statistics or how many inches that you require to meet ideal performance. That is your personal problem.

If you have will power and stay with your diet your friends will be the first to notice the improvement and admire you all the more for your silent bravery.

For years I have been watching the world's most beautiful models eat, and it seems to be simply a matter of course for them to select the right things (my booklet, "Your Beauty Diet," is yours for 10 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope sent to this newspaper). They're all grown girls, but every one of them has a glass of milk at each meal, and most of them drink an extra one or two between meals. They are concerned with the things that make a woman beautiful, and they know they must eat to feed and maintain that beauty. Most of them haven't touched a piece of candy in years for they know it is bad for the figure and complexion, and it is certainly hard on the teeth.

We are told that there are some 51 different minerals that exist in varying proportions in our body and are replenished by meats, fruits, vegetables and water. Your skin and it's coloring (cheeks, lips, fingermails) rely on the perfect health of your bloodstream for their technicolor beauty.

Tomorrow — Lead a double life.

DO YOU MEASURE UP?

These easy-to-use tables show you how to calculate your ideal measurements from head to toe. They will make figure readjustments simple and accurate. For a copy of "Do You Measure Up?" send 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (INS) — The wind changed and chased the smog out of the Los Angeles basin. A heavenly body which old timers identified as the sun shone forth so clearly that you could read the newspapers and recognize members of your immediate family.

"Porgy and Bess big hit in Russia," a headline read.

Naturally, it's top tune fits Soviet diplomatic actions and promises like a glove. The name of the song "It Ain't Necessarily So."

Speaking of smog, tourism has been greatly helped because of it. The roads and aerial paths across the Sierra Madres to Palm Springs, Las Vegas and other desert spas tend to be clogged when the smog curtain lowers on L.A., but it's not one-way traffic. The prices drive them back to town.

Some of our friends with the foreign airlines seem to have gotten a distorted notion of how eager the Angeleno is to escape the sooty curse of his industrial progress. Sabena, KLM and Scandinavian air lines have set up shop here to whisper sweet nothings about Belgium, the Netherlands, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Oslo and the Congo in his ears.

And speaking of Las Vegas, there's nothing wrong with it that a ton of fresh money couldn't fix. But it has to be sucker money, not money to build new places for the suckers to be suckers in. America's neon-lighted Monte Carlo simply overbuilt. Three of the last four big places built there are ready for Cain's warehouse. Not even the heavy bankrolls in the Sands Hotel group or the lure of Maurice Chevalier could keep the Dunes open as a casino and cabaret.

The big spender of Circa 1944 to 1948 is gone or has cirrhosis. The medium spender is tapped out or is saving his money for a color radio, or something. The big campaign in Vegas is to harvest the working class that never figured it could afford such dallying.

At least one airline is a willing accessory to Las Vegas survival program. For $27.50 it gives you round-trip ticket from L.A., free champagne (California) on the plane, two cocktails and dinner at the Showboat Casino, the right to watch the floor show, and $10 worth of scrip with which to gamble. The planes carry booklets instructing the people how to play the various games. Leave L.A., at 6 p. m., back at 4 a. m.

It may be the beginning of mass-production gambling. But to be on the safe side Tom McGinty, one of the principal owners of the Showboat and of an earlier and greater gold mine, Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn, has opened a plushy branch office at Havana's Nacional Hotel — one hour from the dice-hungry hordes that fret in Miami Beach with nothing to shoot except horses and cha-cha-cha instructors.

Municipal Judge Julian Beck, of Van Nuys, Cal., restored a measure of reason to the times this week. There stood before him a young man named Vermillion Stewart who has come all the way from El Paso, Tex., in the hope of seeing or meeting Liberace. Stewart was nabbed by cops after vaulting Liberace's back fence. Judge back gave him 25 days and ordered a psychiatric examination.

Television and Radio

Coward having a great fondness for smashing things on stage.

As in the stage play, I felt that proceedings got a little thin — another word that has pursued Coward relentlessly — in the second act, but otherwise it was a highly antic and urbane hour and a half.

In the matter of performance, Miss Natwick ran off with the honors as she always has. The role of the hearty, bicycle-peddling medium who approaches her unearthly chores more or less in the spirit of a girl basketball coach and with pretty much the same vocabulary is, in her own words, "a rouser." She was superb in it.

Otherwise I thought the cast didn't quite measure up to that of the stage play. Miss Bacall hasn't the whiplash authority Miss Leonora Corbett displayed on stage, and Mr. Coward, versatile as he is, didn't manage the chilly exasperation of his own part with the same aplomb as Clifton Webb.

In a way, this reverence for the spirit and form of stage plays is a good thing and even a sensible thing. The same Ford Star Jubilee did it with "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" which stuck very closely to the stage presentation with superb results. Still, I think, some deference to the TV medium, which is quite different in techniques from the stage, ought to be paid from time to time.

Return Of A Ghost

Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" is a slender tale, the word slender being one that has dogged Mr. Coward's steps virtually his whole life, but it was a mighty merry and, to say the least, unusually witty piece for television the other night on CBS-TV's Ford Jubilee program.

Both its rewards and its defects were almost precisely those of the play and for very good reason. Adaptation is perhaps too strenuous a word for whatever small operation Mr. Coward performed in pruning his play down to an hour and a half and readying it for the cameras. The play was simply lifted delicately from the stage and placed in front of the electronic monsters almost intact. It was a one-set play in the theater and it remained a one-set play on TV where we are accustomed to roaming around a bit. In the theater, it started with a couple talking pure exposition, preparing the way for the small, tidy plot, and on TV it started the same way. Not for Mr. Coward is there anything so plebian as a flashback.

In addition, there was an audience and, from their fairly explosive responses, I rather think it was a very hep audience. In short this was a smart Broadway opening with a terribly fashionable cast in front of an upper-drawer audience. On the whole it worked out very well.

"Blithe Spirit" is the story of a novelist (Mr. Coward) who, in pursuit of a little research on spiritualism, invites a medium (Mildren Natwick) to hold a seance in his house. Pretty much to everyone's surprise, the medium succeeds in materializing the ghost of the novelist's first wife (Lauren Bacall) which comes, naturally, as quite a shock to his very live, second wife (Claudette Colbert).

It's a situation a man of Mr. Coward's lighthearted and not especially domestic disposition can have quite a lot of fun with and he does. The air is alive with double meanings (since no one but the novelist can see or hear the ghost), with graceful, or, at any rate, well polished insults, and frequently with bric-a-brac — Mr.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

L F Y K T K O S M F D H T M E Y Y B V S M E Y T H U M E E L V F E I M F F V Y I V. T Q L E Y — I M S U D T W W.

DIFFERENT VIEWS

THE BIDDING of the two South players in a team-of-four match showed an interesting contrast in this deal.

North dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ J 4 ♥ A K 6 5 2 ♦ A K 7 3 ♣ 5 3
♠ 8 ♥ Q 10 9 3 ♦ 9 8 ♣ A J 8 6 4 2	N W E S	♠ 9 5 3 ♥ J 8 ♦ Q 6 5 4 2 ♣ Q 10 7
	♠ A K Q 10 7 6 2 ♥ 7 4 ♦ J 10 ♣ K 9

This was the auction at the first table:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

The other South took a different view of the matter—to wit:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	3 ♣ (!)	Pass
3 NT	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

As can be seen at a glance, there was no great difficulty in winning 12 tricks.

Now let's appraise the two sequences:

When North bid two diamonds on the second round, both Souths recognized the possibility of a slam. The first South expressed this idea by jumping straight to five spades, but his effort was fruitless. North read the bid as the announcement of an extraordinary spade suit, but also as indicating that South himself could not control the unbid suit, clubs. Thus, this North felt that South was asking him to bid the slam only if he had club control.

The other South anticipated North's reaction, and, intending to bid five spades later, first bid clubs so that North would not have to worry about losing two club tricks. Obviously, this message got across, and North, with such strength in the red suits, and the possibly-valuable spade jack, gladly accepted the invitation.

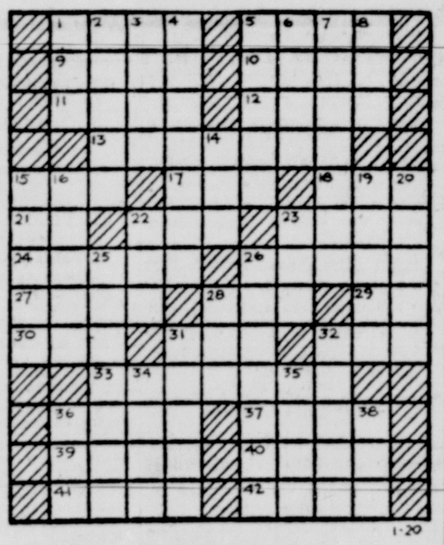
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

L F Y K T K O S M F D H T M E Y Y B V
S M E Y T H U M E E L V F E I M F F V Y I V .
T Q L E Y — I M S U D T W W .

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: EARLY AND PROVIDENT FEAR IS THE MOTHER OF SAFETY — BURKE.

DIFFERENT VIEWS

THE BIDDING of the two South players in a team-of-four match showed an interesting contrast in this deal.

North dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ J 4 ♥ A K 6 5 2 ♦ A K 7 3 ♣ 5 3
♠ 8 ♥ Q 10 9 3 ♦ 9 8 ♣ A J 8 6 4 2	N W E S	♠ 9 5 3 ♥ J 8 ♦ Q 6 5 4 2 ♣ Q 10 7
	♠ A K Q 10 7 6 2 ♥ 7 4 ♦ J 10 ♣ K 9

This was the auction at the first table:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

The other South took a different view of the matter—to wit:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	3 ♣ (!)	Pass
3 NT	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

As can be seen at a glance, there was no great difficulty in winning 12 tricks.

Now let's appraise the two sequences:

When North bid two diamonds on the second round, both Souths recognized the possibility of a slam. The first South expressed this idea by jumping straight to five spades, but his effort was fruitless. North read the bid as the announcement of an extraordinary spade suit, but also as indicating that South himself could not control the unbid suit, clubs. Thus, this North felt that South was asking him to bid the slam only if he had club control.

The other South anticipated North's reaction, and, intending to bid five spades later, first bid clubs so that North would not have to worry about losing two club tricks. Obviously, this message got across, and North, with such strength in the red suits, and the possibly-valuable spade jack, gladly accepted the invitation.

Card of Thanks

We take this means to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Anne (Halterman) Beery. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes; the pallbearers; the minister, Rev. L. O. McCartneysmith; and those who loaned cars for the funeral.

Mr. Russell Beery and family

We desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of Paul E. Knott. Especially do we thank Rev. Robert Campbell and Rev. Wesley Harris, those who sent floral tributes, those wo donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers, and all others who in any manner rendered assistance.

Judge Explains Function Of Habeas Corpus

In an opinion in which he cited the historical function of habeas corpus, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court has denied Donald T. Holtman's petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Holtman was sentenced April 27, 1954, to a term not to exceed four years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males by Judge Herman Moser in Baltimore city on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

In his petition, Holtman contended that the arresting officer committed perjury in his testimony and also was prejudiced against him. Judge Harris, noting that previous habeas corpus petitions had been denied Holtman, said that both of the complaints concerning the trial should have been the subject of an appeal rather than habeas corpus.

"Habeas corpus has an effective and time-honored function to test the legality of the detention of a person, but this is not the same as the correction of errors which may have been committed in criminal trial," Judge Harris wrote.

"For the purpose appeal and not habeas corpus remains the normal method. It does not impair the venerable writ of habeas corpus, which antedates Magna Charta and is protected in the Constitution of the State and Nation, to confine its use within its proper sphere . . . The indiscriminate employment of habeas corpus in place of appeal would do nothing to safeguard liberty, but do much to complicate and defeat ordinary procedure," he concluded.

Area Starts Removal

sections of Garrett were impassable and it was virtually impossible to get over the mountains both east and west of Cumberland.

West Virginia State Police reported 4½ inches of snow at Romney and six to eight inches in Mineral County. SRC crews were working to cinder and salt State Route 28. Traffic was at a virtual standstill in Keyser.

Telephone repair crews were alerted early by the C&P Telephone Company here, but C. Walter Haschert said last night no damage had been reported in telephone lines in the area.

Pennsylvania State Police also reported heavy snow in the Bedford area. Numerous turnpike accidents had been reported, but none of a serious nature. The temperature at Bedford at 10 o'clock last night was 24 degrees and it was snowing hard. Five to six inches covered the ground, officers stated.

Cumberland police roped off Celia Street, Chestnut Street, Grand Avenue and Marietta Street for children to use for sled-riding last night.

At least three Parent-Teacher Association meetings were called off because of the weather. West Side, Penn Avenue and Flintstone school groups were forced to cancel meetings last night.

Police warnings were issued throughout the state that streets and highways were snow covered, slippery and hazardous. Nearly all of the state was covered by two to three inches of snow.

Forecasters said the snow would end this morning and predicted a change to rain sometime early today.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Charles M. Reel, Plaintiff, vs. Evelyn R. Reel, Defendant. No. 24385 Equity. In The Circuit Court, Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states that the parties were married at Detroit, Michigan, on November 10th, 1951; that no children were born of said marriage; that defendant deserted and abandoned the plaintiff without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has continued uninterruptedly for over eighteen months and is final and deliberate and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, whereas the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.
It is thereupon this 4th day of January, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, before the 6th day of February, 1956, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, and warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 22nd day of February, 1956, and show cause why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Butler, Beall Co-Sponsor Area Development Bill

Both of the United States Senators from Maryland are among the co-sponsors of Senate Bill 2892 which is designed to assist areas to develop and maintain stable and diversified economies by a program of financial and technical assistance.

Senators John Marshall and J. Glenn Beall are among 25 Republican senators who are co-sponsoring the bill introduced by Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey. Since its introduction January 9 the measure has been referred to the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency.

Senator Smith said the bill would translate into law the Eisenhower administration's program for economic redevelopment in areas of low employment. He contends that it is essential that the Federal Government act now to expand and strengthen the federal program to eradicate conditions of unemployment which exist in some areas while the nation as a whole enjoys unparalleled prosperity and record employment.

A copy of the bill has been received by Albert H. Hargreaves, director of the Industrial Promotion Department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

It is of primary interest to him because the first major aspect of the administration program is the establishment of a $50 million revolving federal loan fund to be used in making loans where needed in areas of substantial and persistent unemployment to help finance industrial development projects which have been worked out at the local level and are approved by the state.

The loans would be made to local public agencies and to private persons approved by the state. The loans may be used for such purposes as: (a) preparing land for commercial or industrial use, (b) constructing new factories and (c) modernizing old factories.

State and local organizations must participate to a minimum of 15 per cent and the project must have the approval of the state government. Federal participation is limited to not more than 25 per cent of the estimated cost of the project.

Federal funds will not be advanced unless an overall program for the economic development of the area, and a finding by a state agency that the project for which assistance is sought, are consistent with the program.

The second major aspect of the administration's proposed program calls for an annual authorization of $1.5 million for grants for technical assistance, including studies to evaluate needs and methods for economic development of areas of substantial and persistent unemployment.

The third aspect of Senator Smith's bill would strengthen and expand the Federal Government's existing technical assistance program by creating in the Department of Commerce an Area Assistance Administration to be headed by an area assistance administrator at the assistant secretary level.

Finally, the fourth major aspect of the plan provides for coordination of the proposals contained in the bill with other federal programs and policies affecting local areas.

"By way of conclusion, I wish to note for the record that underlying the entire program is the basic principle of helping low employment communities to help themselves," Senator Smith said in introducing the bill.

"I wish to emphasize that the program embodied in this bill seeks to create new job opportunities. It does not seek to transfer job opportunities from one community to another."

Fellow Gypsies' Elusiveness Costs Man Fine Of $505

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — Seventy-year-old Joe Uwanawich's errant fellow Gypsies have managed to keep a step ahead of him. Their elusiveness today cost Joe $505.

Uwanawich pleaded guilty to 52 traffic violations last November. At that time he made a deal with Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh. Joe said he would tour the country and try to get fellow Gypsies to pay off on 1,500 tickets pending against them here.

Murtagh promised to consider leniency for Uwanawich if he had any great success.

Today, Uwanawich sadly admitted that his quest for Gypsy ticket holders had been in vain. Murtagh then fined Uwanawich $505.

Helfand Takes Swing At NBA

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, tonight took a swing at the National Boxing Assn., calling a resolution adopted by that body last weekend "sheer hypocrisy" and saying "they might as well not have met at all."

Helfand leveled his blast at the NBA in a speech at the 30th annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Assn. —rising to make his address immediately after Lou Radzienda, president of the NBA, had completed his own speech.

It was a NBA resolution which permits a boxer to sign for a fight himself when his manager is under suspension which drew Helfand's sizzling criticism.

Judge Explains Function Of Habeas Corpus

In an opinion in which he cited the historical function of habeas corpus, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court has denied Donald T. Holtman's petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Holtman was sentenced April 27, 1954, to a term not to exceed four years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males by Judge Herman Moser in Baltimore city on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

In his petition, Holtman contended that the arresting officer committed perjury in his testimony and also was prejudiced against him. Judge Harris, noting that previous habeas corpus petitions had been denied Holtman, said that both of the complaints concerning the trial should have been the subject of an appeal rather than habeas corpus.

"Habeas corpus has an effective and time-honored function to test the legality of the detention of a person, but this is not the same as the correction of errors which may have been committed in criminal trial," Judge Harris wrote.

"For the purpose appeal and not habeas corpus remains the normal method. It does not impair the venerable writ of habeas corpus, which antedates Magna Charta and is protected in the Constitution of the State and Nation, to confine its use within its proper sphere . . . The indiscriminate employment of habeas corpus in place of appeal would do nothing to safeguard liberty, but do much to complicate and defeat ordinary procedure," he concluded.

sections of Garrett were impassable and it was virtually impossible to get over the mountains both east and west of Cumberland.

West Virginia State Police reported 4½ inches of snow at Romney and six to eight inches in Mineral County. SRC crews were working to cinder and salt State Route 28. Traffic was at a virtual standstill in Keyser.

Telephone repair crews were alerted early by the C&P Telephone Company here, but C. Walter Haschert said last night no damage had been reported in telephone lines in the area.

Pennsylvania State Police also reported heavy snow in the Bedford area. Numerous turnpike accidents had been reported, but none of a serious nature. The temperature at Bedford at 10 o'clock last night was 24 degrees and it was snowing hard. Five to six inches covered the ground, officers stated.

Cumberland police roped off Celia Street, Chestnut Street, Grand Avenue and Marietta Street for children to use for sled-riding last night.

At least three Parent-Teacher Association meetings were called off because of the weather. West Side, Penn Avenue and Flintstone school groups were forced to cancel meetings last night.

Police warnings were issued throughout the state that streets and highways were snow covered, slippery and hazardous. Nearly all of the state was covered by two to three inches of snow.

Forecasters said the snow would end this morning and predicted a change to rain sometime early today.

Butler, Beall Co-Sponsor Area Development Bill

Both of the United States Senators from Maryland are among the co-sponsors of Senate Bill 2892 which is designed to assist areas to develop and maintain stable and diversified economies by a program of financial and technical assistance.

Senators John Marshall and J. Glenn Beall are among 25 Republican senators who are co-sponsoring the bill introduced by Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey. Since its introduction January 9 the measure has been referred to the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency.

Senator Smith said the bill would translate into law the Eisenhower administration's program for economic redevelopment in areas of low employment. He contends that it is essential that the Federal Government act now to expand and strengthen the federal program to eradicate conditions of unemployment which exist in some areas while the nation as a whole enjoys unparalleled prosperity and record employment.

A copy of the bill has been received by Albert H. Hargreaves, director of the Industrial Promotion Department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

It is of primary interest to him because the first major aspect of the administration program is the establishment of a $50 million revolving federal loan fund to be used in making loans where needed in areas of substantial and persistent unemployment to help finance industrial development projects which have been worked out at the local level and are approved by the state.

The loans would be made to local public agencies and to private persons approved by the state. The loans may be used for such purposes as: (a) preparing land for commercial or industrial use, (b) constructing new factories and (c) modernizing old factories.

State and local organizations must participate to a minimum of 15 per cent and the project must have the approval of the state government. Federal participation is limited to not more than 25 per cent of the estimated cost of the project.

Federal funds will not be advanced unless an overall program for the economic development of the area, and a finding by a state agency that the project for which assistance is sought, are consistent with the program.

The second major aspect of the administration's proposed program calls for an annual authorization of $1.5 million for grants for technical assistance, including studies to evaluate needs and methods for economic development of areas of substantial and persistent unemployment.

The third aspect of Senator Smith's bill would strengthen and expand the Federal Government's existing technical assistance program by creating in the Department of Commerce an Area Assistance Administration to be headed by an area assistance administrator at the assistant secretary level.

Finally, the fourth major aspect of the plan provides for coordination of the proposals contained in the bill with other federal programs and policies affecting local areas.

"By way of conclusion, I wish to note for the record that underlying the entire program is the basic principle of helping low employment communities to help themselves," Senator Smith said in introducing the bill.

"I wish to emphasize that the program embodied in this bill seeks to create new job opportunities. It does not seek to transfer job opportunities from one community to another."

Fellow Gypsies' Elusiveness Costs Man Fine Of $505

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — Seventy-year-old Joe Uwanawich's errant fellow Gypsies have managed to keep a step ahead of him. Their elusiveness today cost Joe $505.

Uwanawich pleaded guilty to 52 traffic violations last November. At that time he made a deal with Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh. Joe said he would tour the country and try to get fellow Gypsies to pay off on 1,500 tickets pending against them here.

Murtagh promised to consider leniency for Uwanawich if he had any great success.

Today, Uwanawich sadly admitted that his quest for Gypsy ticket holders had been in vain. Murtagh then fined Uwananwich $505.

Helfand Takes Swing At NBA

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, tonight took a swing at the National Boxing Assn., calling a resolution adopted by that body last weekend "sheer hypocrisy" and saying "they might as well not have met at all."

Helfand leveled his blast at the NBA in a speech at the 30th annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Assn. —rising to make his address immediately after Lou Radzienda, president of the NBA, had completed his own speech.

It was a NBA resolution which permits a boxer to sign for a fight himself when his manager is under suspension which drew Helfand's sizzling criticism.

City Hopes To Get Land For 3d Dam

Other Tracts Wanted To Peduce Silting At Water Supply

Plans for acquiring additional land on the Evitts Creek watershed to extend the life and capacity to Lakes Koon and Gordon and as a possible site for a third dam were set in motion here yesterday.

The action was taken at the annual meeting of the Evitts Creek Water Company, a city-operated corporation which was set up in Pennsylvania to conduct the legal affairs of the water supply and treatment facilities in the Lake Gordon area.

Mayor Roy W. Eves, who is a member by virtue of his office, said the corporation's solicitor, Charles M. Koontz, Bedford, was instructed to employ a surveyor in Bedford County, on a unit basis, to establish property lines on some 21 parcels of land on the watershed which do not now belong to the city, and to get options on the parcels.

Erosion Is Problem

It is essential, Mayor Eves said, that the city have control of the entire watershed, so it can extend its 14-year reforestation program on land, now used mostly for farming and subject to too rapid erosion, in the vicinity of Lake Koon and Lake Gordon.

The program also includes the extension of the upper watershed, the Mayor said, where the city may have to provide a third dam.

Even if the third dam is not necessary, the acquisition of the land is necessary to control erosion, he said.

The land under consideration includes 14 parcels on the two existing reservoirs and seven parcels on the site considered for the third dam.

Acts As Sponge

Well managed woodland, he said, has the capacity of absorbing water like a sponge and releasing it gradually over an extended period.

In land subject to erosion, much of this water would go over the dams during rapid runoffs, and deposit tons of silt which eventually would fill the reservoirs.

At present, the city, through the Evitts Creek Water Company, owns about 3,700 acres of the 64 square miles of watershed which drains into Lakes Koon and Gordon.

Lake Gordon, the site of the city's filtration plant, covers 178 acres of land and impounds 1,300,000,000 gallons of water.

Lake Koon, the upper reservoir, covers 268 acres of land and impounds 2,300,000,000 gallons of water, for a total storage capacity of 3,600,000,000 gallons — over half the 6½ billion gallon capacity of the Savage River Dam, which is being suggested as a future source of municipal and industrial water for the area.

The city's filtration plant at Lake Gordon, still undergoing modernization, now has facilities rated for treating 18,000,000 gallons of water daily, and capable of operating at top efficiency at the 22½ million gallon mark.

Post Is President

Officers were elected at the annual meeting held yesterday in the office of Mayor Eves here.

Former Mayor Thomas S. Post was re-elected president; Mayor Eves, vice president; Koontz, solicitor; James F. Twigg, water department clerk, secretary-treasurer, and Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, a member.

Twigg was named to the $100 a year post after Miss Mary Clay, who has served as secretary since December 28, 1951, submitted her resignation.

The resignation was accepted with regret and following the passage of a resolution of thanks for her services.

The only other salaried position on the board, the Mayor said, is the solicitor, who receives $400 a year.

Present was George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Directors recommended that the Mayor and Council grant a 10 per cent wage increase to Hitchcock, in line with recent increases to other city workers, according to Commissioner Edwards. The present salary is $6,500 a year.

Day-Long Snowfall Pretty, But A Problem For Tri-State Area

This pleasant, if wintry, suburban scene was snapped by the News cameraman yesterday afternoon at Bowling Green after more than three inches of glistening light snow had fallen over the Allegany County landscape.

A less pleasing prospect is faced by Celanese workers, emerging from the plant to find they must drive home over slippery highways and through minor traffic tieups. There was no snow when they went to work at 7 a. m.

Lee Street Area Parking Ban Slated

Trucks Use Route Since Bridge Closing

The Police Department must ban parking on both sides of North Lee Street, between Cumberland Street and the Valley Street Bridge, beginning Monday, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday.

He urged all citizens who live along that stretch of the street to cooperate in the parking restriction which will continue until the Market Street Bridge is opened to traffic.

Plans for the program were worked out yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Keegan and Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn.

Keegan said the move is made necessary by traffic conditions and particularly the closing of the Market Street Bridge.

Since the Market Street span was closed, he explained, trucks which normally went by way of Market Street have been using the North Lee Street route, and frequent traffic tieups have developed when large trucks tried to use the route to avoid downtown traffic.

He emphasized the department "must ask" people on both sides of the street to find other parking places so traffic can be kept moving during the Market Street construction work.

$10,000 Award In Man's Death Is Appealed

Compensation Case Record Is Filed

A $10,000 award by the State Industrial Accident Commission to the widow of a Rawlings truck driver who was fatally injured in an accident on Sideling Hill in November 1954 has been appealed to Allegany County Circuit Court.

The record in the case resulting from the death November 24, 1954, of Robert Lee Whorton was filed in Circuit Court yesterday. His widow, Mrs. Rebecca Whorton, mother of four children, had brought the case before the Industrial Accident Commission against Charlton Brothers Transportation Company as employer and Pennsylvania and Farmers Mutual Casulty Insurance Company, insurer.

The appeal was taken by Attorneys William C. Walsh and Thomas B. Finan, representing the employer and insurer. They had contended that Whorton was not an employe of Charlton Brothers Transportation Company. They argued that Charlton Brothers leased a tractor from Whorton and no employe-employer relationship existed.

However, the State Industrial Accident Commission last November 9 awarded Mrs. Whorton a total of $10,000 compensation at the rate of $25 a week beginning November 27, 1954. The employer and insurer also were ordered to pay $300 toward the Whorton funeral expenses. Earl E. Manges is attorney for Mrs. Whorton.

Also filed in Circuit Court yesterday was the State Industrial Accident Commission record in the case of Robert A. Croft, employe; Walter Engle, employer, and New Amsterdam Casualty Company, insurer.

Croft filed his claim after reportedly injuring his back while lifting a tub of meat at Engle's meat market in Eckhart on or about August 19, 1954. The commission granted Croft $30 a week total temporary disability to May 2, 1955 and 10 per cent permanent partial disability at the rate of $25 a week until he receives a total of $1,250. The case was appealed to Circuit Court by Attorney Milton Gerson, representing Croft. Thomas B. Finan was attorney for the employer and insurer.

Baron Says Juveniles Must Be Charged Or Released

24 Hours Limit For Getting Warrant

Magistrate for Juvenile Causes Morris Baron has advised the Cumberland Police Department that youngsters held at the county detention home will be released after 24 hours unless warrants for them have been obtained within that time.

Baron wrote a letter to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn Wednesday after presiding at hearings for two teen-age boys involved in a series of breaking-and-entering cases.

Baron said the boys, 15 and 17 years old, had been arrested Sunday and had been held in the detention home for three days before any charges were filed against them.

In his letter Magistrate Baron wrote:

"I think I should call attention to the fact the members of your force do not seem to be informed as to the rights of juveniles when placed under arrest. They have the same rights as adults and should not be deprived of their liberty without due process of the law.

"When a juvenile is arrested by police officers and placed in the detention home a warrant should be secured against him as soon as practicable. He should not be left in the detention home for a period of three days without charges being filed against him.

"I have heard a case of two boys having been detained in the detention home since Sunday night without charges or a warrant filed against them. Such a practice is illegal and I wish you would instruct your force accordingly.

"I am instructing Earl Grimm, superintendent of the County Infirmary, not to hold any juvenile any longer than 24 hours without having a warrant from this court

"At the end of 24 hours if he has not warrant in his file he is authorized to let the juvenile go free. This does not apply to runaways who are being held there to be called for by their parents or guardians, however."

In disposing of the breaking-and-entering cases, Baron sent the older boy back to his home state of West Virginia, where he is under parole. The younger boy, who had been living in Balimore, was placed on probation for two years in his father's custody here.

Greyhound Bus Line Stoppage Continues

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP) — Greyhound bus drivers in Washington continued their "continuous meeting" today, halting service to the north and west.

Greyhound officials said their commuter customers and others were being accommodated through competing lines.

The work stoppage, called to protest firing of a fellow driver, began at 2 a. m. Wednesday.

Greyhound officials said their commuter service to Annapolis and Baltimore, handling about 800 passengers daily, had been taken over by the Trailway Lines.

A system has been worked out wherein Greyhound tickets are honored by Trailways, which will be reimbursed for use of equipment.

The work stoppage involves only drivers of Division 1098, Amalgamated Assn. of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America. It has shut down all Greyhound buses out of the Washington terminal except those southbound to Richmond and about one-fourth of the Pittsburgh schedules.

Beyond Baltimore, northern boundary of the Washington division, Greyhound buses are operating normally. Trailways said it has been supplying buses to shuttle passengers between Washington and Baltimore.

Union officials have branded the stoppage unauthorized, saying they have done everything they can to persuade the men to return to work. The company said about 150 men are involved.

The drivers quit because of the dismissal Tuesday of R. H. Grossnickle of Hagerstown, Md., a driver who was involved in a fatal accident in Pennsylvania Jan. 1. Union members insist Grossnickle was unjustly dismissed, since he was cleared by Pennsylvania authorities.

Greyhound officials say the stoppage is illegal since the union's contract calls for arbitration in disputes of this nature.

Lease Returns To Base

A 3c Carl F. Lease has returned to Castle Air Force Base, Merced, Calif., after being home for the funeral of his grandfather, Albert Lease, Baltimore; and spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lease, Route 5, Cumberland.

Robert Himmler Rites Are Planned Here Tomorrow

A funeral service for Robert H. Himmler, 32, who was found shot to death Saturday in Georgetown, Mass., will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Hafer Funeral Home here.

Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor of First Baptist Church, will officiate and burial will be in St. Luke's Cemetery.

The body of the local radar engineer was flown here Wednesday night.

Victim Of Stabbing Has "Quiet Night"

Attaches at Tucker County Hospital in Parsons, W. Va. reported Jules Crosten, 43, who was stabbed in the chest Monday had spent a "quiet night" last night but was still on the critical list from his injuries.

Crosten was reportedly knifed by another Parsons resident, 20-year-old Ronald Jolly, who is being held in the Tucker County Jail on an open charge, pending the outcome of Crosten's injuries.

The older man was stabbed with a hunting knife with the blade piercing his left chest below the lung. He underwent surgery Tuesday.

Young Vandals Nabbed After Crime Spree

Activity Started Before Christmas

State Police last night arrested two Allegany Grove youths, 14 and 17 years old, following a spree of thefts and vandalism which caused hundreds of dollars worth of damage.

The two boys are being held in Allegany County detention quarters at the infirmary pending further investigation of their "crime wave" by Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police.

Sgt. Baker said last night the two boys admitted causing damage to numerous passing automobiles which police are still trying to locate in an effort to complete their probe.

The spree which started before Christmas, included stealing valuable pieces of machinery and tools from housing projects, destruction of State Roads Commission property, throwing rocks through the roofs and windshields of passing cars on Route 40 in Allegany Grove and on Winchester Road, stealing gas, burning of property, breaking and entering, blocking main highways with cable and wire, and various other acts of vandalism.

One victim of the pair, Walter Weires, Baltimore Avenue, who is building a house in Allegany Grove, told police they visited his property on three different occasions.

One time, he said, they released the brake on a truck used at the building project and let it roll free down a steep grade into a ditch, tore out the wiring in the truck motor, broke into a shed and stole tools and other property, knocked out wall panel in the uncompleted house, broke eight or 10 windows and caused damage in excess of $150.

R. J. Robeson, Bowling Green, also constructing homes in the area, reported the loss of tools when the pair broke into a tool shed, took two tarpaulins and tried to make off with some plywood. They left the plywood when an employe of Robeson's discovered them, and escaped into nearby woods.

Last week R. Watkins DeHart's new home in LaVale was broken into and a power chain saw valued at $250 was stolen from the basement. State Police said they recovered the saw hidden in the woods after the boys revealed where it had been cached.

The two boys broke into SRC buildings, took stop signs and wire fence and strung it across Vocke Road, blocking traffic and forcing traffic to travel around the barricade for some time. They also strung wire across the road at another point but fled when cars approached.

Later the pair stole lightning resistor cable from the screen of the Crystal Drive-In Theatre and stretched it over Braddock Road, halting traffic. They fled again when an automobile struck the barrier.

Breaking into the Super 40 Drive-In, said police, they stole 31 cents from the cash box.

Last week the two took huge rocks atop the Western Maryland Railway bride across Winchester Road and tossed the stones at passing vehicles.

Allen Twigg, Allegany Grove, reported his car was hit by a rock and a gaping hole torn in the roof of the vehicle. A stone hit and smashed the windshield of William A. Cooley's car. The Holland Street man told police he and his wife were pelted with flying glass when the rock hit.

Ray D. Pile, Cresaptown, said the left front door of his car was smashed in by a rock loosed by the boys with more than $100 damage to the side of the automobile.

The culprits even became bold enough to throw several large rocks at a State Police cruiser which had been sent to investigate the happenings. The cruiser car was badly dented by the rocks and the boys escaped into the woods.

Storm Fails To Stop Work On Creek Bed

Crews On Overtime To Excavate Channel

The worst snowstorm of the season yesterday failed to halt crews of the E. J. Albrecht Company, which are working overtime to complete the excavation of a big section of the channel of Wills Creek before spring rains come.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer of the Corps of Engineers, said the company's contract for Sections II and III of the Wills Creek Channel and the Viaduct Pumping Station will require about 125,000 cubic yards of common excavation.

Since work began in mid December, crews have scooped up and hauled to the spoils area near Community Ball Park an estimated 15,000 yards of excavation.

Road Is Built

To do the big excavating job, the company built a haul road on the west side of the bed of Wills Creek. The road crosses the mouth of the creek over a "low water" bridge and by a ramp over the old C & O Canal towpath to get to the spoils area.

Last week, the excavated material was being hauled to the park in five big Euclids, which haul up to 14 yards in a trip—doing the work of about 20 of the dump trucks used in normal earth hauling.

The earth moving rigs have been roaring over the mile-and-a-quarter route which is kept in top shape by an auto patrol type grader.

In recent days, the crews have been working nine-hour days and worked eight hours last Saturday to take advantage of the low water.

Keep Off Streets

Dexter said from 90,000 to 100,000 yards of the excavated material will go to the spoils area and the rest will be used for fill along the creek.

The use of the creek bed as a haul road, officials said, is keeping some 20 trucks off city streets.

Dexter said the construction of the haul road required about a six-foot cut in the towpath, but that the old Industrial Dam is still eight feet lower than the breached section of the towpath, and provisions have been made to backfill to grade if a flood threatens.

He said the breaches in existing walls of the creek, at the upstream end of the job, are only about two feet, level with the west bank, and will be filled if high water threatens.

Area Residents Asked To Put Out Food For Birds

Residents of the snow-covered tri-state area are reminded to feed the birds.

Conservationists, game officials and wildlife fanciers last night called attention to the fact that this area has a good population of song birds and other feathered friends who annually destroy many bugs and pests.

These outdoor people urge residents everywhere to put out meal of finely ground grain, suet, bread crumbs, bird feed, or any other edible food.

They acknowledge that many residents already feed the birds, but much more help and cooperation is needed.

Two members of the quartet, Art Lawson and Scottie McClintock, have assisted in previous rallies here. They are residents of Johnstown, Pa., and active in youth work there.

Area Starts Removal Of Heavy Snow

Storm Blankets Entire State, Snarls Traffic

Cumberland and the tri-state area have begun to dig out from under four to six inches of snow dumped by the worst storm in Maryland this winter yesterday and early this morning.

The storm, which blanketed the entire state, brought transportation to a virtual standstill in many places and state police issued early warnings that highways were covered and slippery and chains were recommended where travel was necessary.

Bus schedules were at a minimum and taxis at a premium. School buses were barely able to cover their routes and the old Mt. Savage road was not negotiable.

Attendance Good

School officials said, however, that attendance was not noticeably down despite the adverse weather conditions.

Cumberland tire and chain stores did a land office business selling skid chains and snow tires when motorists became bogged down in the swiftly piling up snow drifts.

The City Street Department put all of its equipment and men to fighting the snow early yesterday morning.

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said all six plows were kept scraping the main thoroughfares and other crews scattered salt and cinders. He asked citizens to be patient since crews will endeavor to get to side streets as quickly as possible.

Crews in Cumberland will remain on the job, he added, as long as they are needed.

Minor Accidents

Numerous minor accidents on the highways and in the city were reported, but by late last night no serious injuries had been noted.

Traffic moved very slowly on the main arteries and cars were tied up about 20 minutes on Greene Street when a tractor-trailer truck jackknifed on the street between Chase and Allegany streets. The truck was straightened out and able to continue its journey.

An auto skidded into two parked vehicles on Washington Street with minor damage and two cars collided on Maryland Avenue at Central Avenue. Other minor mishaps were also reported.

A Green Spring woman, Mrs. Fannie Foley, 69, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning after she slipped and fell in the snow while getting coal from an outdoor shed. Attaches said she suffered a fractured right arm.

Dampness caused a smoke scare in the furnace room at the home of Mrs. Ann Weber, 445 Cumberland Street, and West Side firemen answered the alarm about 8:20 yesterday morning. There was no damage reported.

Sled Riding

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported crews were plowing the hilltop area. Children were using park hills and roads for sled-riding.

By 4 p. m. there was 3.3 inches of snow reported by Golden and later in the evening at least 4½ inches was noted by State Road Commission officials.

Temperatures hovered between 24 and 32 degrees throughout the area. Cumberland's high was 32 and the low 28. Melted precipitation here measured .28 inches.

SRC crews throughout the district were working feverishly to make roads and highways passable. R. E. L. Putnam, an SRC engineer, said Frostburg had 4½ inches of snow and 23-degree temperatures at 8 p. m. with three trucks and six men working.

Cumberland had 11 SRC trucks, one pickup and 30 men plowing, cindering and salting, Putman said. At Oakland eight trucks and 17 crewmen were out as the Garrett County locale had four inches of new snow atop nine inches already on the ground. Accident reported 2½ inches of snow with four trucks and ten men working.

City Hopes To Get Land For 3d Dam

Other Tracts Wanted To Peduce Silting At Water Supply

Plans for acquiring additional land on the Evitts Creek watershed to extend the life and capacity to Lakes Koon and Gordon and as a possible site for a third dam were set in motion here yesterday.

The action was taken at the annual meeting of the Evitts Creek Water Company, a city-operated corporation which was set up in Pennsylvania to conduct the legal affairs of the water supply and treatment facilities in the Lake Gordon area.

Mayor Roy W. Eves, who is a member by virtue of his office, said the corporation's solicitor, Charles M. Koontz, Bedford, was instructed to employ a surveyor in Bedford County, on a unit basis, to establish property lines on some 21 parcels of land on the watershed which do not now belong to the city, and to get options on the parcels.

Erosion Is Problem

It is essential, Mayor Eves said, that the city have control of the entire watershed, so it can extend its 14-year reforestation program on land, now used mostly for farming and subject to too rapid erosion, in the vicinity of Lake Koon and Lake Gordon.

The program also includes the extension of the upper watershed, the Mayor said, where the city may have to provide a third dam.

Even if the third dam is not necessary, the acquisition of the land is necessary to control erosion, he said.

The land under consideration includes 14 parcels on the two existing reservoirs and seven parcels on the site considered for the third dam.

Acts As Sponge

Well managed woodland, he said, has the capacity of absorbing water like a sponge and releasing it gradually over an extended period.

In land subject to erosion, much of this water would go over the dams during rapid runoffs, and deposit tons of silt which eventually would fill the reservoirs.

At present, the city, through the Evitts Creek Water Company, owns about 3,700 acres of the 64 square miles of watershed which drains into Lakes Koon and Gordon.

Lake Gordon, the site of the city's filtration plant, covers 178 acres of land and impounds 1,300,000,000 gallons of water.

Lake Koon, the upper reservoir, covers 268 acres of land and impounds 2,300,000,000 gallons of water, for a total storage capacity of 3,600,000,000 gallons — over half the 6½ billion gallon capacity of the Savage River Dam, which is being suggested as a future source of municipal and industrial water for the area.

The city's filtration plant at Lake Gordon, still undergoing modernization, now has facilities rated for treating 18,000,000 gallons of water daily, and capable of operating at top efficiency at the 22½ million gallon mark.

Post Is President

Officers were elected at the annual meeting held yesterday in the office of Mayor Eves here.

Former Mayor Thomas S. Post was re-elected president; Mayor Eves, vice president; Koontz, solicitor; James F. Twigg, water department clerk, secretary-treasurer, and Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, a member.

Twigg was named to the $100 a year post after Miss Mary Clay, who has served as secretary since December 28, 1951, submitted her resignation.

The resignation was accepted with regret and following the passage of a resolution of thanks for her services.

The only other salaried position on the board, the Mayor said, is the solicitor, who receives $400 a year.

Present was George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Directors recommended that the Mayor and Council grant a 10 per cent wage increase to Hitchcock, in line with recent increases to other city workers, according to Commissioner Edwards. The present salary is $6,500 a year.

Judge Capper Will Attend State Meeting

Former Judge and Mrs. Walter C. Capper will leave here today for Baltimore to attend the mid-winter meeting of the Maryland State Bar Association.

Day-Long Snowfall Pretty, But A Problem For Tri-State Area

This pleasant, if wintry, suburban scene was snapped by the News cameraman yesterday afternoon at Bowling Green after more than three inches of glistening light snow had fallen over the Allegany County landscape.

A less pleasing prospect is faced by Celanese workers, emerging from the plant to find they must drive home over slippery highways and through minor traffic tieups. There was no snow when they went to work at 7 a. m.

Lee Street Area Parking Ban Slated

Trucks Use Route Since Bridge Closing

The Police Department must ban parking on both sides of North Lee Street, between Cumberland Street and the Valley Street Bridge, beginning Monday, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday.

He urged all citizens who live along that stretch of the street to cooperate in the parking restriction which will continue until the Market Street Bridge is opened to traffic.

Plans for the program were worked out yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Keegan and Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn.

Keegan said the move is made necessary by traffic conditions and particularly the closing of the Market Street Bridge.

Since the Market Street span was closed, he explained, trucks which normally went by way of Market Street have been using the North Lee Street route, and frequent traffic tieups have developed when large trucks tried to use the route to avoid downtown traffic.

He emphasized the department "must ask" people on both sides of the street to find other parking places so traffic can be kept moving during the Market Street construction work.

$10,000 Award In Man's Death Is Appealed

Compensation Case Record Is Filed

A $10,000 award by the State Industrial Accident Commission to the widow of a Rawlings truck driver who was fatally injured in an accident on Sideling Hill in November 1954 has been appealed to Allegany County Circuit Court.

The record in the case resulting from the death November 24, 1954, of Robert Lee Whorton was filed in Circuit Court yesterday. His widow, Mrs. Rebecca Whorton, mother of four children, had brought the case before the Industrial Accident Commission against Charlton Brothers Transportation Company as employer and Pennsylvania and Farmers Mutual Casulty Insurance Company, insurer.

The appeal was taken by Attorneys William C. Walsh and Thomas B. Finan, representing the employer and insurer. They had contended that Whorton was not an employe of Charlton Brothers Transportation Company. They argued that Charlton Brothers leased a tractor from Whorton and no employe-employer relationship existed.

However, the State Industrial Accident Commission last November 9 awarded Mrs. Whorton a total of $10,000 compensation at the rate of $25 a week beginning November 27, 1954. The employer and insurer also were ordered to pay $300 toward the Whorton funeral expenses. Earl E. Manges is attorney for Mrs. Whorton.

Also filed in Circuit Court yesterday was the State Industrial Accident Commission record in the case of Robert A. Croft, employe; Walter Engle, employer, and New Amsterdam Casualty Company, insurer.

Croft filed his claim after reportedly injuring his back while lifting a tub of meat at Engle's meat market in Eckhart on or about August 19, 1954. The commission granted Croft $30 a week total temporary disability to May 2, 1955 and 10 per cent permanent partial disability at the rate of $25 a week until he receives a total of $1,250. The case was appealed to Circuit Court by Attorney Milton Gerson, representing Croft. Thomas B. Finan was attorney for the employer and insurer.

Baron Says Juveniles Must Be Charged Or Released

24 Hours Limit For Getting Warrant

Magistrate for Juvenile Causes Morris Baron has advised the Cumberland Police Department that youngsters held at the county detention home will be released after 24 hours unless warrants for them have been obtained within that time.

Baron wrote a letter to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn Wednesday after presiding at hearings for two teen-age boys involved in a series of breaking-and-entering cases.

Baron said the boys, 15 and 17 years old, had been arrested Sunday and had been held in the detention home for three days before any charges were filed against them.

In his letter Magistrate Baron wrote:

"I think I should call attention to the fact the members of your force do not seem to be informed as to the rights of juveniles when placed under arrest. They have the same rights as adults and should not be deprived of their liberty without due process of the law.

"When a juvenile is arrested by police officers and placed in the detention home a warrant should be secured against him as soon as practicable. He should not be left in the detention home for a period of three days without charges being filed against him.

"I have heard a case of two boys having been detained in the detention home since Sunday night without charges or a warrant filed against them. Such a practice is illegal and I wish you would instruct your force accordingly.

"I am instructing Earl Grimm, superintendent of the County Infirmary, not to hold any juvenile any longer than 24 hours without having a warrant from this court

"At the end of 24 hours if he has not warrant in his file he is authorized to let the juvenile go free. This does not apply to runaways who are being held there to be called for by their parents or guardians, however."

In disposing of the breaking-and-entering cases, Baron sent the older boy back to his home state of West Virginia, where he is under parole. The younger boy, who had been living in Balimore, was placed on probation for two years in his father's custody here.

Greyhound Bus Line Stoppage Continues

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP) — Greyhound bus drivers in Washington continued their "continuous meeting" today, halting service to the north and west.

Greyhound officials said their commuter customers and others were being accommodated through competing lines.

The work stoppage, called to protest firing of a fellow driver, began at 2 a. m. Wednesday.

Greyhound officials said their commuter service to Annapolis and Baltimore, handling about 800 passengers daily, had been taken over by the Trailway Lines.

A system has been worked out wherein Greyhound tickets are honored by Trailways, which will be reimbursed for use of equipment.

The work stoppage involves only drivers of Division 1098, Amalgamated Assn. of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America. It has shut down all Greyhound buses out of the Washington terminal except those southbound to Richmond and about one-fourth of the Pittsburgh schedules.

Beyond Baltimore, northern boundary of the Washington division, Greyhound buses are operating normally. Trailways said it has been supplying buses to shuttle passengers between Washington and Baltimore.

Union officials have branded the stoppage unauthorized, saying they have done everything they can to persuade the men to return to work. The company said about 150 men are involved.

The drivers quit because of the dismissal Tuesday of R. H. Grossnickle of Hagerstown, Md., a driver who was involved in a fatal accident in Pennsylvania Jan. 1. Union members insist Grossnickle was unjustly dismissed, since he was cleared by Pennsylvania authorities.

Greyhound officials say the stoppage is illegal since the union's contract calls for arbitration in disputes of this nature.

The body of the local radar engineer was flown here Wednesday night.

Victim Of Stabbing Has "Quiet Night"

Attaches at Tucker County Hospital in Parsons, W. Va. reported Jules Crosten, 43, who was stabbed in the chest Monday had spent a "quiet night" last night but was still on the critical list from his injuries.

Crosten was reportedly knifed by another Parsons resident, 20-year-old Ronald Jolly, who is being held in the Tucker County Jail on an open charge, pending the outcome of Crosten's injuries.

The older man was stabbed with a hunting knife with the blade piercing his left chest below the lung. He underwent surgery Tuesday.

Activity Started Before Christmas

State Police last night arrested two Allegany Grove youths, 14 and 17 years old, following a spree of thefts and vandalism which caused hundreds of dollars worth of damage.

The two boys are being held in Allegany County detention quarters at the infirmary pending further investigation of their "crime wave" by Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police.

Sgt. Baker said last night the two boys admitted causing damage to numerous passing automobiles which police are still trying to locate in an effort to complete their probe.

The spree which started before Christmas, included stealing valuable pieces of machinery and tools from housing projects, destruction of State Roads Commission property, throwing rocks through the roofs and windshields of passing cars on Route 40 in Allegany Grove and on Winchester Road, stealing gas, burning of property, breaking and entering, blocking main highways with cable and wire, and various other acts of vandalism.

One victim of the pair, Walter Weires, Baltimore Avenue, who is building a house in Allegany Grove, told police they visited his property on three different occasions.

One time, he said, they released the brake on a truck used at the building project and let it roll free down a steep grade into a ditch, tore out the wiring in the truck motor, broke into a shed and stole tools and other property, knocked out wall panel in the uncompleted house, broke eight or 10 windows and caused damage in excess of $150.

R. J. Robeson, Bowling Green, also constructing homes in the area, reported the loss of tools when the pair broke into a tool shed, took two tarpaulins and tried to make off with some plywood. They left the plywood when an employe of Robeson's discovered them, and escaped into nearby woods.

Last week R. Watkins DeHart's new home in LaVale was broken into and a power chain saw valued at $250 was stolen from the basement. State Police said they recovered the saw hidden in the woods after the boys revealed where it had been cached.

The two boys broke into SRC buildings, took stop signs and wire fence and strung it across Vocke Road, blocking traffic and forcing traffic to travel around the barricade for some time. They also strung wire across the road at another point but fled when cars approached.

Later the pair stole lightning resistor cable from the screen of the Crystal Drive-In Theatre and stretched it over Braddock Road, halting traffic. They fled again when an automobile struck the barrier.

Breaking into the Super 40 Drive-In, said police, they stole 31 cents from the cash box.

Last week the two took huge rocks atop the Western Maryland Railway bride across Winchester Road and tossed the stones at passing vehicles.

Allen Twigg, Allegany Grove, reported his car was hit by a rock and a gaping hole torn in the roof of the vehicle. A stone hit and smashed the windshield of William A. Cooley's car. The Holland Street man told police he and his wife were pelted with flying glass when the rock hit.

Ray D. Pile, Cresaptown, said the left front door of his car was smashed in by a rock loosed by the boys with more than $100 damage to the side of the automobile.

The culprits even became bold enough to throw several large rocks at a State Police cruiser which had been sent to investigate the happenings. The cruiser car was badly dented by the rocks and the boys escaped into the woods.

Storm Fails To Stop Work On Creek Bed

Crews On Overtime To Excavate Channel

The worst snowstorm of the season yesterday failed to halt crews of the E. J. Albrecht Company, which are working overtime to complete the excavation of a big section of the channel of Wills Creek before spring rains come.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer of the Corps of Engineers, said the company's contract for Sections II and III of the Wills Creek Channel and the Viaduct Pumping Station will require about 125,000 cubic yards of common excavation.

Since work began in mid December, crews have scooped up and hauled to the spoils area near Community Ball Park an estimated 15,000 yards of excavation.

Road Is Built

To do the big excavating job, the company built a haul road on the west side of the bed of Wills Creek. The road crosses the mouth of the creek over a "low water" bridge and by a ramp over the old C & O Canal towpath to get to the spoils area.

Last week, the excavated material was being hauled to the park in five big Euclids, which haul up to 14 yards in a trip—doing the work of about 20 of the dump trucks used in normal earth hauling.

The earth moving rigs have been roaring over the mile-and-a-quarter route which is kept in top shape by an auto patrol type grader.

In recent days, the crews have been working nine-hour days and worked eight hours last Saturday to take advantage of the low water.

Keep Off Streets

Dexter said from 90,000 to 100,000 yards of the excavated material will go to the spoils area and the rest will be used for fill along the creek.

The use of the creek bed as a haul road, officials said, is keeping some 20 trucks off city streets.

Dexter said the construction of the haul road required about a six-foot cut in the towpath, but that the old Industrial Dam is still eight feet lower than the breached section of the towpath, and provisions have been made to backfill to grade if a flood threatens.

He said the breaches in existing walls of the creek, at the upstream end of the job, are only about two feet, level with the west bank, and will be filled if high water threatens.
